No. 4016—4050-91.

Simla, the 22nd May 1914.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

In the Resolution of the Government of India in this Department No. 4519-4554-47, dated the 29th May 1907, it was decided that in view of the satisfactory financial position of the Post Office Insurance Fund the sums eventually payable in respect of existing policies in the Life Branch of the fund should be increased by 10 per cent. and that the premia payable in respect of sums assured under policies issued on and after the 1st April 1907 should be correspondingly reduced. A recent investigation made into the past experience and present position of the fund has shown that there is still a substantial surplus on the total operations connected with it and that it is possible to make a distribution of a considerable portion of the surplus without affecting the financial stability of the fund. His Majesty's Secretary of State has accordingly sanctioned the grant to holders of policies on the valuation date, 31st March 1912, of a bonus at the rate of 2 per cent. in the case of Whole Life Assurances, and 1 per cent. in the case of Endowment Assurances, in respect of each year's premium paid since 31st March 1907 up to that date.

Revised tables have been drawn up showing the new premia rates applicable to future entrants and are annexed hereto.

CHINSURA, the 25th April 1914.

REVISED NOTICE.

HER EXCELLENCY LADY HARDINGE of Penshurst has decided to give, out of the funds which have been collected for a Medical College for Women at Delhi, a certain number of scholarships for lady students who may wish to join that institution when it is opened.

2. It is proposed to allot 18 scholarships of Rs. 30 a month each, tenable for two years. Out of the five scholarships allotted for students who are residents of the Presidency of Bengal, two have already been awarded and three remain to be awarded.

3. The object of the scholarships being to enable ladies to enter the College at Delhi and to take up a professional course there; the award will be made to those, otherwise eligible, who are prepared to join the Junior Intermediate class of a recognised College or any similar class this year with a view to qualifying, after a course of study for two years, for admission to the Medical College at Delhi.

4. Candidates for these scholarships must be statutory natives of India. They must also guarantee that they will study for two years in a college affiliated to the local University, the course leading up to the Intermediate examination, or an examination recognized for this purpose as equivalent thereto, such special subjects as may be prescribed by that University as qualifying for entrance upon a professional course of medical study being included in the course. They must also undertake that on the completion of these two years they will seek admission to the Medical College to be established at Delhi, and continue their studies up to the examinations for the Medical degree for which that College will prepare students.

5. The question of providing scholarships tenable during the period of study in Delhi is under consideration by the Governing Body of the College. It is hoped to make an announcement on this subject shortly. The continuance of the scholarships and the award of any further scholarships will be contingent on the progress of the scholars and the receipt by the Local Government of good reports upon them.

6. Scholarships will be awarded to such lady students as the Local Government may, on the results of the examination which closes the secondary school course, regard as most likely to profit by the facilities which the proposed College at Delhi will offer. Applications in the enclosed form, which must be submitted through the head of the College or head of a high school of which the applicant is a student, will be received in the office of the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, up to the 31st July 1914. The scholarships will run for two years from the date on which each scholarship-holder enters on her preliminary course of study. In the case of a lady student who has already entered upon a course of study, the successful completion of which would qualify her for admission to the College, a scholarship may be awarded with retrospective effect from the date on which she entered upon the course or any date subsequent thereto.

RESOLUTION ON THE BUDGET ESTIMATE OF THE HOWRAH BRIDGE FOR THE YEAR 1914-15.

No. 2235 Marine.

Government of Bengal.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 23rd June 1914.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

Letter from the Vice-Chairman, Port Commissioners, Calcutta, No. 2327, dated the 26th May 1914, submitting the Budget Estimate of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1914-15.

Receipts.—The estimated receipts during the year 1914-15 are Rs. 2.20.338 as against Rs. 2,49,738, the estimate for 1913-14. The main source of revenue is the terminal fee levied on the East Indian Railway goods traffic. The East Indian Railway authorities discovered towards the end of the last year that they had been paying the Bridge Commissioners more than was actually due and including, in their return of the terminal fees, other traffic on which the terminal was not correctly chargeable. The estimate of receipts for 1914-15 has accordingly been reduced.

2. Expenditure.—The estimated expenditure during the year under review amounts to Rs. 2,10,065, as against an estimate of Rs. 2,15,122 during the previous year.

3. The year 1914-15 is expected to close with a credit balance of Rs. 10,273, which will, if realized, be added to the Bridge Reserve Fund. This fund, together with the Pontoon Renewal Fund, stands at about Rs. 7¾ lakhs.

4. The Governor in Council accepts the estimate under section 21 of the Howrah Bridge Act, 1871.

By order of the Governor in Council,

A. C. J. deLOTBINIÈRE, Lt.-Col., R.E.,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

APPOINTMENT OF A COMMITTEE TO CONSIDER THE QUESTION OF THE EDUCATION OF MUHAMMADANS.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT.

EDUCATION.

DARJEELING, THE 30TH JUNE 1914.

RESOLUTION—No. 2474.

READ—

Letter from the Government of India, Department of Education, No. 585-595, dated the 3rd April 1913.

THE question of the education of Muhammadans has long been engaging the attention of Government. The Government of India have, of late, observed that in the matter of primary education the Muhammadan community now holds its own, but in respect of higher education their numbers are still far below their proportion to the population. The Government of India are therefore anxious that all reasonable facilities should be provided for the education of this backward community and have made certain general suggestions and indicated specific lines of action which they consider likely to prove useful. The Governor in Council has accordingly decided to appoint a Committee of official and non-official representatives of the Muhammadan community to consider the suggestions made by the Government of India regarding the education of Muhammadans, the resolutions passed by the Provincial Muhammadan Educational Conference which met in Dacca in April last, and any other matters relating to the furtherance of Muhammadan education which the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, may wish to place before them.

2. The constitution of the Committee shall be as follows :—

By order of the Governor in Council,

H. F. SAMMAN,

BOARD OF REVENUE.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 2258Mis.—The 7th July 1914.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 14 of the Pensions Act, 1871 (XXIII of 1871), and in supersession of all rules heretofore made by it under that section, the Board of Revenue, with the consent of the Governor in Council, hereby makes the following rules for Bengal:—

Territorial and Political Pensions.

Application of rules.

I. The following rules (except rules XXII to XXVI, inclusive) shall apply to territorial and political pensions only, disbursed through the revenue authorities. Rules XXII to XXVI, inclusive, shall apply to the former pensions only.[1]

Place of payment of pensions.

II. Except as provided in rule III, all pensions shall be payable at the district treasury, upon which a permanent pay order has been issued by the Accountant-General, Bengal.

Payment at subdivisions.

III. Pensioners residing within any subdivision of a district may obtain payment of their pensions from the subdivisional treasury in the same way as from the district treasury.

Transfer of payment.

IV. A Commissioner of a Division may, on application and on sufficient cause shown, permit transfer of payment from a treasury in his division to any other treasury in British India:

Provided that this rule shall not extend to political pensions in cases where the pensioner resides by order of the Government in a particular place.

Particulars to be submitted in case of transfer of payment

V. A copy of the order directing the transfer referred to in rule IV shall be forwarded by the Commissioner to the Accountant-General, Bengal, together with a brief narrative of the origin and particulars of the pension; and the District Officer of the district from which the payment is transferred shall be instructed to return his and the pensioner's portion of the permanent pay order to the Accountant-General. The Accountant-General shall then issue a fresh permanent pay order to the officer who will, in future, pay the pension, or, if that officer belongs to another province, shall move the Accountant-General of such province to do so.

Time of payment of pensions.

VI. Except as otherwise provided in these rules, all pensions shall be paid monthly.

Arrears of pension.

VII. If a pension remains undrawn for more than six months, the Collector or other disbursing officer must at once make inquiry into the cause of the non-appearance of the pensioner, and must return the pay order to the Accountant-General, Bengal. When the inquiry has been completed, the result shall be communicated to the Accountant-General.

If the pensioner afterwards appears, the Collector or other disbursing officer may reclaim the pay order and renew his payments, and the payment of arrears that have accumulated, not exceeding Rs. 1,000, may be sanctioned by the Collector or other disbursing officer. If the amount of arrears exceeds Rs. 1,000, the previous sanction of the Commissioner must be obtained.

Personal appearance at time of payment, and exemptions therefrom.

VIII. (1) Except as provided in sub-rules (2) and (3) and rule IX, a pensioner must take payment in person, after identification, by comparison with the permanent pay order.

(2) The following persons, namely,—

- (a) a pensioner specially exempted by the Collectors or the Heads of Departments from personal appearance,
- (b) a female pensioner not accustomed to appear in public, and
- (c) a male or female pensioner, who is unable to appear in consequence of bodily illness or infirmity,

[1] The rules governing service pensions, extraordinary pensions and gratuities for service not entitling to pension are contained in the Civil Service Regulations, published under the authority of the Government of India. Supplementary instructions to those rules are contained in Part I of the Board's Rules.

may receive his or her pension, upon the production of a life-certificate, signed by a responsible officer of Government, or by some other well-known and trustworthy person.

(3) A pensioner of any description, who produces a life-certificate signed by some person exercising the powers of a Magistrate of any class under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or by any Registrar or Sub-Registrar under the Indian Registration Act, 1908, or by any pensioned officer who, before retirement, exercised the powers of a Magistrate, is also exempted from personal appearance.

(4) In all cases referred to in sub-rules (2) and (3), the disbursing officer must take precautions to prevent imposition, and must, before the first payment in each year, require proof, independent of that furnished by the life-certificate, of the continued existence of the pensioner. For this purpose he shall (except in cases of exemption from personal appearance granted by the Heads of Departments or Collectors) require the personal attendance and due identification of all male or female pensioners who are not incapacitated by bodily illness or infirmity from so attending, and in all cases where such inability may be alleged, he shall require proof thereof in addition to the proof submitted of the pensioner's existence.

Pensioners of rank.

IX. Pensions of pensioners of rank, who are specially exempted by the Heads of Departments or Collectors from personal appearance, shall be paid to an agent holding a power-of-attorney on their behalf upon the production of the permanent order and of a separate receipt.

Payment to an agent

X. Pensions of pensioners exempted from personal appearance under sub-rule (2) or (3) of rule VIII (except in cases mentioned in rule IX) may be paid to an agent on their behalf on the production of the permanent order, of a life-certificate as prescribed by those sub-rules, respectively, and of a separate receipt.

Arrears of deceased pensioners

XI. On the death of a pensioner, payment of any arrear actually due may be made to his heirs provided that they apply within six months from his death, after which period no such payment shall be made without the sanction of the Commissioner.

Collectors of districts are empowered to sanction the payment of arrears of pension due to deceased pensioners to their heirs. Even if the pension has been sanctioned before the death of the pensioner, the payment may be made under the orders of the authority who would have been competent to sanction the pension if the pensioner had not died.

Making over of permanent pay order to pensioner

XII. On the receipt by the disbursing officer of the permanent pay order, he shall summon the pensioner, and, on his appearing, shall make over to him his portion of the permanent pay order, and shall explain to him at what times he can draw his pension and how he must proceed for the purpose. No other certificate need be given.

Making over of permanent pay order to agent.

XIII. When the pensioner is exempted from appearance in person, the permanent pay order may be made over to any person authorized to act on the pensioner's behalf.

Worn permanent payment order.

XIV. When the reverse of a pension payment order is filled up, or when the pensioner's half is found to be worn or torn, both halves may be renewed by the Treasury Officer.

Loss of pensioner's portion of payment order.

XV. If a pensioner loses his half of the pension payment order, a new order may be issued by the Treasury Officer, who should see that no payment is made on the half alleged to be lost by a strict observance of rule 2 under Article 943 of the Civil Service Regulations. The necessary note should be made in the remarks column of the register in Form 39, Civil Account Code.

Registry of applications.

XVI. In each Collectorate a list of pensions granted shall be kept up in the form given in Appendix A. Applications for pensions are to be entered in Register 8 of miscellaneous cases.

Pensions undrawn for two years

XVII. All pensions not drawn for two years shall be struck off the said register. If such pensions are renewed under rule VII, a fresh entry shall be made in the register in respect thereof.

Death of pensioner

XVIII. Upon the death of a pensioner, the District Officer shall at once report the circumstance to the Accountant-General and shall return the original permanent pay order to his office.

Permanent pay orders

XIX. When a pension is granted, the Accountant-General shall issue a permanent pay order to the disbursing officer of the station at which the pension is payable, directing him to pay periodically, until further notice, the amount of the pension upon the production of the counterpart of the order and a separate receipt according to the prescribed form. This order shall be entered in the register of permanent orders prescribed in Article 343 of the Civil Account Code, Volume I.

Register to be kept at subdivision

XX. When payment of any pension is permitted at a subdivision, a copy of the permanent order in respect of such pension shall be forwarded to the subdivision, a note to that effect being made in the register of permanent orders at the headquarters station. At each subdivision a register of permanent orders so received shall be kept up in the same form as the register prescribed for the headquarters station.

Payment to be recorded

XXI. Upon representation of a claim for payment, the District Officer shall at once record the sum paid upon the permanent order, enter the amount in the cash-book, and submit the separate receipt (Appendix B), with his treasury account, to the Accountant-General as a voucher in support of the charge.

Continuance of hereditary pensions

XXII. The Board of Revenue is competent to sanction the continuance of hereditary pensions when the hereditary title has been already recognized by the Government or decreed by a competent Court of Justice. But it is to be borne in mind that the Government never undertook, absolutely, to pay the pensions included in the Permanent Settlement, and that if a pension has been unadvisedly continued to heirs, the hereditary nature of the gratuity may, on the death of the incumbent, again be questioned.

Hereditary pensions not to be ordinarily allowed

XXIII. As a general principle, pecuniary grants will not be continued after the death of the parties in whose favour they were originally made. Pensioners whose pensions are granted for life only, and are resumable at their decease, are to be in no way encouraged by the local officers to hope that their pensions will be continued to their heirs, and thereby induced to neglect making a proper provision for their families. The Board is to submit to Government for decision any case in which it may be of opinion, on the decease of a life-pensioner, that the pension or any part thereof, should be continued to the heirs.

General principles

XXIV. The principles laid down in the memorandum by Mr. F. Millett, printed in Appendix C, are, under the orders of Government, to be followed in recommending, or deciding upon, the continuance or discontinuance to heirs of the various classes of pensions with which the memorandum deals.

Distribution of pension

XXV. As a rule, the distribution of pensions is irrespective of Hindu or Muhammadan law, and dependent on the pleasure of the Government only.

In cases where the original grant of a pension to two or more persons was joint and undivided, the survivor or survivors shall be considered entitled to retain only an exact half, or a lesser share, according to circumstances, of the whole sum without reference to sex.

Grant of certificate

XXVI. Notwithstanding anything contained in rule XXV, when the grant was of a specific sum annually, payable in perpetuity and unconditionally, the District Officer may, with the sanction of the Commissioner and the Board, grant a certificate to the Civil Court under section 6 of the Pensions Act, XXIII of 1871, where the question at issue is the right of one or other of two parties to receive any portion of such grant.

APPENDIX C.

(See RULE XXIV.)

Memorandum by Mr. F. Millett on Pensions and Charitable or other allowances, dated 12th May 1845.[1]

The Government never undertook absolutely to pay the pensions included in the Permanent Settlement.

Section 74, Regulation VIII, 1793, provided "with respect to any of the existing established zamindari charges, such as pensions, charitable or other allowances, which it may be thought proper to continue, they shall be paid by the Collectors, etc."[2]

Regulation XXIV, 1793, prescribed the rules for determining their continuance or discontinuance, the fundamental principle being that all such pensions and allowances were gratuitous.

[1] Bengal Regulations XXIV of 1793, XXXIV of 1795, XXIV of 1803, XXII of 1806 and XI of 1813, referred to in this memorandum, were repealed by Act XXIII of 1871 (Pensions) section 2 and schedule, subject to a saving as to rules made thereunder.

[2] Section 74 of Bengal Regulation VIII of 1793 was repealed by Act XVI of 1874.

The following are the principal provisions of that Regulation :—

"Pensions received by virtue of sanads granted before the Dewany, or since granted with the sanction of Government, and pensions received from before 1179 (Country Era), to be continued to the grantees or original holders; but if the grantees or original holders be dead, the pensions not to be continued to their heirs or descendants without the sanction of Government; and

"No pension after the death of the person then entitled to it to be continued to his descendants without the like sanction, whether the grant was, in either case, according to the terms of it, hereditary or otherwise.

"Whenever Government orders the continuance of a pension, whether to the original holder or his heir, the Collector to give him a certificate, stating the title of the party thereto during his or her life.

"The Collector to keep a register of these certificates noting therein such personal identification of the parties as might detect any attempt to transfer the certificate to others.

"The pensions and allowances being gratuitous, the determining upon the continuance or discontinuance of them under the rules prescribed is reserved to Government."

It appears to me plain that, according to this Regulation, every pension confirmed was to be confirmed as a life-pension only, and that, on the death of any pensioner, the case of any new claimant was to be submitted to Government for its determination.

Section 6 of Regulation XXIV, 1803 (Ceded Provinces), provided that pensions granted to fakeers and other religious persons, for the purpose of lighting mausoleums or mosques, or for that of repairing them, as also to enable them to perform their religious ceremonies, usual in the Muharram, were to be continued; but that pensions of this description were not to be considered as of a personal nature, and that the Collector was to be responsible for their being applied to the purpose for which they were bestowed.

Certificates were, under this Regulation, to be granted for pensions renewed on the death of pensioners, and registers of certificates to be kept as under Regulation XXIV, 1793; and section 16 declared that the continuance or discontinuance of pensions was, after the death of the persons then receiving them, to depend solely on the pleasure of Government.

I reconcile sections 6 and 16 in this way. Pensions received by fakeers at the date of the Regulation for certain purposes were to be continued to them; but if they applied them to other purposes, they would be resumed. On the death of the then holders, the pensions were to be continued to their successors or not, as Government might determine, each renewal requiring a specific order.

By section 30, Regulation XII, 1805, the provisions of Regulation XXIV, 1793, were made applicable to pensions and allowances granted for religious purposes in Cuttack, with these provisos :—

(i) That pensions obtained from the Government of Berar, under grants prior to October 1803, should be continued to the then incumbents, and on their death should descend to their heirs and successors or revert to Government, as should appear to the Governor-General in Council,[3] on a consideration of the tenor of the grant and all the circumstances of the case, to be proper.[4]

(ii) Pensions received, under whatever authority, for three or more years before October 1803, to be continued to the then incumbents for life; but on their death to revert to Government, unless any particular reasons should appear to the Governor-General in Council[3] to exist for continuing them to their heirs and successors.

In the terms "on a consideration of the tenor of the grant" contained in the proviso (i), we find the first indication of Government prescribing a rule to itself respecting the continuance of a pension to heirs and successors of incumbents. Section 4, Regulation XXIV, 1793, to which reference is made, contains no such rule[5].

[3] The words "Governor-General in Council" in section 30 of Bengal Regulation XII of 1805 are now to be read as if the words "Local Government" were substituted therefor. See Act I of 1903, Schedule 2.

[4] The words and figures "under section 4 of the said Regulation" are omitted, since the words and figures "under section 4, Regulation XXIV, 1793," in section 30 of Bengal Regulation XII of 1805, were repealed by Act XII of 1891.

[5] The reference is now omitted; see footnote [4] supra.

By section 7, Regulation XXII, 1806, the Board were instructed, in determining whether, on the death of a pensioner, the pension, or any part of it, should be continued to heirs or successors, "to ascertain particularly the situation and circumstances of the person claiming the continuance of the pension, and not to comply with any applications of that nature, unless, on the ground of poverty or other substantial reason, the party claiming it shall have a strong claim on the indulgence of Government."

This relates to pensions to a certain amount (fifty rupees) left to the Board's decision; but I presume the principle was applicable to all.

Section 8 enjoined Collectors to discontinue the payment of all pensions where the persons to whom they had been adjudged had died, until it could be determined whether they were to be continued to heirs.

Section 9 had in view the commutation of money pensions for grants of waste land or property.

It begins by repeating the declaration that pensions are gratuitous, and that the continuance or discontinuance of them is to depend on the pleasure of Government.

It then enacts that adjudged pensions are not to be commuted for grants of land except with the consent of the pensioner, and adds these further provisos :—

That pensions granted for, and bonâ fide appropriated to, the support of institutions, either of the Hindu or Muhammadan religion, shall be continued for the support of such institutions, unless the present incumbents or their successors shall, of their own free will and accord, agree to accept waste lands in lieu of the said pensions; and that no pensions which are declared to be hereditary, either by the terms of the grant or by any existing Regulations, shall be commuted without the consent of the present pensioners or their successors.

The first proviso has been quoted as containing an abstract rule that pensions for the support of the institutions therein described shall be continued in perpetuity; but considering the whole scope of the section, it seems to me rather to mean that so long as the allowances are continued by the pleasure of Government, they shall be continued in the shape of money payments, unless the incumbent for the time being consents to a commutation for land.

So also in respect of pensions which, in consideration of the terms of the grant, the Government may hereafter continue to the heirs of present incumbents. These shall likewise be continued in the shape of money payments, unless, with the consent of the heir to whom it is continued, it shall be commuted for land.

The same rule to apply to pensions declared hereditary by the Regulations, i.e., those described in section 2, Regulation XXXIV, 1795, and section 2, Regulation XXIV, 1803, which are declared to be property, and liable to be sued for and inherited as such, and are distinct from the gratuitous pensions.

Suppose, then, a case in which the grant was not hereditary by the terms of it, but which the Government thought it right to continue to the heir of a deceased incumbent, they might insist on his taking land in lieu of it or renouncing all claim to the allowance.

Sections 2 and 3, Regulation XI, 1813, enact that all pensions shall be stopped until those receiving them prove that they are either the original grantees, or that they have been regularly declared entitled to succeed to the enjoyment of the pensions, and that new registers shall be made and corrected as often as any pensions revert wholly or in part to Government, or whenever other individuals than those by whom the pensions are at present received, shall be adjudged entitled to the reversion of them.

So far, then, as the law is concerned, it appears to me that the continuance or discontinuance of any pension or allowance on the death of an incumbent rests entirely in the discretion of Government that when continued, it should be for the life of the applicant only.

In practice, I believe the Government has very much fettered itself in the exercise of this discretion.

By order of the Board of Revenue, Bengal,

A. MARR,
Secretary.

REVISED NOTICE.

HER EXCELLENCY LADY HARDINGE of Penshurst has decided to give, out of the funds which have been collected for a Medical College for Women at Delhi, a certain number of scholarships for lady students who may wish to join that institution when it is opened.

2. It is proposed to allot 18 scholarships of Rs. 30 a month each, tenable for two years. Out of the five scholarships allotted for students who are residents of the Presidency of Bengal, two have already been awarded and three remain to be awarded.

3. The object of the scholarships being to enable ladies to enter the College at Delhi and to take up a professional course there, the award will be made to those, otherwise eligible, who are prepared to join the Junior Intermediate class of a recognised College or any similar class this year with a view to qualifying, after a course of study for two years, for admission to the Medical College at Delhi.

4 Candidates for these scholarships must be statutory natives of India. They must also guarantee that they will study for two years in a college affiliated to the local University, the course leading up to the Intermediate examination, or an examination recognized for this purpose as equivalent thereto, such special subjects as may be prescribed by that University as qualifying for entrance upon a professional course of medical study being included in the course. They must also undertake that on the completion of these two years they will seek admission to the Medical College to be established at Delhi, and continue their studies up to the examinations for the Medical degree for which that College will prepare students.

5. The question of providing scholarships tenable during the period of study in Delhi is under consideration by the Governing Body of the College. It is hoped to make an announcement on this subject shortly. The continuance of the scholarships and the award of any further scholarships will be contingent on the progress of the scholars and the receipt by the Local Government of good reports upon them.

6. Scholarships will be awarded to such lady students as the Local Government may, on the results of the examination which closes the secondary school course, regard as most likely to profit by the facilities which the proposed College at Delhi will offer. Applications in the enclosed form, which must be submitted through the head of the College or head of a high school of which the applicant is a student, will be received in the office of the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal, up to the 31st July 1914. The scholarships will run for two years from the date on which each scholarship-holder enters on her preliminary course of study. In the case of a lady student who has already entered upon a course of study, the successful completion of which would qualify her for admission to the College, a scholarship may be awarded with retrospective effect from the date on which she entered upon the course or any date subsequent thereto.

LIST OF BUSINESS ITEM—No. 2.

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI :—

*1. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Mr. Emerson, Magistrate and Collector of Tippera, expressed the opinion that it was undesirable for Government servants to attend the meeting of the Social Conference held at Comilla on the 13th April last? Attendance of Government servants at Political Meetings.

(b) Are the Government aware that a great deal of misconception prevails as to the exact significance of the orders passed by Government during the Viceroyalty of Lord Lansdowne regarding the attendance of Government servants at political meetings?

(c) If so, are the Government considering the desirability of re-circulating those orders?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

On the contrary, Mr. Emerson informed several of his officers who consulted him that he personally had no objection to their attendance at both the Provincial and the Social Conference and that they should be guided by the rules of Government applicable to such cases.

(b) and (c) The orders regarding the attendance of Government servants at political meetings are contained in rule 20 of the Government Servants' Conduct Rules, 1904 (corrected up to 1st January, 1912). This rule is based on the orders issued by the Government of India in 1890, to which the Hon'ble Member refers. Government are not aware that any misconception exists regarding the significance of this rule. Government do not intend to re-issue the orders, as copies of the latest edition of the Government Servants' Conduct Rules were circulated to Government officers last year."

(ii) Land has been acquired for a hostel at Munshiganj at a cost of Rs. 673-15-11 and a sum of Rs. 5,300 has been sanctioned for the building.

A grant of Rs. 22,947 was made by the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam for the construction of a hostel at Patuakhali.

Proposals are under consideration for three more hostels, as will be seen from the statement."

Amalgamation of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational services of Eastern and Western Bengal.

*17. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services of the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Government of Bengal have been amalgamated since the reply of the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr to my questions on the same subjects asked on the 2nd April, 1913?

(b) If the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Departments have not yet been amalgamated, will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the reasons for the delay,

(ii) when such amalgamation may be expected, and

(iii) how the want of such amalgamation has hitherto affected the members of the services concerned in the matter of their promotion?

The Hon'ble MR. SAMMAN replied :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) In view of answer (a) above the question does not arise."

By the Hon'ble DR. DEBA PROSAD SARBADHIKARI :—

Vacancies in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services.

*18. (a) Will the Government be pleased to furnish a statement of the existing vacancies in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state why the vacancies have not been filled up, and when they are likely to be filled up?

The Hon'ble MR. SAMMAN replied :—

(a) "A statement showing the vacancies that existed at the beginning of this year is laid on the table.

(b) Promotions to fill the vacancies had to await orders on the combination of the cadres of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam and the formation of the nominal rolls for the new Presidency. These orders have now been passed and the existing vacancies will be filled up immediately."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI :—

*19. (a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a case of assault committed by Captain Walker, late Cantonment Magistrate of Barrackpur, upon a servant in the employ of Mr. Justice Woodroffe who was then residing at Barrackpur? Re-employment of Captain Walker as a Cantonment Magistrate.

(b) Is it the case that the Magistrate admitted having committed the assault and expressed his regret for it?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose again to employ Captain Walker as a Cantonment Magistrate in Bengal?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) Government have no information beyond a statement contained in a petition filed by the servant in the Court of the Sessions Judge, 24-Parganas, in which he stated that Captain Walker had expressed to the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Woodroffe his regret of the assault on the petitioner.

(c) Government are not in a position to make any statement on the future appointment of Cantonment Magistrates. Appointments are made when vacancies occur."

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI :—

*20. (a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Cantonment Magistrate of Barrackpur is also the Secretary to the Cantonment Committee, and, as such, initiates all criminal and cantonment cases which as Cantonment Magistrate he himself tries? Vesting the Sub-Divisional Officer of Barrackpur with all Judicial powers now vested in the Cantonment Magistrate.

(b) If so, are the Government considering the propriety of relieving the Cantonment Magistrate of all judicial powers and vesting them in the Sub-Divisional Officer?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

(a) "The Cantonment Magistrate of Barrackpur is also Secretary to the Cantonment Committee. His sanction as Secretary of the Committee is required to the initiation of proceedings for offences under the Cantonment Act, and such cases are tried by him as Cantonment Magistrate. The actual tendency of this system is to prevent frivolous or vexatious prosecutions.

(b) The answer is in the negative."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MAZHARUL ANWAR CHAUDHURI :—

*21. Will the Government be pleased to state—

(a) what was the total cost of maintaining the village chaukidars and Daffadars in Bengal in the year 1913-14? Village Chowkidars and Daffadars in Bengal.

(b) what was the amount of chaukidari tax realized in that year?

(c) what was the amount realized during the said year as revenue of the resumed chaukidari chakran lands from the Zemindars with whom these lands were settled?

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING replied :—

(a) & (b) "The total assessment of chaukidari tax for the whole province is fifty-nine and a half lakhs of rupees. Government have no material at hand for stating what was the exact amount realized in 1913-14.

(c) The revenue from resumed chaukidari chakran lands during 1913-14 amounted to about two and a quarter lakhs of rupees."

UNSTARRED QUESTIONS.

By the Hon'ble MR. B. CHAKRAVARTI :—

Settlement of the rents of the tenants of Pargana Silda.

I.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to inform the Council whether the rent of the tenants of Pargana Silda in the district of Midnapore has been ordered to be settled under section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (Act VIII of 1885)?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the provisions of section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act were ever applied before with regard to any estate in Bengal? If so, to which estate and when?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to inform the Council on what materials, if any, the Government applied for sanction of the Governor General in Council to apply the provisions of section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act to the Silda Pargana?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table :—

(a) "Yes.

(b) Action under section 112 of the Bengal Tenancy Act has been taken in respect of 107 villages in the Rampur Hât subdivision of the district of Birbhum. The orders were passed in August, 1912, and the proceedings are still in progress.

(c) The application for the sanction of the Governor General in Council was made after consideration of very full reports submitted by the Settlement Officer of Midnapore and the Director of Land Records, and of a letter addressed by Messrs. Andrew Yule and Company, Managing Agents of the Midnapore Zamindari Company, to the Settlement Officer, showing cause against the application of the section to the area."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN :—

Sara-Sadhuganj (viâ Pabna) Railway Scheme.

II.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table the papers relating to the Sara-Sadhuganj (viâ Pabna) Railway Scheme and to state what progress has been made in carrying out the said scheme?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any other scheme connecting Pabna town with a Railway Station is in contemplation, and if so, to indicate the alignment proposed for such scheme?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. GREEN was laid on the table :—

(a) "Government do not propose to lay any papers relating to the scheme on the table. In February last the Railway Board informed this Government that instructions would be issued for an investigation during the next working season of the best alignment for a branch railway on the 5′ 6″ gauge from Ishardi (near Sara) to Sadhuganj viâ Pabna and Bera to open out that part of the Pabna district lying between Ishardi and Sadhuganj.

(b) Besides the Ishardi-Sadhuganj project there are no other schemes for connecting the town of Pabna with a Railway Station at present in contemplation."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN :—

Lack of adequate means of communication between Pabna and adjoining districts.

III.—Are the Government aware of the inconvenience which is incurred by the public of Pabna owing to the lack of adequate means of communication between that place and the adjoining districts; and, if so, will the Government be pleased to state what action they are taking with a view to remedy this state of affairs?

Questions and Answers.

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. GREEN was laid on the table :—

"Yes. The Railway Board were moved by this Government to sanction the survey, by the agency of Messrs. Martin & Co., of a light railway on the 2′ 6″ gauge from Ishardi to Sadhuganj viâ Pabna and Bera. The Railway Board, however, considered that the area might be best served by a branch on the 5′ 6″ gauge connecting with the Sara-Serajganj Railway, and pending the investigation during the next working season of the best alignment for such a railway, Messrs. Martin & Co. were advised not to proceed with their project for a narrow gauge line."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN :—

Increase of the pay of the Establishments under Rural Sub-Registrars.

IV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they have at present under consideration a proposal to increase the pay of the establishments employed under Rural Sub-Registrars?

(b) If so, from what date is the scheme likely to take effect?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table :—

(a) & (b) "Proposals for increasing the pay of establishments under Rural Sub-Registrars, have been drawn up by the Inspector-General of Registration and will shortly be submitted to the Government of India. It is not possible at present to say from what date the scheme, if sanctioned by the Government of India, will take effect."

By the Hon'ble Mr. G. H. C. ARIFF :—

Imperial grants for Education in Bengal.

V.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to say what amount has been allotted this year by the Government of India to the Government of Bengal for education?

(b) What amount out of that grant has been reserved for the education of Muhammadan boys and girls?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. SAMMAN was laid on the table :—

(a) "A grant of Rs. 1,50,000 has been made by the Government of India during the current financial year for education in the Presidency of Bengal in addition to grants already made.

(b) Out of this grant a sum of Rs. 84,000 has been allocated for expenditure on the education of Muhammadan boys. No amount has been reserved out of this grant for the education of Muhammadan girls. There is, however, a separate allotment for the education of Muhammadan girls which consists of three separate grants, viz.—

(1) Rs. 1,07,000 made in 1912-13.
(2) Rs. 1,07,000 made in 1913-14.
(3) Rs. 30,000 made in 1913-14.

The distribution of the first grant of 1912-13 was settled last year and no specific sum was set apart for Muhammadan girls. Out of the other two grants, amounting to Rs. 1,37,000, a sum of Rs. 32,000 has been set aside specifically for Muhammadan institutions, e.g., special schools for Muhammadan girls and a training school for Muhammadan teachers. This sum by no means represents all the benefit that the Muhammadan community will derive from these grants, as Muhammadans will participate with other classes in the allotments set aside for the general development of female education. The question of replacing by Provincial grants the grants now made to Madrasas from the Mohsin Fund and devoting the money so set free to the furtherance of the education of Muhammadans in ordinary schools is now engaging the attention of Government."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble MR. G. H. C. ARIFF :—

Appointment of a Muhammadan to the next vacancy in the post of Inspector of Registration Offices

VI.—(a) Is there any order of Government under which one of the posts of Inspector of Registration Offices must be held by a Muhammadan?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to say why no effect was given to this order in filling up the vacancy caused by the recent retirement of Maulvi Abdul Aziz?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to say whether the claims of Muhammadans were considered when the vacancy caused by the reversion of the third Inspector of Registration Offices, Babu Paresh Chandra Dutt, to the post of District Sub-Registrar, was filled up?

(d) If not, why not?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table :—

(a), (b), (c) & (d).—"There is no rule or order under which one of the posts of Inspector of Registration Offices must be held by a Muhammadan. Appointments are ordinarily made by selection from among the District Sub-Registrars of suitable standing and experience. The claims of various officers, both Hindu and Muhammadan, were duly considered in connection with the recent vacancy.

A Muhammadan officer was offered an Inspectorship, but his health prevented him from accepting the appointment."

Inspection of Muhammadan Marriage Registration offices and Sub-Registry offices in Bengal.

VII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the number of Muhammadan Marriage Registration offices and the number of Sub-Registry offices in existence in Bengal during the financial year 1912-13?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to say whether every one of these offices was inspected by an Inspector once during that year?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. KERR was laid on the table :—

(a) "There were 273 Muhammadan Marriage Registration offices and 392 Sub-Registry offices in this Presidency in the year 1913.

(b) Inspectors of the Registration Department inspected 46 Muhammadan Marriage Registration offices during the financial year 1912-13 and 233 Sub-Registry offices during the calendar year 1913."

By the Hon'ble MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA OF NASHIPUR :—

Jungle-cutting.

VIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state in which district (if any) the experiment of jungle-cutting is to be undertaken for sanitary purposes?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. SAMMAN was laid on the table :—

"The Provincial Malaria Committee has not been able to formulate a definite scheme of jungle-cutting and considers that the money allotted for this purpose might be more profitably spent on anti-malaria experiments of a different nature. It is, therefore, not proposed to make the experiment on jungle-cutting at present."

By the Hon'ble MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA OF NASHIPUR :—

Inclusion of Lecturers in the Provincial Educational Service.

IX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there is any difference between the respective qualifications of Professors and Lecturers in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services?

(b) If not, are the Government proposing to include Lecturers in the Provincial Service?

Questions and Answers.

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. SAMMAN was laid on the table :—

(a) & (b).—"The answer is in the affirmative. Professors in the Provincial Educational Service are recruited from among men of special qualifications; for instance, 1st class M.A.'s or M.Sc.'s. Prem Chand Roy Chand Scholars, or holders of European degrees, or men with considerable teaching experience and known ability.

Lecturers in the Subordinate Educational Service are, generally speaking, men of somewhat lower qualifications; for instance, 2nd class M.A.'s or M Sc.'s with little or no teaching experience."

By the Hon'ble MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA OF NASHIPUR :—

X.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of—

(i) criminal and civil suits, regular and miscellaneous,
(ii) appeals,
(iii) miscellaneous, judicial and non-judicial cases, and (iv) execution cases disposed of by the District and Subordinate Judges of Rajshahi for the last five years, and (v) the number of witnesses examined in these cases?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to give the same information, in a separate statement, as to cases instituted and disposed of in the Courts of the District and Subordinate Judges of Rajshahi, so far as they relate to Malda?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of—

(i) civil suits of the value of over Rs. 1,000, and (ii) non-contested miscellaneous proceedings under the Probate and Letter of Administration and Succession Certficate Acts, instituted before and disposed of by the first munsif of Malda as such, and as District Delegate during the last five years?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of original money suits of Small Cause Court nature valued above Rs. 100 and below Rs. 500 instituted before and disposed of by the two munsifs of Malda during the last five years?

The following reply by the Hon'ble MR. CUMMING was laid on the table :—

"A statement is laid on the table.

The figures in the form desired by the Hon'ble Member are not available. Government have not lost sight of the question of posting a Subordinate Judge at Malda and a decision will be given as soon as possible"

Construction of a reservoir in the catchment area of the river Damodar.

XII.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table all papers relating to the scheme for the construction of a reservoir in the catchment area of the river Damodar, which was approved by Mr. Horn and the late Mr. Maconchy, and which was estimated to cost between 32 to 40 lakhs of Rupees as stated by the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon in his speech in Council on the 14th March, 1913, and published at page 3869, Part V of the Calcutta Gazette of the 26th March, 1913 ?

The following reply by the Hon'ble LT.-COL. JOLY DE LOTBINIÈRE was laid on the table :—

"The papers called for are laid on the table."

Papers referred to in the answer by the Hon'ble Lt.-Col. Joly deLotbinière to Question No. XII (unstarred), asked by the Hon'ble Maulvi Mazharul Anwar Chaudhuri at the Council meeting of the 2nd July, 1914.

No. 3940, dated Calcutta, the 5th July, 1902.

From—O C. LEES, ESQ., Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle,
To—The Chief Engineer, Bengal.

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 547I., dated the 26th March, 1902, forwarding copies of your report on the measures, which might be adopted to mitigate the extent of the damage caused by the Damodar floods, and asking for the opinions of the Executive Engineers of the Cossye and Northern Drainage and Embankment Divisions on some of the suggestions made in it. You request also that arrangements may be made for systematic observations of the effects of the inundations in future.

2. In reply, I have the honour to forward copies of letters from the Executive Engineers of the two Divisions mentioned above and of the correspondence noted in the margin. You will observe from the latter that arrangements have been made to carry out the suggestions contained in paragraphs 3 and 4 of your letter.

Copy of letter No. 1371, dated the 6th May, 1902, from the Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division

Copy of letter No. 2817, dated the 3rd June, 1912, from the Executive Engineer, Cossye Division.

3. The first point which Mr. White discusses is the probable effect upon the Cossye-Selye floods of any reduction in the volume of the Damodar spill. The conclusion at which he arrives is that no appreciable relief would be afforded. It is based upon the fact that the channel of the Roopnarain for 2½ miles below its junction with the Selye affords a very inadequate outlet for the flood waters of the Cossye and Selye. The left bank is said to be skirted by zamindari embankments "densely packed with bamboos"; the right by the Chetua embankment, a retirement of which at this place would be "almost impracticable." Mr. White argues from this that, though the retirement of the first 6 miles of the Chetua embankment, as suggested in your report, would unquestionably give a freer outlet for the Cossye-Selye floods into the Roopnarain, they could not get access to the Damodar spill basin without first running the gauntlet of these 2½ miles of confined Roopnarain channel, and that therefore the provision of a wider spill basin below this neck would be of no avail. He considers also that this conclusion is supported by the fact that in 1893 and in 1896 very high flood-levels were recorded at Ghatal, when there was no flood in the Damodar.

4. I do not share Mr. White's opinion. Even if it be granted that no improvement could be made in the channel of the Roopnarain for the 2½ miles below the Selye junction, it still appears to me that a reduction of the Damodar spill would have a direct and appreciable effect on the Cossye-Selye floods. It would provide a spill basin for the Darkessur floods above the Selye outfall, and would therefore lower the flood in that river, while, by permitting a freer escape from the Roopnarain below the "neck," the latter would be better able to carry the floods entering from the Selye. But I see no reason why it should be impossible to improve the carrying capacity of the Roopnarain for the two or three miles below its junction with the Selye. The removal of the zamindari embankments would doubtless be a troublesome task, but it is impossible to suppose that, if the Damodar reservoirs were made, those embankments and the fringe of bamboos would be allowed to interpose a permanent obstacle to the relief which would otherwise be afforded.

5. It is difficult to estimate the extent to which the flood-level at Ghatal would be reduced as a result of the construction of the reservoirs and of the subsidiary measures which, as Mr. White points out, would be required to give the Cossye-Selye floods a freer access to the Damodar basin. But it will not be unreasonable to assume that the high floods which occur on the average about once in every five years would never rise above 28·00 at Ghatal. In such case the value of the benefit, as shown in paragraph 10 of Mr. White's report, would be about Rs. 1,30,000 per annum.

6. As regards the remainder of his report, I agree generally with the recommendations and conclusions summarized in sub-paragraphs 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8 and 9 of paragraph 13. I do not, however, concur with him in thinking

(sub-paragraph 7) that the construction of an escape channel from the 38th mile of the Chetua embankment to the Doorbachatty khal would be the best way of dealing with the Cossye-Selye floods. It would doubtless result in lowering the flood-level at Ghatal, but I do not think it would cost less than 20 lakhs, and such an outlay would, in my opinion, be prohibitive for the good that would be gained.

7. Mr. Maconchy's letter discusses the alternative measure, suggested in your report, of embanking the Begua with a view to expediting the process of raising the low-lying lands. I am disposed to agree with the remarks he makes upon this alternative. It would be too slow in its action. The zamindars would, I believe, never agree to finance a scheme, the benefits of which would accrue not to themselves, but to their children and grandchildren. Again, it is the fine silt carried in the upper layers of the stream that is so beneficial to the lands on which it is deposited. The embankments would shut this off from the lands that now benefit by it, and the owners would, I think, have a just grievance. For they would still be flooded by the back-water from below the embankments, but the water would be clean and would do them no good.

8. Mr. Maconchy adheres to his opinion that reservoirs would be the best solution of the problem, and he suggests that the scheme should be taken up under the Sanitary Drainage Act. The suggestion is, I think, a good one, which I propose to discuss in another letter.

9. Upon the question of the amount of the surplus flood water of the Cossye-Selye floods, Mr. Maconchy arrives at the conclusion that it is 150,000 cusecs. But these figures are arrived at by assuming the flow-off to be the mean between two values found in the Damodar basin. As a very small difference in the coefficient makes a considerable difference in the discharge in cusecs, I do not think much value can be placed upon the results of such a method of computing the discharge Mr. White has gone into the question very thoroughly, and I think the result at which he arrives, viz., 200,000 cusecs, may be accepted as the best estimate that can be made of this surplus spill.

No. 6207, dated Calcutta, the 8th November, 1902.

From—O. C. LEES, Esq., Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle,
To—The Chief Engineer, Bengal.

WITH reference to your letter No. 151T.—I., dated the 3rd June, 1902, I have the honour to forward a copy of a letter No. 1724, dated the 23rd October, 1902, from the Honorary Assistant Engineer, Edilpur Subdivision, to the Executive Engineer, Northern Drainage and Embankment Division.

2. The Honorary Assistant Engineer first of all discusses the suggestion put forward in paragraph 13 of your letter under reply. He gives his reasons for believing that a scheme for expediting the formation of a channel to conduct the spill-water from the Begua breach to the Roopnarain would be impracticable. Mr. Maconchy shared this opinion. His remarks on the subject will be found in his letter No. 1371, dated the 8th May, 1902, forwarded with my letter No. 3940, dated the 5th July, 1902, in paragraph 7, of which I gave the reasons which induced me to agree with his views. Further consideration of the subject has only confirmed the opinion I then formed. The objections to the scheme put forward by the Honorary Assistant Engineer appear to me to be perfectly sound ones, and in reply to the questions asked in paragraph 14 of your letter, I can only say that—

(1) I know of no experiences which would justify a large expenditure upon works so uncertain in their action.

(2) If the Begua channel were cut, the river would probably not keep to it without training works which might be very costly.

(3) The cost of maintenance might be very high and the possible benefits most uncertain.

I am accordingly unable to recommend this alternative as one likely to be of any practicable benefit.

3. The Honorary Assistant Engineer next reverts to the reservoir scheme, and he gives his reasons for believing that the benefits likely to accrue from the control of the Damodar floods afforded by it would be about 14 lakhs of rupees. If this estimate is approximately correct, then, I think, a strong case exists for the reconsideration of that scheme. If the total benefit be put at only half this value, the scheme, if it costs 60 lakhs, would still pay a return of nearly 12 per cent. on the outlay. I would, therefore, venture to suggest that the project be reinvestigated with a view to its being undertaken under the provisions of the Sanitary Drainage Act.

NOTE BY D. B. HORN, Esq., CHIEF ENGINEER, BENGAL, DATED 31st DECEMBER, 1902.

As I anticipated, the scheme of attempting to assist the Begua to scour out its own channel is reported to be impracticable. I accept the opinion of the engineers consulted. I simply raised the possibility with the view of having it discussed. The Superintending Engineer reverts to the reservoir scheme and suggests that, if the Honorary Assistant Engineer's estimate of the benefits which are likely to accrue from the control of the floods is correct, it should be reinvestigated with a view to its being undertaken under the provisions of the Sanitary Drainage Act.

Only last week I discussed this question of benefit with the Executive Engineer and the Honorary Assistant Engineer, and I am convinced that the estimate of 7 lakhs, which is given in paragraph 10 of my letter, is much too hopeful.

In my original estimate of 32 lakhs for constructing the dam, I assumed that the crest of the dam might be utilized as an escape; but as this would entail a certain amount of risk in the high floods, escapes would be required, thereby raising the cost of the dam to about 40 lakhs. The capitalized value of the maintenance charges (Rs. 50,000 a year) would amount to 14 lakhs. Including interest charges during construction and the cost of the survey of the areas benefited, I am confident that the total sum to be apportioned would not be far short of sixty lakhs of rupees. The area to be reclaimed and benefited would not exceed 54,250 acres, so that the average rate of apportionment works out to Rs. 110 per acre (see paragraph 11 of letter). The rate for reclaimed land would of course be higher, whereas for benefited land the rate would be lower.

Even with this high rate, it might pay if the benefit could be guaranteed, but this is impossible. With the reservoir constructed, the land to be benefited would, even in ordinary high floods, be submerged under 7 feet of water for four or five days. In extraordinary floods, there would be no benefit. Where there is so much uncertainty as to the beneficial results of the scheme, I am decidedly of opinion that further investigation is unnecessary. It is very disappointing to me personally that the enquiry should have ended so fruitlessly, but it has shown that absolute protection to the flooded area is only possible with an expenditure ranging between the limits of 1¼ and 2 crores of rupees, that partial protection can only be obtained at a cost of 60 lakhs, and that the partial excavation of the Begua, at a cost of 20 lakhs, is also considered to be impracticable.

No. 1, dated Calcutta, the 21st February, 1902

From—D. B. HORN, Esq., Superintending Engineer, on Special Duty,
To—The Chief Engineer, Bengal.

IN section 1, paragraph 1 of your letter No. 327T.—I., dated the 16th October, 1901, I was directed to enquire and report whether any remedial measures, and if so, what measures, could be adopted to mitigate the extent of the damage which is frequently caused by the Damoodar floods.

2. This question of remedial measures is one of long standing, and before attempting to prescribe a remedy it is necessary first of all to have a clear understanding of the conditions which obtained more than fifty years ago.

3. The Damoodar embankments at that time were badly aligned and of insufficient section; breaches in both banks were of very frequent occurrence, and thereby large tracts of country were subjected to disastrous floods. The following extract from a letter written by the Superintending Engineer of the Burdwan Circle will show how absolutely hopeless the maintenance of the embankments had become, and that it was useless to continue attempting to uphold a system of embankments which gave no protection to the country on either bank:—

"In 1848-49, when the annual destruction of the embankments made many officers think it would be best to remove them altogether, when the river Damoodar seemed determined in annexing the Banka river and forming a junction with it at Raghupore, when the time certainly had come for some change in the system of operations, a question was started as to whether it would not be advisable to secure the most valuable and most exposed side of the river, and to take advantage of the conformation of the other side, which seemed favourable for the rapid draining off of the floods, by opening it to the floods, removing the embankments, and limiting the range of the land inundation by a cross embankment stretching from the Damoodar to the Roopnarain."

4. In 1851, a survey was started with cross levels to cover the whole country on the right bank of the Damoodar up to the Darkessur river, with the view of ascertaining if it was feasible to abandon the embankments along a portion of the right bank of the river.

The remodelling of the left embankment was in progress in 1852-53, when Lieutenant-Colonel Goodwyn, Superintending Engineer, South-Eastern Provinces, wrote a long report on the Damoodar embankments, its bed, banks, drainage, inundations, etc., in which he strongly advocated the embanking of rivers.

The reasons advanced by him were that there was no cause to suppose that the river-bed would be raised thereby, but the reverse; that the embankments in process of being remodelled were sufficiently strong to resist any possible current; and that the flood-level would not be raised by the permanent retention of the embankments on both banks.

5. Colonel Garstin, Chief Engineer, held precisely opposite views; quoted instances of embanked rivers in Bengal where no damage was done by floods; and gave it as his opinion that if both banks of the Damoodar were abandoned, the effects of the floods would not be disastrous, considering the immense area which they would have to spill over; and that even when the flood waters did reach the Grand Trunk Road or the East Indian Railway, "they would be so shallow and have so little current that they would cause no damage to either."

6. For dealing with the Damoodar embankments three distinct proposals were put forward—

(1) To abolish the embankments on both sides as far as Ampta.

(2) To abolish a certain length of the right embankment, but to retain the left one for the protection of Burdwan, the Grand Trunk Road, the East Indian Railway, and any possible deterioration of the Port of Calcutta.

(3) To retain both embankments and to force the river to carry all its silt into the Hooghly at Falta.

The Government of Bengal eventually accepted the second proposal, and in 1855 orders were issued to the Superintendent of Embankments to remove the embankments from Sangat Gollah downwards for a distance of 20 miles. Before the flood season of 1856 a length of 15½ miles was removed; but, owing to the absence in Europe of the Superintendent, it was not until the cold weather of 1858 that the orders of Government were fully complied with.

7. Prior to the removal of the embankments, a Deputy Collector was specially deputed in 1854 to make a detailed enquiry as to the state of cultivation in the villages which were likely to be submerged, and to assist him in this investigation he was provided with a map on which was marked the possible limits of inundation.

NOTE.—For the early history of the embankments consult Selections from the Bengal Records, volumes XV, XL and I.

The Deputy Collector estimated that 762 villages were likely to be affected, with an area of 458,956 bighas. Of this area, 46,105 bighas were waste, and 2,044 bighas jungle land—in all 48,149 bighas were not under cultivation in 1854. Of this area, the Deputy Collector estimated that 26,168 bighas would be improved by silt brought in by floods, but of the land under cultivation, he considered that 165,089 bighas would be injured; so that of the whole inundated area, 40 per cent. would be rendered more or less unfit for cultivation.

8. It is to be regretted that a similar enquiry was not made a few years after the embankments had been removed, as after this lapse of time it would have been a useful guide in this enquiry by enabling me to judge if there has been any improvement in the cultivation of the flooded area.

Mr. Hobhouse, Collector of Burdwan, made an inspection of the inundated area in the cold weather of 1858, but he was evidently unaware of the Deputy Collector's report, as he stated that his only means of comparing the past and present condition of the country were the result of his own observations. In his report is given a list of villages visited, with the area found waste in each, and the following is a brief summary of the result of his inspection :—

"That from Sangat Gollah to Bamunia a little but not much injury has been done by the removal of the embankments; that from Bamunia to Hybutpore a very great deal of injury has been done by the same cause; that from Kistopore to Kotsimool an immense deal of injury has been done by the flood waters let in through the Kistopore vent-channel as a chief cause, and that this injury has been added to by the removal of the embankments, floods being thus let in, which have added force and volume to those before prevailing; that the injuries done are not, except perhaps in places like the semi-circle of waste land, generally of a permanent nature, the condition of the land showing, and the villagers usually admitting, that cultivation could easily be resumed, and would shortly be restored to its former prosperous state, were the different breaches and vent-channel named once closed."

9. A similar enquiry was made by Mr. Hobhouse in 1859 after the whole length of 20 miles of the right embankment had been removed. I will here quote verbatim the summary of his investigations, as I shall have to refer to them later when considering the question of a remedy for the conditions as they exist to-day :—

"On the subject of the Damoodar inundation on the right bank, I suppose I shall be expected to give some sort of summary of my investigations. I think, then, that commencing from below Sangat Gollah, the floods must have entered the breaches—first, at Roopshah; second, just below Goitumpore; third, between Jamna and Baugatchia; fourth, between Bamunia and Hijulna; fifth, between Hijulna and Hurripore; sixth, between Jamdoho and Hybutpore; seventh below Nusheepore, and eighth between Jote Dukhin and Jote Sreeram. Wherever the main body of the floods passed through all those breaches, there more or less injury has been done on the bank and inland by the sweeping away and rotting of crops and the deposit of sand to a greater or less depth. In places where the floods have simply washed lands without any violent rush of water, and have thence gently and naturally receded after resting some two or three days there, to judge by the crops, the floods have been beneficial to the country. Of breach No. 7 there is no necessity to speak, as an embankment is being run across it. At breaches 1, 2, 3, 5 and 8, much sand has been deposited near the river banks, and some crops were probably swept away or rotted inland, but no villages seem to have been materially injured in the line which the floods take through these breaches. At breaches 4 and 6 the greatest injuries have been done. Here from one to two miles of length and quarter of a mile in breadth on the river banks and inland scarcely any crops are to be seen, and sand deposits studded now and then with clumps of coarse grass everywhere meet the eye, and the villages of Hijulna, Bongram, Raipore and Teandoll, and their cultivation seem to have suffered very much destruction of houses, property, and crops through breach No. 4, and the villages of Hybutpore, Sadeepore, Denapore and Balagor, and their crops through breach No. 6.

"If I might suggest, I should say that a measure of equity to the raiyats and landholders on the right bank would be to fill up all the breaches mentioned, so as to bring them to the levels of the river banks on either side of them; and thus perhaps when all the right bank is overtopped by the flood, there might be a general and equal spill over the whole country instead of those partial rushes of flood water at eight breaches over some thirty-six miles of river banks; but even if this result could not thus be obtained, at least the filling up of the breaches would satisfy the minds of people, who now remark that whilst cesses to maintain their embankments are included in their jummas, and the Government receives a yearly sum of Rs. 55,000 to maintain them,* they are not only not maintained, but are removed, and even the breaches in the natural banks are now never repaired.

10. In the cold weather of 1861, an uncovenanted Deputy Collector, Mr. Jones, made an inspection of the Burdwan district, particularly from Kotsimool to Tundool, and reported that the prevailing feature testifying to the damage done by the removal of the embankment was the immense quantity of waste land to be met with; and although these lands are too far from the river to be covered with sand, yet the good soil appears to have been washed away by the force of the current. He also instances two facts to show the damage which must be done to lands subjected to floods such as last year—

* NOTE.—Government does not receive a yearly sum of Rs. 55,000 to maintain the embankments.

(i) At Suboldoho and Boro there were 10 to 12 feet of water over the lands, as corroborated by the marks on trees.

(ii) At Kamalghurree and two or three other places, the people are migrating.

The Collector of Burdwan (not Mr. Hobhouse, I understand) from a perusal of this report observed that whatever indirect advantages may have been derived from abandoning the embankments, the direct results have been almost complete ruin to the cultivators, whose lands are situated along the banks of the Damoodar.

11. In the Hooghly district a personal inspection was made by the Collector from Shahpore to Dihi Borsoot. It was noted that for a mile or two on the right bank the crops were good; that the land had been enriched by silt deposit. Beyond this a tract from 2 to 2½ miles in width had been much injured. In this tract, the Collector gathered, there was 12 feet of water, and notwithstanding its wide expanse, the current was strong, "uprooting trees, destroying houses, leaving in places a considerable body of sand, and otherwise devastating a large tract of country, which was covered with coarse grass over the greater portion and used as grazing-ground for the public."

12. The Bengal Government was evidently not satisfied with the reports above referred to regarding the state of the country after the floods, as Lieutenant Garnault, R.E., was deputed to make an enquiry during the cold-weather season of 1862. That officer made a rough survey of the waste lands in the Burdwan district; but, unfortunately, I have not been able to obtain a copy of it. The general result of the enquiry was that there were 21,271 bighas lying waste in 1862-63, against 18,820 bighas in 1858-59 and 16,668 bighas as estimated in 1854.

The increase of 2,451 bighas since 1858-59 Lieutenant Garnault attributed to two causes:—

1st—There was much more waste at Srikistopore, and 2ndly—that there was a quantity of land lying waste at the time of the enquiry, which in ordinary years would be cultivated.

Mr. Jones's estimate of the waste land from Saugat Gollah to Kotsimool, which at the time was evidently considered excessive, was only about 4 per cent. in excess of Lieutenant Garnault's.

Lieutenant Garnault sums up the whole of his enquiry in the Burdwan district (he did not inspect the Hooghly district) in the following words:—

"That a great quantity of land has been put out of cultivation there is no doubt; that a great quantity more has been unfitted for rice cultivation, but still able to produce equally lucrative crops of rabi there it also no doubt; but it has yet to be proved that the greater produce on some lands on account of the alluvial deposit from the spill waters of the Damoodar does not compensate for the loss which has been sustained by portions which have been laid entirely waste. For my own part I am inclined to think that if the whole of the lands subject to the floods belonged to one individual, he would find no decrease in the income derived from the produce of the land."

13. The final orders* of the Bengal Government on this very important question were as follows:—

"On a careful consideration of the subject, the Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the removal of the embankments on the right bank of the Damoodar has been a judicious measure, the work has been carried out with skill and judgment, and the results accord closely with the expectations formed when it was first authorized in 1856. Whatever partial damage may have been sustained by the natural action of the river, now that it is no longer attempted to confine the flood waters within artificial limits, it is not to be compared with the injury and devastation formerly produced by the sudden and violent irruption of the river bursting its embankments, while the general fertility of the area subject to inundation has been greatly increased. But while arriving at this conclusion, the Lieutenant-Governor is not unmindful of the fact that a certain extent of country in the immediate vicinity of the breaches that have occurred has been injured, and that a sense of insecurity still prevails among the raiyats from the uncertainty of the action of the river on its bank. His Honour is, therefore, of opinion that some practical measure should be devised to utilize the flood waters of the Damoodar, to give confidence to the raiyats, and, if possible, to reclaim the land which is now uncultivated."

* No. 3005, dated the 18th May, 1863.

14. These final orders may be considered to conclude what may be termed the first stage of the proceedings connected with the regulation of the floods in the Damoodar river. I will now proceed to state briefly the result of the investigations which were made with the view of establishing reservoirs in the upper sections of the Damoodar and Barakur rivers.

15. In one of the appendices to this report will be found extracts from the notes of my inspection of the inundated country. They may be considered somewhat lengthy ; but I venture to think they will be found useful should further enquiry be considered necessary. I was unable to obtain any information as to the present state of cultivation, so I decided to see with my own eyes as large an area of the flooded country as possible, before attempting to suggest any remedy for its improvement. In a subsequent paragraph of this report I will attempt to contrast the state of cultivation, as it is to-day, with what it was in the cold season of 1859.

16. In the cold weather of 1863, Lieutenant Garnault explored the upper portion of the Damoodar river, and selected four sites for reservoirs, one in each of the following rivers, viz., the Gurhee, Haharoo, Bakaroo, and Konaree. He estimated that these four reservoirs would lower the flood-level of the Edilpur gauge by one foot ; and although they would not be sufficient to save entirely the country on the west of the Damoodar from inundation, still with this reduction of level half of the floods between 1859 and 1863 would have passed to the sea without doing any damage, and the danger caused by the remainder would have been greatly alleviated.

17. The following were the Lieutenant-Governor's orders on the report :—

"The four reservoirs recommended by Lieutenant Garnault in Gurhee, Haharoo, Bakaroo, and Konaree nadis would only have the effect, according to his calculation, of lowering the flood-level one foot at Edilpur, and thereby diminishing by about one-half the damage heretofore done by inundating floods. To attempt this would be trifling with an object of great importance, and it is certainly desirable that a much greater measure of protection should, if practicable, be attained."

18. In the cold weather of 1866, Lieutenant Heywood continued the examination of the upper reaches of the Damoodar and its tributaries with the view of discussing sites suitable for "reservoirs to keep back the inundating floods and store the excess water for future use either to irrigate neighbouring land or increase the available flood of the lower Damoodar during the dry season, and thus form a source of supply for canals."

The result of this enquiry was that fourteen additional sites were discovered more or less suitable for reservoirs.

19. About this time Messrs. Schiller, Peterson, and Goodenough applied for a concession for constructing a navigable canal, between the Raniganj coalfields and the Hooghly, as an alternative route to the East Indian Railway, which was reported to be unable to deal with the rapidly-increasing coal trade. The Orissa famine was also in progress, and it was no doubt these two new factors which prompted the Government of Bengal, in reporting the result of Lieutenant Heywood's enquiry to the Government of India, to recommend that a commencement be made with such of the reservoirs as present the greatest facilities, and can be executed at a moderate cost, more especially as the Chief Engineer has pointed out the absolute necessity for some water being stored in connection with the proposed canals from the Damoodar now under consideration.

For this purpose three sites in the Damoodar and two in the Barakar river were recommended for selection, especially as the water stored therein, calculated at 17,500 million cubic feet, would, when held back, not only exercise a most perceptible effect on the floods, but also be immediately reproductive in supplying the canal from Raniganj to Calcutta at a time when there would be little or none available in the river. The Lieutenant-Governor also stated that he was all the more anxious to see this experiment tried, as the floods of the Damoodar are still a subject of great difficulty, which the measures hitherto adopted cannot be said to have practically solved.

In the same letter the Lieutenant-Governor, therefore, proposed to have the survey and estimates made for the reservoirs as forming a necessary adjunct to the canal project, and at the same time offering an opportunity of testing to a not unimportant extent, and without additional expense, the principle of restraining the floods.

20. In April 1870, plans and estimates for the Damoodar Canal, revised agreeably to the instructions conveyed by the Governor General in Council, were resubmitted to the Government of India, and the Lieutenant-Governor expressed a hope that the estimates would now be deemed sufficiently complete to admit of their being forwarded to the Secretary of State for sanction.

21. The Government of India forwarded the plans and estimates to the Secretary of State in June, and informed the Bengal Government of the fact. They also requested that expenditure on preliminary operations at the head works might be suspended, as His Excellency the Governor General, notwithstanding the strong recommendation in favour of the scheme of His Honour, and of various officers consulted, was not satisfied that the Government in carrying it out would be secured from financial loss, owing to there being no certainty that the people would take the water regularly.

The Secretary of State, in his Despatch of November 1870, wrote as follows :—

> I cannot think, therefore, that the scheme under consideration could be proceeded with immediately without risk of serious financial loss. I join in opinion with your Excellency that it will be wiser to wait until observation of the irrigation and navigation works in operation in the Midnapore and Cuttack districts shall have afforded better means of judging what will be the probable effects of similar works in the country between Raniganj and Calcutta.

This completes the early history of the question of dealing with the Damoodar floods—a question which has remained in abeyance for over thirty years, with the exception of the detailed survey which was made by Mr. Lees in 1888-89, and which led to the abandonment of a further length of ten miles of the right embankment.

22. I will now consider what the effect of the floods has been on the country during the last fifty years, and if it is possible by any means, and at a moderate cost, to mitigate the frequency and severity of the floods, so that the waste land may be again brought under cultivation, and at the same time lessen the annual misery caused to the poor villagers, who, seemingly, from force of circumstances are compelled to live under conditions which, during periods of flood, must be, to say the least, alarming. In the bhils of Eastern Bengal the villagers provide themselves with boats for getting about, but on the Damoodar right bank this is not possible, as the floods seldom last more than a week, and during that time the villagers are kept prisoners on the village mounds. In every village I heard the same story, viz., that the floods were higher in recent years, and apart from the evidence of gauge-readings, their story was confirmed by the number of houses which had fallen during the flood of September last. It is, of course, no new experience for the inhabitants of this unfortunate tract to wake up in the morning and find the whole country one vast sea of water. Captain Finnis, in his report of the flood of 1840, speaks of the country being under water "as far as the eye can reach," and Mr. Denton, speaking of the country farther south, says that it was one sheet of water, and that the water from the Damoodar passed over the bunds of the Darkessur into the latter river.

23. At that time even, I understand, the villages were for the most part on mounds 8 to 14 feet high. At the present day the villages are still on mounds, but I believe it is not uncommon for the poorer people to have to take refuge in trees during exceptionally high floods. It was no doubt this liability to floods, caused by imperfect embankments, which led Government in 1854 to abandon the right embankment in preference to abandoning the embankments on both sides of the river. It is not generally known how imperfect the drainage of the country is between the Hooghly and Damoodar rivers as high up as Burdwan. In years of ordinary rainfall no drainage is required, as the whole of the rainfall is necessary for maturing the rice crop; but whenever there is an abnormal fall of rain, the country becomes water-logged, as the only outlets for the drainage are a few small openings in the right bank of the Hooghly in the upper portion, and in the lower portion the drainage sluices at Dancuni, Howrah, Burra Jallah, and Sijberriah. This was particularly noticeable during the last two years when the rainfall in September was exceptionally heavy. If, therefore, in addition to the ordinary rainfall, the country were also subjected to annual inundations from the Damoodar, many villages on the left of the Damoodar would, at the present time, be as badly off as those on the right, to say nothing of the frequent interruptions to traffic which would be caused by breaches in the East Indian Railway.

24. The self-acting tide-gauge at Noaserai on the Hooghly shows that, during the whole of August and September, the river level never falls below 19 above mean sea-level; whereas, at Gopeegunge on the Roopnarain the gauge only registered 23·5 for twenty-four hours during September last, and six days afterwards the mean level was only 10·50, notwithstanding the heavy floods in the Cossye and Solye rivers as well. It will be seen, therefore, that the Roopnarain river is the natural outfall for the Damoodar flood water, and there can 'now' be no doubt that the action of Government in abandoning the right embankment was judicious. Great misery has doubtless been caused thereby to the inhabitants of the inundated tract, but history shows that they were not unused to it, although it is possible, since the abandonment of the embankment, that their sufferings are more frequent and of longer duration.

25. From what I have written in previous paragraphs, it must be evident that there is only one possible way of mitigating the extent of the damage caused by the Damoodar floods, and that is by the construction of controlling reservoirs as near as possible to the confluence of the Damoodar and Barakur rivers. In order to calculate what the approximate size of the reservoirs should be, it is first of all necessary to ascertain the maximum flood discharge of the Damoodar, and also the duration of a high flood. So far as I have been able to gather from old papers, the most reliable observations seem to have been made by Lieutenant Garnault in 1864 and Lieutenant Heywood in 1866. Lieutenant Garnault found the discharge of the Damoodar above its confluence with the Barakur to be 284,388 cubic feet per second. Lieutenant Heywood, from observations, estimated the discharge of the Barakur at 147,577 cubic feet; so that, assuming the two floods to be simultaneous, the joint discharge of the rivers may be taken at 430,965 cubic feet per second. From later observations, Lieutenant Heywood estimated the discharge of the Damoodar at Raniganj at 343,657 cubic feet. The discharge of the river at Sangat Gollah, about 60 miles below Burdwan, would therefore probably be not less than 380,000 cubic feet. The gauge-reading at Edilpur during this flood was 15. From cross-sections of the river taken in 1851, Colonel Goodwyn calculated the discharge by Eytelwein's formula, which gave approximately 600,000 cubic feet per second as the result.

26. Hitherto I have considered this discharge to be manifestly much too high, but taking the following facts into consideration I question if the discharge is so very much exaggerated as I had previously supposed. From recent cross-sections of the river, I have attempted to calculate the maximum discharge of the river by the Mississippi formula, but the results have been disappointing.

The drainage area of the Damoodar is 7,000 square miles,* and to carry off a rainfall of 3 inches over this area in 24 hours requires a discharge of 567,000 cubic feet per second; but as it is generally assumed that only 70 per cent. of the rainfall does flow off, the revised discharge becomes 396,900 cubic feet. The highest recorded flood in the Damoodar occurred in July 1897, when there was an average rainfall of 8·90 inches over the whole catchment area in four days (Mr. Maconchy's note on the Damoodar Canal); but the period of highest flood only lasted 18 hours, which is equal to a net flow-off of 3·13 inches in the 24 hours, or a discharge of 591,500 cubic feet per second. The maximum discharge must, therefore, have been less than this amount, as it must have taken some time to fill up the river channels and also to empty them. It is probable, therefore, that when the flood was at its highest, the discharge was not less than 500,000 cubic feet a second. This flood, which registered 16 feet 2 inches on Edilpur gauge, was an extraordinary high one, whereas during an ordinary high flood (15 feet on the gauge), it is probable that the discharge does not exceed 400,000 cubic feet a second.

27. The flood of September 1900 was 1 foot 4 inches lower than that of 1897, but its period of duration was nearly 60 hours, whereas the flood of July 1897 lasted less than 48 hours. In 1859, on the 28th July, a most destructive flood is said to have occurred, the gauge-reading at Edilpur being 14 feet 6 inches. It is described as follows by Mr. Smith, the Executive Engineer of Burdwan :—

At Edilpur the river commenced rising from a level of 5 feet very early in the morning of the 28th July, and at noon reached its greatest height level of 14 feet 6 inches which it maintained for three hours. At 3 o'clock P.M. it began to subside, and fell a foot by 6 o'clock the same evening, and the following day at noon it was down to 10 feet 6 inches on gauge.

In 1866, there was a high flood which commenced on the morning of the 1st July at 10 A.M.

At 10 A.M. gauge read	...	11′ 6″
Evening ...	...	14′ 0″
Morning of 2nd July	...	14′ 0″
Afternoon ...	...	13′ 6″
At 1 A.M. on 3rd ...	...	15′ 0″
At 10 „ on 3rd ...	...	11′ 0″

The first flood was only at its highest for 12 hours. That of 1866 was at its highest for a few hours only, but the Edilpur gauge probably averaged 14 feet for 30 hours.

In 1877, the flood was at its highest for 12 hours, but the flood lasted 42 hours.

In 1898, the Edilpur gauge averaged fully 15 feet for 30 hours.

In 1899, the flood was only 14 feet 6 inches for a few hours.

In 1900, the flood in June did not reach 15 feet on the Edilpur gauge for more than 12 hours.

In 1901, the flood in September probably averaged 15 feet for 36 hours.

I have compared the duration of all the floods from 1857, and with the exception of the unusual floods in July 1897 and September 1900, the duration of an ordinary high flood is about 24 hours.

28. Before proceeding further with the question of size of reservoirs, it is necessary for me to compare the gauge-readings at Edilpur for as many years as reliable readings can be found. The zero of the gauge prior to 1859 was 92·58, when for some reason or other it was lowered about 3½ feet. In the following year the gauge was put back to its old zero, where it remained until it was washed away in 1880. I ordered that the zero of the gauge to be checked last month, and found it to be 8 inches too high.

The following is the list of gauge-readings at Edilpur which are all referred to the same zero, viz., 92·58 above mean sea-level :—

In 1853, Captain Dickens, who was then Assistant Secretary to the Military Board, attempted to prove that the bed of the river was being raised, and on this same subject Lieutenant Garnault wrote as follows in 1864:—

It has been stated that the battle of the Damodar has been fought and won; but I think that the measure of the removal of the embankment is only one of temporary success, and that in a few years we shall find ourselves in just as great difficulties as ever with the Damodar floods, and with one of our chances of relief exhausted. There is no doubt, I think, that the bed of the Damodar from Raniganj to Moishrakha has risen, and is steadily rising; coal boats, which could navigate the river from June till November, can now only ply in the highest freshets; there is also no doubt that the country on the right is rising. At Sadepore the country has risen a foot since the gauge was put up in 1859: and the villagers informed me that since the removal of the embankment the land has risen 3 or 4 feet."

As regards the high floods in recent years, it should be remembered that the spill over the left bank above Edilpur must be less now than it was in 1866, so that for similar floods the gauge-readings at Edilpur must necessarily be higher. It is also a fact that, during the last three years, the floods in all the rivers, from the Damodar to the Mutai, have been higher than any recorded during the previous thirty years.

To my mind, therefore, the evidence of the gauge-readings is conclusive that there has been little, if any, change in the height of river-bed during the last fifty years.

29. During the very high flood of 1840, Captain Dickens calculated that, notwithstanding the breaches on the Burdwan side of the river, at least 300,000 cubic feet a second must have passed over the land on the right of the Damodar and he further estimated that, if the whole discharge of the river, viz., 600,000 cubic feet a second had passed, the depth of flood over this land would only have been increased two feet thereby. I am unable to understand how Captain Dickens arrived at the above conclusion, as I have attempted to calculate the discharge in the flooded area, but I am sorry to say the results have been most disappointing.

One thing, however, is certain, and that is, in order to give adequate protection to the inundated area, it will be necessary to hold back a considerable portion of the flood discharge of the river, and also for a not inconsiderable length of time.

30. In a previous paragraph of this report, I referred to two exceptional floods of recent years, viz., that of July 1897 and September 1900.

The former flood was at its height for nearly two whole days, and certainly for three days, the average discharge could not have been less than 400,000 cubic feet per second. The flood during September 1900 lasted for 60 hours; and although it was not such a high flood, its discharge, while it lasted, was probably about 400,000 cubic feet per second.

The flood of September 1900 was unusually prolonged in all the rivers in the Midnapore and Balasore Divisions, and may, therefore, be considered exceptional; the flood of July 1897 was also, as regards duration, exceptional, although the floods of 1877, 1888, 1898 and 1901 were almost equally high.

The following is the mean height of floods for the following periods :—

Year.
1857—1866	...	...	...	13′ 6″
1867—1876	...	...	...	13′ 7″
1877—1886	...	...	...	13′ 6″
1887—1896	...	...	...	14′ 2″
1897—1901	...	...	...	15′ 3″

It will be seen, therefore, that the average flood of the last five years was 13 inches higher than that of the ten years previous. The comparison, however, is scarcely a fair one, as it is possible that the floods during the next five years may be low ones, in which case the mean height of flood from 1897 to 1906 will probably vary little from the mean of the period from 1887 to 1896.

31. In order, therefore, to give any tangible protection to the inundated area, and from what has been said in the previous paragraphs, it is evident that a very large portion of the flood must be held back, and, in my opinion, it will be necessary to retain 200,000 cubic feet per second for three days. which corresponds to a storage capacity of 51.940 millions of cubic feet.

The probable effect of this would be to lower the gauge at Edilpur to 12 feet, so that there would be little or no spill across the right bank from Sangatgollah to opposite Gopalpur bungalow. Between that and Jamalpur the spill would probably be 50,000 cubic feet, and the balance would find its way through the Begua breach and the main Damoodar towards Ampta The effect of this would be that the whole of the country as far as Begua would be free from floods, and any flood-water there might be would be beneficial than otherwise; whereas the country below Begua, instead of having to impound 350,000 cubic feet a second for some days, would have only half that amount to impound, so that the flooded area would be much smaller, and the depth of water over the lowest land would probably be reduced by one-half. This great reduction in the height of flood in the neighbourhood of the Darkessur river would at once give relief to the flood-water from the Cossye and Selye rivers, which does such frequent damage to the Ghatal and Chetooa circuits.

32. During my recent inspection I was able to realize what the full force of the Damoodar flood-water must be when it first approached the left bank of the Roopnarain. During the flood of September 1900, the flood-water poured over the left bank of the Roopnarain as far up as Joteekanaram inspection bungalow, so that it was impossible for either the Darkessur, the Cossye, or the Selye rivers to get rid of any portion of their flood-water through this portion of the Roopnarain. For two days there was no difference of level between the gauge readings at Ranichuck and Gopeegunge. The consequence was that the Ghatal circuit embankment was swept away, the Darkessur zamindari embankments are rapidly disappearing (I understand the zamindars have given up trying to maintain them), the Chetooa and neighbouring circuit embankments were breached, with the result that the whole country was inundated.

During the last three years the results have been disastrous, and I have reluctantly come to the conclusion that it is almost hopeless to attempt to continue maintaining the Schedule D embankments, if something is not done to control the Damoodar floods.

33. The surplus water of the Cossye and Selye floods is about 300,000 cubic feet per second, and if one-third of this quantity could readily find a means of escape into the lowland above the Bakshi khal, there would be no difficulty in this quantity, combined with the reduced discharge of the Damoodar, finding a speedy passage through the railway bridge at Kolaghat.* It is true that this surplus water from the Cossye and Selye rivers would probably slightly increase the depth of water in the inundated area to the north of the Bakshi khal ; but it is impossible to avoid this, as in any circumstances a certain area of this land must remain waste.

All the flood-water of the Damoodar must pass over this land, and if a portion of the flood is kept back for a time, it simply means that this land will no longer be subject to a high flood, as is the case at present, but it will probably be flooded for a longer time with less depth of water. In these circumstances it seems to me impossible that this land can ever be brought under rice cultivation, but in time it might be possible to make the land suitable for rabi crops.

34. By controlling the Damoodar floods as proposed, I am of opinion it would then be possible to give absolute protection to the whole of Ghatal, Chetooa, and other circuits below, while the country from Sangatgolah to Begua would be free from floods, and breaches in the right bank of the river would be no longer possible. The country to the south of the Begua would, no doubt, be improved, but it is impossible to say to what extent, and, as I have already remarked, there would always be a certain area to the north of the Bakshi khal which would derive no benefit.

There are other advantages to be derived from the construction of the proposed reservoirs, which may be briefly summarised as follows. The proposed new railway from Bankura to Howrah would be more cheaply constructed :—

(a) If the crossing is fixed above Begua, very few openings would be required to pass the spill-water, and at the main river crossing a bridge sufficient to pass 200,000 cubic feet a second would be all that was necessary.

(b) At present an average annual expenditure of Rs. 20,000 is incurred in repairing breaches in the right bank of the Damoodar. I estimate that, if the flood level were reduced by three feet at Edilpur, no part of this expenditure would be necessary in future.

(c) During the last three years the excess cost of repairing breaches in the Ghatal, Panna, and Chetooa circuits has averaged not less than Rs. 50,000. I consider that, if the flood-water at Ghatal is prevented in future from rising above 28 on the gauge, almost the whole of this expenditure would be saved.

35. Before attempting to estimate the annual saving of crops which would be effected by the construction of reservoirs, I will first of all consider if suitable sites for reservoirs are available.

* From the old records I have ascertained that the section of the river at Kolaghat is much the same to-day as it was in 1850

The following reservoir sites were selected by Lieutenant Heywood during his investigation in 1866 :—

36. Regarding the suitability of those sites Colonel Rundall, Chief Engineer, wrote as follows :—

"The result of Lieutenant Heywood's investigation was the discovery of twelve sites for reservoirs in the Damoodar, more or less favourable, the aggregate capacity of which is estimated at 55,000 millions of cubic feet and of six sites in the affluents of the Barakur aggregating 9,300 millions of cubic feet. Of the former, however, only eight are favourable as far as the slope of river is concerned, and in all of them the length of dam is greater than desirable. Of the six sites in the Barakur, only the first and sixth are favourable. The former particularly so, owing to the dam being so short." * * * * * *

Colonel Rundall then went on to say that although the sites were isolated, he anticipated no difficulty in the construction of the reservoirs if proper arrangements were made beforehand. He, therefore, recommended sites Nos. 1, 3 and 8 in the Mahcam, Gurhee and Konaree affluents of the Damoodar and Nos. 1 and 6 in the Barakur being regularly surveyed and estimated for. He estimates the storage capacity at those sites to be 17,500 millions of cubic feet, " or rather more than a quarter of the whole quantity of water shed off in a great flood like that of 1866, sufficient to have lowered the levels of the river to within its natural banks at Edilpur and so prevented any destructive effects."

37. I am unable to follow the reasoning of the note, as the area of the catchment basins above the reservoir sites is under 1,000 square miles, or ⅙th of the total drainage area of the two rivers. Dickens' empirical formula for calculating the discharge of a river is $Q = CM^{\frac{3}{4}}$, where C is a constant, and M the drainage area, so that the discharge is nearly proportional to the catchment area. Under the most favourable conditions, the reservoirs could not have reduced the discharge by a lakh of cubic feet, or. to put it in other words, they would simply have sufficed to convert an extraordinary high flood into an ordinary high flood, which corresponds to a reading of 15 feet on the Edilpur gauge. Lieutenant Heywood must have written the following paragraph of his report under a misapprehension :—

" At Edilpur the quantity of water passing down the channel below the banks where the gauge shows 10 feet is stated by Lieutenant Dundas to be 237,660 cubic feet per second."

At that time it was always assumed that with a gauge at 10 feet the flood did no damage below Edilpur.

Colonel Goodwyn estimated the discharge at Edilpur with a mean depth of flood of 10 feet at 253,082 cubic feet, and a flood to-day under similar conditions will give much the same discharge What I wish to point out is that 10 feet on the Edilpur gauge and a " mean depth " of 10 feet are two totally different things : in fact, according to my calculation, the discharge of the river with a gauge reading of 10 feet is only half what it would be with a " mean depth " of 10 feet. What Lieutenant Heywood was doubtless attempting to prove was that, if half the flood-water of the Damoodar was stored, there would be little or no damage to the country below Edilpur. Colonel Dickens estimated the duration of a flood to be four days, and that it would, therefore, be necessary to store 100,000 millions of cubic feet, whereas Lieutenant Garnault calculated that half that quantity would suffice. This latter estimate agrees almost exactly with the figures given in paragraph 31 above.

38. Regarding reservior sites my own opinion is that they should be selected as near as possible to the confluence of the two rivers, in order to ensure the greater portion of the catchment area being above the reservoirs. In the lower reaches of the rivers the slope of the bed is also much smaller (about 4·5 feet per mile), so that for the same height of dam a much longer reservoir is possible.

I inspected the lower portions of the Damoodar and Barakur rivers in December last, and have selected three sites which I think would be capable of storing 100,000 cubic feet a second for 40 hours by means of masonry dams not exceeding 70 feet in height. No site nearer the junction of the two rivers is possible owing to the number of coal-mines close to the river banks. On the Barakur river the first site selected is immediately above the railway bridge, but the second site which is about 8 miles higher up is the more suitable, as the foundation would be on rock at a moderate depth, and the length of dam would be small compared with the possible storage capacity of the reservoir. On the Damoodar the site selected also gives promise of a rock foundation.

It would no doubt be possible to obtain sites suitable for the storage of the balance of the 50,000 millions of cubic feet required, but a glance at the tables in paragraph 35 will suffice to show that most of the sites are disadvantageous both as regards height and length of dam, and being in isolated places the construction of the reservoirs would not only be costly, but would also be an undertaking of considerable difficulty

39. When the question of reservoirs was being considered in 1866, Government was then hopeful that the proposed Damoodar canal would be so remunerative as to be able to bear the whole cost of the reservoirs, and that the inundated area would be thereby protected without the necessity of imposing any additional burden on the zamindars.

Irrigation works in Bengal have not been a financial success, so there is no likelihood of the old irrigation canal scheme being revived ; and as regards a navigation canal, it would be impossible to construct one that would serve the coal trade as cheaply and expeditiously as the present railway system which is being so rapidly extended throughout the coal area.

If, therefore, the zamindars are desirous of protective works being carried out, they should be made clearly to understand that the whole of the cost will have to be borne by them. In these circumstances, it seems to me to be unnecessary to consider further any such proposal as that contained in paragraph 31 of this report, as the cost under the most favourable conditions would not be less than a crore and a quarter of rupees, and as I will attempt to show later on, the benefit which the inundated area would derive would be far from being commensurate with the expenditure to be incurred.

40. In my letter No. 1816, dated the 25th March 1901, I stated that in order to give relief to the Ghatal and Chetua circuits, there was only one solution, viz., to store up a certain portion of the flood-water of the Cossye and Selye rivers for a limited period, and that it would be advisable to depute some one during the next cold weather to enquire into the possibility of constructing reservoirs in the Cossye and Selye valleys at a reasonable cost.

It appears that Mr. DeMello in 1886 made an investigation of the upper reaches of the Cossye river with the view of ascertaining if there were any sites suitable for the formation of reservoirs. The results of his enquiry were communicated to Government with the Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle's letter No. 4503, dated the 21st October 1886. Seven possible sites were reported on, namely, at—

(1) Kechanda in the Tarafuni khal.
(2) Phoolkoosma } in the Boirabanker nadi.
(3) Bansa nallah } in the Boirabanker nadi.
(4) Mokundpore in the Toolka nadi.
(5) Jambad } in the Cossye river.
(6) Jotejinke } in the Cossye river.
(7) Amluka nuggur } in the Cossye river.

Of these, the Superintending Engineer wrote as follows :—

"The last three are on such an extensive scale, the catchments are so large and the escapes would consequently have to be of such an expensive character, that they may be set aside as out of the question."

The storage capacity at the other sites would be equal to a discharge of 50,000 cubic feet a second for 24 hours ; but as I am of opinion that isolated reservoirs are not suitable for the efficient control of floods, I should prefer to select a site on the main river and as near to Midnapore as possible. The Superintending Engineer reported that he did not consider the project worthy of consideration as he questioned if the water could be stored for Rs. 400 a million cubic feet, and it would probably cost more. The cost of the reservoirs would not be less than twenty-two lakhs of rupees.

In the main river the most convenient site would probably be at Sijwa Ghat (44 miles to the west of Midnapore), but as the foundations of the dam would have to be carried on wells, the cost of constructing the reservoir with the necessary escapes would be prohibitive.

41. The question of reservoirs in the valley of the Selye was investigated by Lieutenant Smyth, R.E., about 1868, with the result that fourteen possible sites were selected. The largest reservoir near Kudumdeolee, was estimated for in detail as an irrigation project; but, owing to the unsatisfactory results of the Midnapore and Orissa Canals, the question of storage reservoirs was dropped, and it has remained in abeyance up to the present day. Captain Mayne, in his report on Lieutenant Smyth's project, made the following remarks :—"Control the Damoodar and Cossye rivers, and there is no reason why the lower reaches of the Selye should not be free from bad inundations. * * *"

"But after all, it appears that the greatest damage by the floods is done in the neighbourhood of Ghatal, and the reservoirs will not stop the floods in this portion of the country (although they may modify them), unless the Damoodar and other rivers are also controlled."

42. The Damoodar flood of 1840 rolled over the banks of the Roopnarain, so likewise did the floods of 1900 and 1901. Captain Mayne's experience of the floods during his time seems to have been similar to mine, so I think it may safely be assumed that, in order to control the floods of the Cossye and Selye, it is first of all necessary to regulate the floods of the Damoodar. This I have already explained in paragraphs 31 and 32 of this letter, but for effective control I pointed out that it would be necessary to dam back 200,000 cubic feet a second for three days. After more detailed examination of the duration of the floods in the Damoodar, and looking to the fact that the floods of July 1897 and September 1900 were exceptional (they are the record floods since 1857), I am now convinced that, by retaining 100,000 cubic feet a second for 24 hours, some permanent benefit would be conferred, not only on the inundated area on the Damoodar right bank, but also on the lands within the Ghatal, Chetua and other adjoining circuits.

43. It is not possible to calculate what the reduction of flood level would be in the neighbourhood of Gopeegunge by holding back the above quantity; but as the maximum rise of flood is about 12 feet, and as the reservoir above the Bakhsi khal is low and fairly level, I think a reduction of three feet may be safely assumed. This would enable the flood-water of the Darkessur and Solye to get away; and although the flood level at Gopeegunge at its maximum would probably not be less than it is now, still the chances are that it would be the Damoodar flood that would be held back, and not the Selye. To prevent the Selye flood from rising too rapidly at Ghatal, it would also be necessary to retire the Chetua circuit embankment to something like the line shown in plan; and if this were done, it is probable that the remainder of the circuit would be absolutely secure, except during extraordinary floods which I have shown are of rare occurrence.

44. Before attempting to estimate the cost of storage reservoir required, I will now attempt a rough comparison of the state of cultivation as it was in 1859 with what it is at the present day, as ascertained by personal inspection both by myself and the Honorary Assistant Engineer, Babu Durga Churn Chuckerbutty.

In paragraph 9 above is given the names of the breaches which existed at the time of Mr. Hobhouse's inspection in 1859. These were 8 in number, and are marked on the accompanying plan, whereas, at the present time, there are only two, viz., at Lakra and Bengacha, and these have been considerably reduced during the last ten years. In a few more years they will probably close altogether.

45. In paragraph 8 the Collector noted that from Sangatgolah to Bamunia a little, but not much, injury had been done. From Bamunia to Hybutpore a very great deal of injury had been done; and from Kistopore to Kotosimool immense injury had been done by the flood-water let in through the Kistopore (Lakra) breach.

A reference to the map and to my note, which are printed as an appendix, will show that at the present day there are good crops up to Balaguree, so that the state of cultivation between Bamunia and Balaguree has considerably improved, and this is no doubt due to the breaches being almost closed, and also to their being possibly less depth of spill over the right bank than there used to be. From Balaguree to Begua I have marked roughly on the accompanying tracing the area of land (about 12 square miles) which has been left uncultivated since the embankments were removed in 1859. It is, however, satisfactory to be able to report that about one-third of this area is now being reclaimed owing to the contraction of the Lakra and Bengacha breaches.

From Begua to Kotosimool the country to-day is everywhere well cultivated, so that there has been considerable improvement here also.

46. In paragraph 11 the state of cultivation, as seen by the Collector of Hooghly, is given between Shahpore, close to Kotesimool, and Dihi Barsoot. The width of good crop along the right bank of the Damoodar is much the same to-day as it was then, but the waste area of 2 to 2½ miles in width referred to does not exist as far south as the Chapadangah road. In paragraph 4 of my inspection notes the evidence of the villagers in this neighbourhood was to show that the land had been considerably raised in recent years, that the waste land was being brought under cultivation; and that the Begua had formed for itself a defined channel as far as Markunda, where it is now 2,000 feet in width. As this river advances southwards, the low land will be filled up, and the area of cultivation will be still further increased and improved in consequence.

47. To the south of the Chapadangah road the area of good crops along the right bank of the Damoodar is from 3 to 4 miles in width as far as Puspore bungalow. The waste land is roughly marked in the accompanying tracing and measures about 19 square miles. With the exception of a small area, which is shown as having good crops, the remaining area is indifferently cultivated. To the west of this area, as far south as Hurrischuck. only indifferent rabi crops are grown, while to the south of this again a large area is waste. The result of my enquiry may be briefly summarised as follows:—

(i) that the area of waste land has been doubled since the embankments were removed ;

(ii) that the land unfitted for cultivation, or indifferently cultivated, is now only 68,000 bighas against 165,089 bighas as estimated by the Special Deputy Collector.

48. The site, nature and cost of dam will now be considered.

As regards site, I have no hesitation in recommending the one which I have marked A on the survey map which accompanies this report. It is situated among the hills, where building material is plentiful, the gorge is fairly narrow ; the slope of river bed is probably not more than 6 feet a mile ; and the highest impounded water-level in the reservoir will be at least 150 feet below the East Indian Railway embankment. The size of reservoir required will be about 10 square miles with an average depth of 40 feet, but without a contour map of the country I am unable to say whether a dam, 60 feet in height, would give the storage capacity required. The country above the site of the dam is nearly all jungle and sparsely populated, so that small compensation would have to be paid for acquisition of the land.

49. I propose to deal with the Barakur river entirely, as the cost of constructing the necessary escapes for the reservoirs will be much less in the Barakur than they would otherwise be in the Damoodar. In the case of an extraordinary flood, lasting for two or three days, the whole of the flood discharge of the Barakur river, amounting to 180,000 cubic feet a second, would have to be passed out of the reservoirs by means of escapes ; whereas on the Damoodar the escapes would have to be equal to a discharge of 300,000 cubic feet a second. The total reduction of capacity from silt would also be greater in the Damoodar than in the Barakur reservoir.

50. The dam must be built of masonry, and the type, which I have selected, is that of the Nile dam at Assuan, where the depth of water to be impounded is 60 feet, but the dam is being built strong enough to stand a depth of 90 feet of water in front of it. With this depth of water the working of the sluices will be simple, and the velocity of discharge through the vents under 20 feet a second. Without a section of the river and some knowledge of the floods of the two rivers, I am unable to describe with accuracy how it will be necessary to work the under-sluices in the dam. Generally speaking, when the discharge of the Damoodar below the confluence of the rivers approaches 300,000 cubic feet a second, the lower sluices in the dam will be closed. Those sluices must, therefore, be designed to discharge 100,000 cubic feet a second, and as soon as they are all shut down, the upper sluices should be so placed as to be capable of discharging the balance of an ordinary high flood, viz., 50,000 cubic feet a second. There will be 50 under-sluices, Stoney's pattern, 15′×8′ with a similar number of upper sluices 8′×8′. Under a "head" of 10 feet the lower vents will discharge 100,000 cubic feet a second, with a velocity of 16 feet.

51. In Indian rivers the first flood of the season contains the greatest quantity of silt, and as a considerable portion of this flood will be allowed to pass unimpeded through the under-sluices in the dam, I assume that the amount of silt which is likely to be deposited in the reservoir will be small, and even when the main portion of the flood is being impounded, I also anticipate that, by means of the upper sluices, the rate of silt deposit will be retarded. When the flood is of long duration I propose to use the upper sluices and also the crest of the dam as an escape, in order that the principal escapes of the reservoir may be reduced to a minimum.

As soon as the flood in the Damoodar has reached its maximum, the reservoir will be emptied as speedily as possible, care being taken that the maximum discharge (except in the case of extraordinary floods) shall at no time exceed 300,000 cubic feet a second. The effect of this method of control will be that in future a high flood will be impossible, but the river will be in moderate flood for a longer period, and will thus be better able to scour out and maintain its natural channel.

52. Before estimating the cost of the reservoirs and the probable advantages to be gained by its construction, I will try to ascertain, as accurately as possible, the probable amount of silt which is likely to be deposited in the reservoir.

On this subject Captain Garnault, on his report on the Domoodar Canal, wrote as follows :—

"Colonel Strachey doubts the practicability of subduing floods by reservoirs, because he is not satisfied that they can be kept from filling up. I made some experiments last year with the water of the Damoodar and found that it contained 1 in 59 parts of solid matter by volume: this would make the rivers silt up in 59 years if filled ten times in a season (they probably would not be filled five times), perhaps in a shorter time owing to larger obstacles being rolled down than sand. The silting difficulty has been experienced in all countries in which reservoirs have been made, but remedial measures have been applied, and there is no reason why similar measures and others which experience has since brought forth, should not be applied to these."

In a recent note of Mr. Higham's on the proposed Cauvery reservoir, he considers three cases of silting :—

(i) Reservoir, full.

(ii) Reservoir, half full.

(iii) Reservoir empty, or at no higher level than is necessary for the purpose of passing through the sluice the discharge required.

Case (iii) is the one which should be applicable in the Barakur instance, as the reservoir will be emptied as soon as a flood has passed. This is no doubt the condition which is least favourable for the deposit of silt. Mr. Higham's opinion is that, even under these conditions, more than one-third of the silt in suspension will be deposited. His opinion is expressed in the following words :—

"The conclusion which I draw is that even in the most favourable circumstances, when a strong flood is passed through a nearly empty reservoir, a larger portion, probably more than half of the silt in suspension, will be trapped, and that it will not be possible to scour out silt (except in the immediate locality of the under-sluices) by passing heavy floods through an empty reservoir."

"I am still of opinion that the amount of silt that will be intercepted during a working season is likely to be not less than half the whole quantity in suspension. There can be no doubt that a large portion of the silt must be trapped, as all the time the water is being impounded, the velocity in the lake must be very small, and to carry this silt away with a low river after the flow has passed will not be possible."

53. I have been unable to obtain any definite information about the rate of silting in reservoirs. Colonel Smart, Chief Engineer of the Irrigation Department in Madras, whom I consulted on the subject, has favoured me with the following opinion :—

"I believe myself that the silt objection has been much exaggerated, and that before condemning a reservoir on this account, methods of cleaning should be considered. For instance, in the Cauvery case I calculate that two-thirds of the yearly deposit could be cleared out by steamers and mud punts at a capital cost of 2 lakhs of rupees, and a yearly expenditure of Rs. 50,000."

I also consulted Mr. Strange, Under-Secretary to the Government of India, who has had wide experience of earthen dams in Western India, but even he could give me no definite information as to the probable rate of silting in the proposed Barakur reservoir.

The following extracts from a note by him on this question are interesting :—

"Quantity of silt deposit.—Experiments on the silting of reservoirs were made some years ago in the Bombay Presidency by measuring the actual depth of deposit in boxes placed on their floors. Other experiments were made by levelling carefully marked out section lines across certain reservoirs, and on these it was intended to plot the altered surface after silt had been deposited for some years. It is not known if the results of these experiments have been published and are available. The most recent experiments made in Bombay are those which have been, and are being, carried out by the Indus River Commission, Sind. These probably do not take into account the element of time required for the deposit of silt; the others certainly do not: this is, however, a matter of the greatest importance in the present case."

Mr. Strange thus goes on to state that silt may be divided physically into three classes :—

(a) Coarse or heavy silt—Which is practically kept in suspension only as long as the water is in motion, and is deposited as soon as its velocity is much checked.

(b) Medium silt—Which remains in suspension for some time after the motion of the water ceases and may not be completely deposited for some days.

(c) Fine silt—Which remains suspended in mechanical solution, the greater bulk of it for a long time and all of it for some considerable time.

The total amount of silt brought down by a river and the proportions of it which fall under these three classes depend upon the nature of the catchment. In the present case it may be taken for granted that the whole of (a), some part of (b), and but very little of (c) will be deposited in the Barakur reservoir. What the actual amounts will be cannot be said with any exactness in the absence of experiments. It would, therefore, seem desirable that these should be made, with the element of time taken into account, whether it is determined to proceed with this project or to abandon it, as they will furnish very useful information which is otherwise probably not available.

Some experiments made about 1854 showed that in heavy floods in the Indus near Rohri (north of Sind the silt was $\frac{1}{210}$th) the bulk of the water and half of this ($\frac{1}{420}$th) was of the heavy description (a). The Indus is probably the most heavily silt-laden river in India. It must also be remembered that silt, when it is compressed and dried, will occupy far smaller bulk than it does when newly deposited.

Distribution of silt deposit.—The heaviest silt (a) will be deposited at the head of the reservoir. In the present case it will thus be exposed for the longest time to any influence tending to remove it that can be brought to bear on it. The medium silt (b) will to some extent, be deposited more quickly at the head of the reservoir, but the amount of its deposit will chiefly depend upon the depth of the water, as it will be distributed nearly evenly throughout its volume. The amount of deposit of the fine silt (c) will, for the same reason, depend almost entirely on the depth of the water. Thus we may safely assume that the greatest deposit on any cross section of the reservoir will be on the old bed of the river, and will increase the further that cross section is from the dam. This will be borne out by inspection of any old reservoir where it will be seen that the old channel bed is practically obliterated, and that the floor of the basin rises gently from the dam.

The Barakur reservoir will, however, differ from an ordinary one, in respect of the manner in which silt will be deposited, in that in it the water will be much less quiescent than it is in the case of the latter. In the high floods of the Indus, while the main river is rolling down as a muddy torrent, the spill-water between the flood embankments is at first but slightly tinged by the earliest overflow and becomes pellucidly clear after its silt is deposited, as this water is but slowly changed so long as the rivers remain at the same level. This is an extreme case, as here the discharging current is at a maximum and the impounded storage at a minimum, but the Barakur reservoir will, when the river is in flood and many large sluices are open, be similar as the bulk of the water in motion will be flowing along the central portion, while that at its sides will be fairly stationary and will not receive large fresh additions of silt.

54. The quantity of alluvium carried down by the Damoodar has been estimated by Captain Garnault at 1 in 590. This estimate appears to me to be excessive, as the estimated proportion of alluvium to discharge arrived at for the Hooghly is 1 in 2,444. For the Rhone it is 2,166, for the Mississipi it is 1 in 2,420, while the proportions estimated for the Danube and the Volga are much less. Assuming that the proportion for the Barakur is 1 in 1,200, that there are two floods a year, and that half the silt in suspension is kept back, the depth of silt deposited over the floor of the reservoir would only amount to a third of an inch per annum. Where so many assumptions have to be made, the above calculation is of little value, but I think it is sufficient to show that the rate of silting up of the reservoir will be comparatively slow.

55. As regards the cost of the dam, I have made a fairly accurate estimate, and assuming that independent escapes will not be required, the dam cannot be built for less than 32 lakhs of rupees, which is approximately equivalent to a rate of Rs. 350 per million cubic feet of water stored, and I am perfectly convinced that the above is the minimum rate of storage, no matter in which valley the reservoir is made. It is a large sum to expend on first cost, and with interest charges amounting to not less than Rs. 1,50,000 a year, it seems to me that the possible benefit to be derived will be out of all proportion to the expenditure to be incurred.

56. I have now to consider the question of benefit, and when I come to analyze the possibilities, I regret to say that they are disappointingly small. In paragraph 47 of this letter I have shown that the state of cultivation in the inundated area is, on the whole, much better than it was forty years ago; that the land in advance of the defined channel of the Begua is being gradually raised, and as the Begua goes on scooping out for itself a broad and deep channel, so will the land on its banks be again brought under cultivation; and there is no doubt that the land so reclaimed will in the end become more fertile than corresponding land within the protected area on the left bank of the Damoodar. Doubtless, a certain portion of the land below the Begua breach would be benefited by the construction of the proposed reservoir, but I am unable to estimate the value of the benefit. I am inclined to think it would not be at all in proportion to the great cost of the protective works.

57. It is only a few days ago that I have come to know how little damage is done to the rice crop within the Chetua circuit. During the last few years, while I was Superintending Engineer of the South-Western Circle, the embankments suffered from disastrous floods. In 1898-99, 1900-1901 and 1901-1902 the Chetua circuit was inundated, but strange to say in 1897, the year of the highest flood recorded in the Damoodar during the last forty years, the Chetua circuit embankment was not breached, as the Cossye and the Selye rivers were not in flood at the same time.

The Ghatal circuit embankment is breached almost every year, but the area protected is small, and as the cultivators are invariably fortunate in securing a crop of boro rice or til when they lose their winter rice crop by floods, the loss to them even is not considerable.

In 1885 and 1887 the Chetua embankments were breached and the crops within the circuit damaged, but from 1887 to 1898 there was no loss of crop.

Even in years when the winter crop is lost owing to floods, the cultivators, by holding up a portion of the flood-water, can invariably secure for themselves a crop of boro rice or til. This is the largest circuit, being 83 square miles in area, and if I am correct in supposing that the cycle of disastrous floods has passed, this area would derive little benefit from the construction of a controlling reservoir on the Barakur river.

58. During the three years mentioned above, the annual expenditure on the embankments was about Rs. 50,000 in excess of the ordinary expenditure of previous years, but I venture to hope that the great excess was abnormal, and is not likely to occur again for years to come.

No saving would be affected in the construction of the Grand Chord Railway bridge across the Damoodar, as the bridge must be made large enough to pass the maximum flood of the river, viz., 500,000 cubic feet a second.

The saving in ordinary annual maintenance of the embankments would probably be under Rs. 20,000.

There seems, therefore, to be only one conclusion to be drawn, viz., that, even with the smaller storage reservoir proposed in this letter, the cost of its construction and the annual charge for its upkeep would be out of all proportions to the benefit which could be expected in return.

59. I am disappointed with the result of my enquiry, as I was hopeful that the smaller project would prove to be feasible, and it was only about a fortnight ago, when I turned my attention to the question of benefit, that I began to realize that even the smaller project was an impossibility.

There still remains, however, one possibility, and that is the training of the Begua in such a way as to encourage it to scour out its own channel. By the erection of temporary embankments to concentrate the spill, or by excavation of the bed in suitable places, it might be possible to accelerate the rate at which the Begua has been working in the past.

If this were successful, the temporary bunds would be removed and new ones constructed in front to encourage still further advance of the river channel. If the Begua could in this way be induced to scour out a channel capable of discharging 100,000 cubic feet a second, my second proposal of storage would be gained in this way, possibly at considerably less cost, but the process would take a longer time. If the river could be trained for five miles so as to form an early junction with the Mandesswari below the Jehanabad road, a great object would be gained, as the land is low to the south of this road, and as soon as the river could discharge itself direct into this low land, the reclamation would be rapid.

The land between the two rivers during the last 40 years is being slowly built up, and when the process is complete, the property will be a valuable one.

The zamindars and raiyats must have patience for a little while longer. Their position is better now than it has been in the past, and the condition of things is slowly improving. I have requested Mr. Maconchy, the Executive Engineer of the Northern Drainage and Embankment Division, to make the necessary surveys of the Begua river with the view of ascertaining if there is any prospect of training the river as proposed and at a reasonable cost.

60. The following is a brief summary of this letter :—

(1) It was only after many discussions, prolonged over a period of years, viz., from 1846 to 1854, that Government decided eventually to abandon a length of 20 miles of the right embankment of the Damoodar extending from Sangatgolah downwards.

(2) There can be no doubt that Government made a wise decision in abandoning a portion of the right embankment. The country on the right of the Damoodar had always been liable to floods owing to imperfect embankments; flood-levels show that the Rupnarain river is the natural outlet of the Damoodar; that if the embankments on the left of the Damoodar had also been abandoned, much of the land and many of the villages to the south of Burdwan would now be in the flood season in a miserable plight; the East Indian Railway would also be liable to annual breaches; and all this, without any compensating advantage being secured for the unprotected villages on the right bank.

(3) In order to alleviate the distress which was caused to the villages by the abandonment of the right embankment projects for storage reservoirs in the upper reaches of the Damoodar and Barakur rivers were considered between 1864 and 1866. Certain sites were selected, and the Lieutenant-Governor recommended that five reservoirs should be constructed in order to supply the irrigation and navigation canal which it was proposed to construct between Raniganj and Calcutta. It was estimated that the irrigation scheme would be so remunerative that the whole cost of the reservoirs could be borne by it, and that, thereby, no additional burden would be thrown on the zamindars for flood protection.

The Government of India and the Secretary of State were of opinion that the scheme would not prove to be a financial success, and ordered its postponement until the prospects of the Midnapore and Orissa canals were assured.

With the exception of the enquiry which was made in 1888, and which led to the abandonment of another 10 miles of embankments in 1890, the question of protective works for the inundated area has remained in abeyance ever since.

(4) In 1853 Captain Dickens was of opinion that the bed of the Damoodar was rising. In 1864 Lieutenant Garnault was certain that the bed was rising. After comparing all the gauge readings at Edilpur from 1857 to 1901, the evidence seems to be that little or no change has taken place in the bed of the river during the last 40 years.

(5) During the highest flood on record in July 1897 the maximum discharge of the Damoodar was 500,000 cubic feet per second, but for an ordinary high flood which corresponds to a reading of 15 feet on the Edilpur gauge, the discharge does not exceed 400,000 cubic feet a second. The longest duration of a flood was 60 hours in September 1900, but ordinarily a flood remains at its highest for not more than 24 hours.

(6) To give absolute protection to the country would necessitate the storage of 200,000 cubic feet a second for three days at an estimated cost of not less than one and a quarter crore of rupees. As the zamindars would have to bear the whole of this vast expenditure, it was not considered necessary to treat this project seriously.

(7) Projects for storage reservoirs in the Selye were considered in 1868, when 14 sites were selected. The Cossye river was investigated in 1868, when four sites were selected as being suitable, but the question of reservoirs in both valleys was dropped on the score of expense of construction, and the probability of little revenue being derived from them as irrigation projects.

(8) This enquiry has shown that in order to control the floods of the Cossye and Selye rivers it is first of all necessary to control the Damoodar, and when this is done, immediate protection is given to the embankments on the other rivers.

(9) After a more detailed examination of the duration of ordinary floods, it was considered that a smaller scheme, viz., to store 100,000 cubic feet a second for 24 hours in the Barakur river would give reasonable protection to the land and villages in the inundated area, and also to the Ghatal and Chetua circuit embankments.

(10) The cost of the scheme is estimated to be thirty-two lakhs of rupees, and the annual cost of maintenance at not less than one-and-a-half lakhs of rupees.

(11) On enquiring into the area that would be protected, it was found that the benefit to be derived would be small compared with the great cost of the work and its annual up-keep afterwards. Even the smaller scheme is not possible, although no difficulty need be feared from the possibility of the reservoir silting up within a reasonable time.

(12) There is still one possibility left, and that is the training of the Begua river. If this is feasible, the cost will probably be less, although the process will take a longer time

Before concluding this letter, I desire to express my acknowledgments of valuable assistance received, particularly from Mr. C. A. White, Executive Engineer of the Cossye Division, also from Babu Bama Churn Paramanic, Honorary Assistant Engineer, Babu Durga Churn Chuckerbutty, Honorary Assistant Engineer, Babus Rama Nath Sircar, Aghore Nath Chatterjee and Jotindra Nath Banerjee.

D. B. HORN,

Superintending Engineer, on Special duty.

Extracts (Appendix A) from notes made during my inspections of the inundated country between the Damoodar and Roopnarain rivers in the months of November and December 1901.

IN Sangatgolah. during the time of highest flood, the depth of water is only 18 inches. To the east of the village there is a breach 40 feet wide with 6 feet of water running through it at high flood. But there is practically no breach in the right bank between Sangatgolah and Edilpúr. At Kumirkola there was a large breach, but it was effectually closed before last rainy season, and is now being silted up. I then struck across country to Kandaghosh until I came to the kutcha road which runs from Burdwan to Bankura. The rice crop was everywhere good, although during the height of flood in September the country was 3 feet under water. The flood was a high one, as the gauge at Edilpur on the 5th September registered 15 feet 7 inches. In Khejurhatti the villagers said the flood-water did not enter their village, and everywhere the crop was good. In Shosangah there was a foot of water on the road and in Saloon the fields were 4 feet under water. This was corroborated by another villager, who pointed out the flood mark on an old bridge, a great portion of which was washed away some forty years ago.

In Sangatgolah an old resident told me that the country near the river bank had been filled up 3 feet since the embankments were removed.

2. In Kamalpore a portion of the old embankment, about 3 feet high, is still standing. The crops inside are all good and where the early rice crop has been harvested, the land is being prepared for winter crops. The depth of spill over the river bank is 2 feet.. The Assistant Engineer, Babu Durga Churn Chuckerbutty, inspected the crops on the east of Jehanabad road to Machkara and on the west to Doychanda, and found them good. In Palainpore there is little cultivation along the bank as it is mostly wood. The depth of spill-water is a foot or little more. Up to Bangacha the country is rather sandy, and the depth of water of river bank is 2 feet. All along in front of Bangacha there is a large amount of khashi grass which holds back the sand, so that the depth of spill is not more than 18 inches. At Bangacha there is the remains of a breach which must have been much wider than it is now. This is one of the breaches referred to in Lieutenant Garnault's report on 1862. The breach is closed by a spur bund 300 feet in length, and is breached every year. The river spills across its bank up to Jackta where it is only a foot. The chaukidar at Jackta stated that there was 6 to 7 feet of water on the low land for five or six days, but on the high land the flood only lasted one day. Everywhere the rice crop was good.

3. In Beeropore and Nathoo two breaches occurred during last rains. The rush of water through them must have been great, as large mango trees have been overturned. The breaches are extensive, and sand has been carried across country for a very great distance. In many places 2 to 3 feet depth of sand has been left on the ground even at some considerable distance from the breaches, and if they are not closed, the land will be thrown out of cultivation. The rice crop will not be an average one. Travelled through the rice-fields as far as Boro, and found the crop excellent, notwithstanding that the depth of wáter over the fields in Boro and Balaguree was 8 feet. The rice crop must, therefore, have been under 3 feet of water for at least three days. I then crossed over to Sadipore, and thence along the river bank through Lakra, Berugram, Bolorampore, Janculi and Kalara to the Jamalpore bungalow. I measured the depth of spill which passed over the bank at Sadipore, and found it to be 2½ feet.

At Lakra (which is known in old reports as Kistopore) the breach, which was 1,700 feet in 1890, is now only 600 feet, the remainder of the spur bund having been silted up to high flood level. Over the open part of the bund there is a depth of 6 feet of water during high floods. Near Berugram, the depth of water over the country is 3 feet, and now that the Lakra breach has become so reduced, the land, which was formerly covered with khashi grass is now being rapidly reclaimed.

In front of Bolorampore the depth of spill is 4 to 5 feet, but notwithstanding all the land outside the old embankment from Berugram to Bolorampore is covered with luxuriant sugarcane, plantain gardens, rice and rabi crops.

At Janculi, the breach, which opened out for a length of 1,400 feet in 1883, and was still the same width in 1891, is now practically closed. During the last five or six years a village has sprung up in what was once the middle of the breach. There is 3 feet of water over the ground at the time of high flood. A strange feature in connection with this breach is that the deep channel of the river is in front of it.

The whole of the country between Janculi and Lakra is now being reclaimed from khashi grass and planted with rice.

Below Lakra to Ungoona there was formerly three square miles of country under khashi grass, of which only one-fourth is lying waste, the remainder being brought under rice and rabi cultivation. The crop is an average one. From Ungoona to Adumpore there is a stretch of low land about three miles long by two miles wide, half of which is under cultivation; the remainder is covered with khashi and bena grass. The state of the rice crop is not good.

At Jehangirpur the depth of spill was 3 feet.

From Sreekistopore I went inland for a mile where the depth of water during flood was 4 feet. The crops are poor, said to be due to the want of rain in July and August for transplanting.

At Kamaguree I came to the Bachordah khal which has evidently been silted up. Depth of water over the land was said to have been 7 feet and in the khal 15 feet. About a square mile of country seems to have had no crop, but it is now being prepared for winter crops. On the higher land jute has been reaped, and rabi crops are being sown. All the former waste land seems now being brought under cultivation. Between this and the Begua breach I passed through some excellent rice crops, which are now protected by the Sassunpur embankment.

At the Begua breach the depth of spill over the land is 4 feet.

4. At Pursoorah (behind the Damoodar left embankment) and opposite Chapadanga the depth of flood-water over the fields is 3 feet. At Shodpur nala 50 feet wide and 6 feet deep, the flood-water rises 5 feet over the bank. A little further on are two branches of this nala, of the same width, but not so deep. About the 3rd mile of the Jehanabad road there is a bridge about 150 feet long which is completely buried under sand. Crops up to this point on both sides, are good, but khashi grass is again visible with rice in patches (possible reclamation).

At Moishnan the fields are higher than the old road, and at Samtarmath a cultivator stated that the flood-water was only 3½ feet over his fields, and that the land had been raised from 4 to 5 feet by sand brought down by the floods. He further stated that there was cultivation here before the Begua breach took place, but after that the land became waste. It is now being reclaimed, and produces two crops. I then came to the Bashi nala which is 50 feet wide and 5 feet deep. This nala is being filled in with sand, and a cultivator informed me that within the last ten years it has been silted up 15 feet, and that the land on the banks has been raised 4 feet. The depth of flood-water on the land is now only 4 feet, and the crops are good, with patches of khashi grass in between. At 5th mile of the road is Harrinkholahât on the banks of the Mandeswari. I took the evidence of an old inhabitant of the village who said that the flood-level is getting higher, and that the flooded area is a mile wider on each side than it used to be. It now extends to Pursoorah on the east and Ballorampur on the west. Formerly the flood-level near the Damoodar right embankment at Pursoorah was 6 inches, now it is 4 to 5 feet.

At Harrinkhola the land has been raised 4 to 5 feet. Formerly the Mandeswari was the drainage channel of the country coming from Kaithi and had no connection with Begua. Now it has been joined to the Begua for the last 20 years.

I then turned north, and went to village Melancha on the left bank of the Mandeswari which has an average width of 130 feet and 8 feet depth of water. The height of the river bank is about 10 feet and depth of flood-water over the bank 4 feet. I found the crops good. In Tuckeepore a villager informed me that they had been trying to remove the khashi grass for the last ten years, and that in his lifetime (50 years) they had never got crops before. There was 7 feet of water over the land for three days.

A mile to the south of Keshubpore the rice crops are very good, and in the village I interviewed Kazi Kabillade, who said the country is being filled up with sand, and around the masjid there is 4 to 5 feet depth of sand. Adjoining the masjid there is an atchala. The floor of this building was formerly 7 feet above ground ; it is now only 2 feet. He said that the flood-level must be greater now, as the floor of the masjid must have been built above flood-level. Now there is 3 feet of water over the floor. Keshubpore is on the banks of the Mandeswari, which is 500 feet wide and 10 feet deep. In flood time there is 4 feet of water over the bank. This river is said to be getting wider but shallower. A little to the north of the village there is a zamindari embankment which Honorary Assistant Engineer, Bama Churn Paramanic, inspected some ten years ago. It was then 8 feet high ; now it is only 3 feet above ground level. To the east of the village there is about half a square mile of country out of cultivation, but on the west of the Mandeswari the rice crop is good.

I then turned eastwards when I crossed an old spill channel 300 feet wide which is being rapidly silted up.

On the left bank the bed is little more than a foot below ordinary ground level At Hurnikhali the depth of flood-water over the land is 5 feet.

Between Hurnikhali and Alati, there are several spill channels, which will disappear within the next two or three years. The higher land between them is now being cultivated.

I then passed through Dihibatpur, where there is 6 feet of water over the land for two days, and thence to the right embankment of the Damoodar. During my journey I came across little or no uncultivated land, and in many places the rice crop was excellent and of first-class quality.

5. I then crossed from Jearah to Boikuntpur. Between it and Shoaluk there is 5 feet depth of water in flood time.

The rice crop is only an average one, and, as far as I could see north and south from the back of an elephant, there was no khashi grass, the whole country being under rice. In the village Shoaluk a villager pointed out the height of flood, which was 7 feet over the ground.

He explained also that it was only the late transplanted rice which had suffered.

Passing the village, I came to a spill channel, and a cultivator stated that the land had been raised 2 feet during the last few years by an overflow of sand.

Previous to that the land was cultivated. The sand first came to the north of the village, and was now extending to the south.

The floods have been higher during the last six or seven years.

In Shoaluk Markunda a resident said the flood was 7 feet above the ground and lasted for 24 hours ; that the spill channel was an old one, and was formerly 12 to 15 feet deep, but during the last four or five years it had been filled with sand and was now only 3 to 4 feet deep.

The land has been raised 3 feet during the last four years.

In Markunda itself the land has been raised 3 feet during the last seven or eight years. Around the village the crops are excellent consisting of sugarcane and rice, and winter crops are also being cultivated.

A little way beyond Markunda I came to the Bogua which is a well-defined river about 2,000 feet wide, banks 8 feet high, and depth of flood-water over the bank about 4 feet. The land on both banks is cultivated and the rice crop is average ; winter crops are being sown. I then turned towards the east, and crossed an old khal close to the village of Shahpur. It is 60 feet wide and depth of water 15 feet. The water level is about 3 feet below the ground. I found good crops on both banks of this nala, and on the left bank the sugarcane was particularly good. In the village the depth of flood-water is 5 feet. In Kushigunge the crops are also good, and depth of flood-water the same.

In the evening at Chapadangah. Mr. Golam Hossein, Honorary Magistrate, and other inhabitants of Rasulpore and Alati, came to see me, and represented that there had been no rice crops for the last five years. and that the present crop was due to there being no flood in the Damoodah until September. They prayed that some means might be adopted to save their houses from being destroyed, as the floods were becoming worse every year, and they suggested that the Begua breach might be closed.

6. From Chapadangah I crossed the fields to Dhapdara Serampore, and thence between Bulrampore and Hati to Hurrooah, where I met the Singer Khal. The zamindari embankment shown in the one-inch survey map has become useless. In Dhapdara some of the houses have fallen, and the villagers said that during the floods they had to live in trees. There was 7 feet of water over the land which lasted four or five days. The villagers also said that the floods had been increasing during the last three years.

From Dhapdara there is a stretch of low land uncultivated for about two miles long and a quarter of a mile broad. The crops on both sides are also poor.

At Bulrampore there is 6 feet of water on the high land, and 7 feet on the low land during flood time. Some of the houses in the village have fallen. The flood lasted for three days and then fell about a foot a day, but the current was not strong. In Hati the crops are also poor, and khashi grass is again visible. I also found sand on the land which seems to be extending towards the east. At Hurrooah in the Singer Khal, the flood is said to be 5 feet over the bank. The khal is 70 feet wide with 4 feet of water in it. and the banks are 8 feet above water level. A flood is said to last three days. I then went along the bank of the khal, and noted that the crop was slightly better to the west. Further on, I observed that the country to the west as far as Gopalda, is covered with khashi grass. It is also shown waste in the survey map of the district. The crops on the east side are poor with some patches of average sugarcane crop. In Goldighri there is 4 feet of flood-water over the fields. Between Goldighri and Oodna the rice crop is average. In Neotta the flood-water is said to be 8 feet over the country. I was a little sceptical about the height of flood shown to me by the villagers, but I was able to corroborate their statement from marks on some trees beyond the village.

Between Neotta and Rampore zamindari embankment on the east, the land is low ; there is still water in the fields, but the rice crops will average ten annas. In Pantehuree there is no rice crop ; in fact. the land is "parti." Inside the Rampore embankment the rice crop is not worth cutting. The embankment is breached in several places. and they are not worth repairing, as the embankment on the south is low, so that the circuit is practically open. I made out the height of water on the bank to be 9 feet. I had a long conversation with a villager of Pantehuree, named Dobir Khunkar (priest). He said the cultivating class had disappeared, and those who remained in the village worked as daily labourers. He informed me that several huts had fallen down in the villages of Pantehuree and Balipur, and he complained bitterly of the introduction of the chaukidari tax this year. I then went to Daspore. The flood was 8 feet above the country, and some 20 to 25 houses in the village had fallen down. The land is "parti" with the exception of a few isolated patches of poor rice and poorer rabi.

The villagers also said that the flood was higher and the current stronger than last year, that the flood lasted four days and then fell at the rate of a foot a day. They also informed me that the crop to the west is about four annas.

The country to the south of Daspore, as far as could be seen from the howdah, is either all waste land or very nearly so. I then turned towards the east, and came to the circuit embankment at Pairapore which is said to have existed for a long time. Babu Prosunno Bose of Khoropo repaired it last year, but it is now breached in several places, and the flood-water inside the circuit was at least 8 feet high. The crops in the lower side are poor, but inland at Singti Shibpur and other villages. the sugarcane is luxuriant.

At Junglepara I crossed an old spill channel of the Damoodar which comes from Dehi Borsoot, on my way to Puspore bungalow.

7. I crossed from Puspore to Jooguldah, and found the rice crops and sugarcane poor, and a great deal of uncultivated land. A cultivator informed me that flood-water does not enter his village as a rule, but it has done so for the last three years. The depth of flood-water is 1 foot 6 inches. There is a zamindari bund at Puspore, 4 feet high and 3 feet crest; inside the embankment there is 4 feet of flood-water, and in some places the crop is good, while in others there is no crop.

In Singti Dukhin there was 3 feet of water during the high flood of this year. Early rice has been harvested and winter crops sown. The land is fertile, and although the rice crop is only six annas, this is due to late transplantation owing to unfavourable rainfall in the months of July and August: the flood-water is beneficial.

In Raichuck the depth of water was 4 feet. In Rabirampore there is a circuit embankment which is 4 feet high and 3 feet crest. The bund was overtopped 18 inches during the highest flood of this year. The bund is an old one, and was constructed to hold up water.

From the elephant I noted the crops up to Goomghur on the south and Mansuri on the west. There is no doubt the soil is fertile, and with favourable rains the crops would be good. As it is they are average. At Sonatolla there was 2 feet 6 inches of water during flood time, and it fell in two days, that is over a foot a day. This was on the land adjoining the road from Bargachia to Khanakul.

No sand or silt comes here, as the flood-water is clear. Notwithstanding the land is fertile and the sugarcane round the village is luxuriant.

From Chand Chuck I saw the state of crops up to Mustafapore three miles to west. The condition of crop up to Magree Jollah is good. There is no zamindari bund and the depth of water over the fields in flood time was 7 feet.

In the Magree Jollah the land is permanently waste, and there is water on it still. The jollah extends up to Mustafapore on the west and Makhalpore on the south.

I should say that the boundary of good crops (that is sugarcane) is Chand Chuck, but the rice in the low land is good.

I then travelled south, leaving Goomghur on the left and came to Chand Chuck Dukhin, where a cultivator informed me that just west of Mustafapore a new nala from Begua passes which is widening and deepening. The old Mondessari is three miles west of Mustafapore.

For sixteen years the floods have been high, and many huts have fallen in the village this year.

At the south end of the jollah, as far as I could see, the rice crop seemed good. At Koteshay the height of flood was 5 feet for three days and then subsided in four days

The state of crops further south is said to be good, but to the west of Mustafapore they are poor. On the border of Koteshay I came across the old khal that comes from Dehi Borsoot, and I was told that it is being silted up. I then passed through Makhalpore to Ranjobar and found crop good. From Ranjobar the country changes. There is little or no sugarcane to be seen, simply rice. In Sheoraberai there is rice all round, which would have been a good crop had the rainfall been seasonable at the time of transplanting. There was 3 feet 6 inches of water over the fields in this village, and the villagers said it would have done good had it come earlier.

I passed through Hamdara and thence to Ampta.

8. As it was more easy to inspect the remainder of the country from the Roopnarain side, I proceeded up the Bakshi khal. On the left at the entrance is the Bakshi circuit embankment which is at least 12 feet high, and was not breached during the September flood. and the rice crop inside is good. Adjoining is the Kurriguria circuit. The south and east embankments are breached, but the northern boundary is intact. The rice crop in this circuit where it does exist, is not two annas. The country to the east of the Sabgathtola khal is all open and uncultivated. To the north is the Kashimooli circuit in which the rice crop is good. Outside the north boundary of this circuit and as far as I could see—north, east and west—the whole country is covered with jungle grass, but perfectly dry.

Returning I went along the cross khal to the Jypore circuit embankment, and along it to Sacria village. The embankments are as shown on the inch-to-a-mile map, but the Saoria embankments are interior ones and breached. The Jypore embankment is good, but the khal embankment is breached in many places. The Jypore circuit has been cultivated for the last 20 years, but this year's rice crop was lost, also rabi crop owing to recent cyclone.

The Khalla circuit has not been cultivated for seven years. It was reclaimed 23 years ago, but has only been cultivated four years. It is now grown over with bena grass.

Went up Ponadara khal to Batra. The conntry is all open, but the rice crop is not good. Some patches are good, but they are the exception.

9. Entered the Pansuli khal, and travelled by launch to Joria Chuck where the flood-water was pointed out to have been 10 feet over the land. Got into a small native boat as the current was too strong for the jolly-boat, and proceeded to Hurrish Chuck. So far as I could see, the country is covered with khashi grass, but I was told that in places there are small patches of cultivation. About half a mile to the south of Hurrish Chuck there is a jheel, which is probably caused by the small silted up drainage channel which leads out of it. To the south of this boro rice is cultivated.

Travelled by boat up to Chengra which is opposite Balaguree. The branch khal shown in the inch map to the south of the village, still exists, and passes the village of Mustafapore. At Balaguree the main khal is 400 feet wide and 10 feet deep, but immediately above Chengra it again becomes small. During floods there is 5 to 6 feet of water over all the country from Hurrish Chuck to Chengra.

From Chengra I could see the country for miles right away beyond Damlah. There is no rice crop, and only poor rabi crops are cultivated.

In Chengra and Mustafapore the rice crop is about 4 annas.

To the north of Hurrish Chuck there is still a good deal of jungle grass to be seen, but there are also patches of poor rabi between. There is also similar cultivation to the east of the village.

At Shashabat on my return journey from marks on the trees I found the depth of flood-water over the land must have been 11 to 12 feet.

The accompanying map gives a fair idea of the state of cultivation in the whole of the inundated country.

No. 547I., dated Calcutta, the 26th March 1902.

From—D. B. HORN, ESQ., Offg. Chief Engineer, Bengal,
To—The Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle.

IN forwarding you copies of my report* on the measures which can be adopted to mitigate the extent of the damage which is frequently caused by the Damodar floods, I have the honour to request that you will be good enough to forward a copy to each of the Executive Engineers of the Cossye and Northern Drainage and Embankment Divisions for an expression of their opinion on the suggestions made in the report.

* No. 1, dated the 21st February 1902.

2. I should be much obliged if you would kindly favour me with further information on the following points :—

(i) Is it possible to increase the discharge of the Rupnarain river at the junction of the Baksi khal? The discharge of this khal is considerably restricted at its mouth. Mr. White, I understand, has made enquiry as to whether there is obstruction to the Damodar flood on the left bank of the Rupnarain, and I should like to know the result of his enquiry. The opinion formed by me during my enquiry was that the flood discharge is not obstructed.

(ii) Have you any alternative to suggest in place of my proposed retirement of the Chetua embankment?

(iii) If the smaller reservoir scheme (paragraph 42 of the report) were sanctioned, what would be the probable annual benefit to the Ghatal, Chetua and other circuits?

(iv) In paragraph 33, the surplus flood-water of the Cossye and Selye floods is, in my opinion, exaggerated. The discharges are calculated on a rainfall of 8 inches in the 24 hours, whereas in paragraph 26 in adjoining areas the average rainfall is shown to have been equal only to a net flow-off of 3·13 inches in the 24 hours. Will you kindly state your opinion?

3. I wish to draw your special attention to Appendix A of the report in which I have noted the state of cultivation as observed by me during my inspection of the inundated area in November and December last, and to request that in future you will instruct Executive Engineers of the Cossye and Northern Drainage and Embankment Divisions to draw up in each year a joint report on similar lines, so that any improvement in cultivation may be observed from year to year.

4. To keep the Executive Engineer of the Cossye Division informed of the floods in the Damodar, a copy of the Edilpur gauge reading should be sent daily; and as long as the gauge reading is above 12, a daily telegram should be sent, so that the Executive Engineer may be prepared to study the effect of the flood on the country to the north of the Baksi khal. To assist in the study of these floods in the Rupnarain, additional gauge readings are necessary, and I would suggest that new gauges be fixed at the sites marked* in the accompanying map, and the readings be observed regularly during the flood season.

* By red cross.

No. 151T.—I., dated Darjeeling, the 3rd June 1902.

From—D. B. HORN, ESQ., Officiating Chief Engineer, Bengal,
To—The Superintending Engineer, South-Western Circle.

IN continuation of my letter No. 547*I*., dated the 26th March 1902, I have again the honour to address you on the subject of the control of the floods of the Damodar river.

2. In paragraph 60 (2) of the report, which was forwarded with the above letter, it is stated that there can be no doubt that Government made a wise decision in removing a portion of the right embankment. As it has been brought to my notice that this fact has not been convincingly proved in the report, I now send you extracts from volume XII of the Proceedings of 1852 regarding the Damodar embankments.

3. I was not aware of the existence of this volume at the time of writing my report, but I trust that the following extracts will conclusively show that the most beneficial solution, in the interests of the districts, was to remove a portion of the right embankment, and that this opinion was generally shared in by the inhabitants of the areas affected.

4. I have been unable to obtain a copy of the report of the Committee of 1846, but it was evidently of no great value, as Mr. Ricketts, of the Board of Revenue, characterized it as a crude production. The Committee, it would appear from his note, was in favour of abandoning both embankments.

5. The following extract from the report of Mr. Drummond, Collector of Burdwan, dated January 1852, is interesting:—

It is part of Lieutenant Impey's plan to extend next year the principle of retirement which has been introduced on the left, to the right bank of the Damodar. The cost of this will be considerable, and the injury to many villages and estates extensive, and, before entering upon such a work, it may be well to ascertain, by careful enquiry, whether the embankment on that side might not, with benefit to all parties, be dispensed with altogether.

* * * * * * * * *

The general feeling of the country, so far as I have been able to ascertain it, is decidedly—and almost universally—in favuor of such a course of proceeding; the only point upon which stress is laid, is that the abandonment, if any, should be universal along the entire right bank.

* * * * * * * * *

6. In the report, which was forwarded to you with my previous letter, reference was made to three proposals which were submitted to Government, but I have since ascertained that there were four proposals, the first one being the formation of two huge mounds with canals or catch-drains attached, one of them extending from Howrah, in the direction of Burdwan, as far as the great bund of the Damodar; the other, east and west, between Sankrail and Ampta. This scheme was abandoned on account of its great expense. and because the railway which was to have shared the expense had been taken in another direction.

7. The whole question was referred by the Governor-General in Council, for final decision, to Major Baker, Consulting Engineer for Railways. He chose the fourth plan for the following reasons :—

Whereas it may be possible to provide a free escape over the right bank, the embankments on the left will be greatly relieved, and the country behind it will be placed in comparative safety, while by providing a larger space for the deposit of silt, the process of raising the river bed and the formation of sand banks will be retarded.

It is true that a certain tract of country would be subjected to frequent immersion during the rainy season, and will be cultivated, if at all, under considerable risk, but its total area is small compared with that of the lands which would be protected to the eastward.

* * * * * * *

In favour of this plan, it is further stated by Mr. Ricketts, Member of the Sadar Board of Revenue, in a note on the management of embankments, that "the zamindars are so well aware of the inefficiency of the existing state of things that all those who have property on both sides are (he believes) quite prepared to agree that the embankments on the right bank should be abandoned, provided those on the left are so strengthened as to make breaching impossible."

* * * * * * *

It was also pointed out in 1852 "that on the left bank, between the Damodar and Hooghly, there were basinlike hollows which, if the left embankment were removed, might become permanent lakes or swamps, unculturable and malarious."

8 I will now discuss the question of feasibility, on financial grounds, of carrying out the scheme of constructing a reservoir in the Barakur Valley capable of containing a discharge of 100,000 cubic feet a second for 24 to 30 hours, which is the average period of duration of a high flood in the Damodar. The total area inundated (i) by an extraordinary flood is 379 square miles, and (ii) by an ordinary high flood, 365 square miles. I have assumed that the difference between a flood of 500,000 cubic feet a second and one of 400,000 cubic feet a second would reduce the depth of water in the submerged area to the north of the Chapadangah road by 2 feet; to the south of the road for ten miles, by 2½ feet, and for the remainder of the area, by 3 feet.

The submerged area is roughly cultivated as follows :—

	Square miles.
Good crop (180+96) = ...	276
Waste area (10+39·5) = ...	49·5
Indifferent crop	28·5
Boro rice	21·0
Jheel	4·0
Total ...	379

The construction of the proposed reservoir on the Barakur river would confer little or no benefit on the area which now produces good average crops. Of the waste area, possibly 30 square miles would be greatly benefited within five years of the completion of the reservoir, but the remainder of the area above the Baksi khal, coloured yellow on the map, must always remain waste, as it has to bear the brunt of the Damodar floods, and the Cossye and Selye as well.

9. The following is an approximate estimate of the value of the crops which might be produced on the 30 square miles of waste area :—

	Cost of cultivation of one bigha of rice.
	Rs.
Ploughing, four times, at 12 annas	3
Transplanting, four coolies, at 8 annas	2
Weeding, two coolies, at 8 annas	1
Cutting and removing, four coolies, at 8 annas ...	2
Thrashing, two coolies, at 8 annas	1
Land rent	2
Contingencies and seeds, etc.	1
Total ...	12

Outturn.

Unhusked rice, 8 maunds, at Rs. 2	16
Straw, 16 maunds, at 8 annas	8
Total ...	24

Taking 1,500 bighas as the culturable land in a square mile, the total area benefited=30 × 1,500=45,000 bighas, and, with an average net profit of Rs. 12 per bigha, the total value of crop saved per year would be Rs. 5,40,000. Of the area under indifferent crop (shown in burnt sienna on the map), and assuming that one-third crop is now produced, the annual net profit may be assumed at Rs. 8. The area is equal to 28·5 × 1,500=42,750 bighas, so that the annual net value will be Rs. 3,42,00. Of the area under boro rice, no great benefit will be derived, as the value of the outturn of the boro rice is very nearly equal to that of the kharif rice.

10. The following may, therefore, be taken as the maximum annual value of benefit which the inundated area will derive from the construction of the Barakur reservoir :—

	Rs.
Waste area	5,40,000
Indifferent crop	3,42,000
Total ...	8,82,000

Since writing my report, I have again discussed with Mr. White the question of possible benefit which the area within the Chetua circuit would derive from the Barakur reservoir :—

	Square miles
In 1898 ...	37	Produced no crop. These floods were abnormal, and are not likely to occur again for years to come.
„ 1900 ...	46
„ 1901 ...	8

The mean area is 30 square miles, which is equal to 15.000 acres =45,000 bighas, so that the value of possible benefit, at Rs. 12, would amount to Rs. 5.40,000. In previous years the circuit was inundated about once in ten years, and there is no doubt that this will be the experience of years to come. The maximum amount of annual benefit may therefore be estimated at one-third of Rs. 5,40,000=Rs. 1,80,000.

Of the land outside the circuit, an area of 20 square miles would probably benefit to the extent of Rs. 10 an acre=Rs. 1.00,000—

			Rs.
Value of crops (Chetua area)	...	...	2,80,000
Ditto (Damodar area)	...	...	8,82,000
	Total	...	11,62,000

This is a very outside estimate. In my opinion the probable gain to the raiyats in a year should not be taken at more than 7 lakhs of rupees.

11. The Revenue Secretary, who was consulted as to the financial aspect of the above estimate, recorded the following opinion :—

The cost of the reservoir is estimated at 40 lakhs, with annual interest and maintenance charges amounting to 1½ to 2 lakhs. Two lakhs is the safer figure. A financial expert is wanted to capitalise such a scheme. Something would depend on the period within which the scheme may be completed, the rate of interest charged, the period for which interest may run before an apportionment scheme is worked out, and something would depend on the annual maintenance charges as distinguished from interest. As far as I can gather, however, allowing for interest and maintenance, the capitalised sum would not be less than 60 lakhs, and might be much more.

Supposing that this sum of 60 lakhs be apportioned against the 54,250 acres reclaimed and benefited, we get an average apportionment of Rs 110 an acre, which is about three times the average rate apportioned in the Rajapur scheme (our biggest drainage scheme). The reclaimed lands would have to pay much more than Rs. 110 an acre and the benefited lands less.

Such a high rate of cost seems to take the scheme out of the region of practical politics. A glance at Mr. Horn's map will show that the areas to be reclaimed and benefited, though to some extent compact, yet extend over many villages. The taking of levels and the apportionment of cost would be an additional item of cost, which has not been taken into consideration above. Many questions would arise as to whether land really was benefited or not. I do not say that these questions would be insuperable. Like questions in other areas, they could be solved by Drainage Commissioners ; but if the scheme be left to be voted for by landholders in the area affected, all sorts of doubts would have to be satisfied. In theory, it is no doubt worthwhile to spend 60 lakhs, or Rs. 110 an acre, in order to save annually 7 lakhs, or, $\frac{\text{Rs. } 7,00,000}{54\ 250 \text{ acres}}$ – Rs. 13 an acre. If we would save Rs. 11,62.000 annually, or Rs. 21-8 an acre, the thing is more decidedly worth doing.

But supposing that Government be persuaded of the advantage of the scheme, we would have to persuade the "landholders" before a scheme could be carried out under the Bengal Drainage Act of 1880.

12. After reviewing the whole history of the case, the Lieutenant-Governor recorded the following opinion :—

Mr. Macpherson shows that the 60 lakhs scheme would fall at Rs. 110 per acre, which is three times the rate apportioned under the Rajapur scheme As the recoveries in the Rajapur area have proved difficult enough, it must be conceded, with whatever regret, that the 60 lakhs scheme is impracticable.

13. In paragraph 59 of my report I suggested that should it be decided not to attempt the reservoir, it might be possible to help the inundated area by assisting the Begua to scour out its own channel. I am well aware of the difficulty of the problem and a solution at all feasible is only possible to be formulated by one, who has an intimate knowledge of the ground, assisted by the advice of intelligent villagers. Owing to the few days in the year during which the river is in flood, the progress of scouring is very slow. It has taken the Begua 40 years to form a channel for itself four to five miles long, and it would probably take the same time for the river to force its way down to the Chapadangah road some five or six miles further on.

To assist the river it would be necessary to excavate a channel 500 to 600 feet in width and 6 feet deep at a cost of Rs. 1,50,000 per mile, i.e., say 9 lakhs of rupees. Beyond the road the uncultivated land begins, so that it would be necessary to extend the river for another eight to ten miles. To assist the river, even an expenditure of fully 20 lakhs of rupees would be required.

14. As the cost of this alternative scheme is estimated about one-third of the reservoir scheme, and would therefore just bring the apportionment within the Rajapur limit, I am directed by the Lieutenant-Governor to request that you will be good enough to examine this proposal more closely and favour Government with your opinion on the following points :—

(1) Have you any experiences to recommend it ?

(2) If the Begua channel were cut, would the river take it and keep it ?

(3) Would the cost of maintenance be high, and is the scheme such that it could be confidently undertaken ?

THE BENGAL EXCISE (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1914.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 3.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke moved that the Bengal Excise (Amendment) Bill, 1914, be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson, the Hon'ble Mr. A. H. Cuming, the Hon'ble Mr. Moberly, the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, the Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Hussain, the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray and the mover, with instructions to circulate their report in time for its consideration in Council at the meeting to be held in September next.

The motion was put and agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS.

(Under the Rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest.)

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 4.

The following Resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur :—

> "This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that an expert Committee, consisting of officials and non-officials and presided over by the Director of Public Instruction, be appointed to formulate definite recommendations to Government for the furtherance and spread of Muhammadan Education in this Presidency, such Committee to be representative of Muhammadan interests throughout the Presidency and to be assisted by the Special Officer in charge of Muhammadan Education as Secretary."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI, Khan Bahadur, said :—

"My Lord, the last Gazette having announced the formation of the Committee to which my Resolution refers, I do not think there is any point in the Resolution which I wished to put forward for the consideration of this Council. It would be useless now to discuss the reasons which led me to press the necessity for the formation of this Committee, and my only regret now is that the Committee is to be a temporary one. I wish the Committee had been allowed to last for a longer period, in order effectually to place before the authorities the different problems relating to Muhammadan Education which may arise from time to time. As regards the constitution of the Committee, I am sorry to miss the names of a few who would have been very useful members of the Committee. The Muhammadan Educational Conference suggested some names, and I do not see why the unanimous suggestion of such a representative body should have practically been ignored. I sincerely hope and trust that some additional appointments will be made to the Committee in the light of the suggestions made by the Conference so that it may be made really useful and effective for the purposes for which it is going to be constituted.

With these few words, I beg to withdraw the Resolution standing in my name."

The Resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Banerji.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji moved the following Resolution:—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that Rule 7 of the Bengal Legislative (Financial Statement) Rules, 1912, be so amended as to confer on the Finance Committee (constituted every year under Rule 3 of the said Rules) the right of considering the provision to be made under the several heads of expenditure in the Draft Financial Statement, and not merely that under the head of "Unallotted Expenditure," and of making proposals in respect thereof for the consideration of the Local Government.

He said:—

Hon'ble Members will bear in mind that every year a Finance Committee is appointed to consider what is called the unallotted expenditure in the budget estimates. The unallotted expenditure in the budget estimates of 1913-14 was fixed at 14,50,000 rupees; the unallotted expenditure for 1914-15 was fixed at 14 lakhs, and the total budget estimates for 1914-15 was fixed at 7 crores and 36 lakhs of rupees. It will thus be seen that the unallotted expenditure is only a fraction—I was going to say an insignificant fraction—of the entire budget expenditure, and therefore the labours of the Finance Committee touch only a fringe of the very wide area covered by the budget expenditure. The object of my Resolution is to extend the scope of the work of the Finance Committee and to invest it with the power to consider all heads of budget expenditure. If my Resolution, which is really an amendment of the Rules, is accepted, it will be necessary to amend Rule 7 of the Rules relating to the presentation of the Financial Statement. Your Excellency has authority vested in you by the Rules to amend them subject to the sanction of the Government of India. As I propose that Rule 7 of these rules be amended, it is necessary that I should read that rule. Rule 7 is in these terms.—

> "The Finance Committee shall consider how the provision made under the head 'Unallotted Expenditure' referred to in clause (d) in sub-rule (2) shall be distributed among the specific major heads and to what purposes the sums thus allotted should be applied."

Rule 7 refers to clause (d) of sub-rule (2). Clause (d) says:—

"The Draft shall comprise tabular statements showing the amounts available for maximum recurring expenditure and for total expenditure upon other new schemes, the latter being provisionally included under a head 'Unallotted Expenditure.'"

Clause (d) refers to new schemes other than those mentioned in clause (c) It is therefore necessary to consider the terms of clause (c) of sub-rule (2). Clause (c) says:—

"The Draft shall comprise tabular statements showing the estimated Provincial expenditure under specific major heads, on existing establishments and schemes, and on new schemes the cost of which is not considerable or which the Local Government considers to be of an absolutely obligatory character."

It will thus be seen that the Finance Committee possesses only a very limited authority to consider new schemes of expenditure only of a particular class. New schemes of expenditure which the Government consider to be absolutely necessary or the cost of which is inconsiderable are withdrawn from the jurisdiction of the Finance Committee. Indeed from the figures which I gather from a note which has been kindly placed at my disposal by my Hon'ble friend the Financial Secretary, it appears that the work of the Finance Committee is confined to only a percentage of expenditure incurred upon new schemes. In 1913-14 the total expenditure upon new schemes amounted to 45 lakhs of rupees. The Finance Committee had to consider the "Unallotted Expenditure" of that year which only came up to fourteen lakhs and fifty thousand rupees—or in other words less than one-third of the total expenditure upon new schemes. In 1914-15 the total expenditure upon new schemes amounted to 35 lakhs of rupees. The Finance Committee dealt with only 14 lakhs of that expenditure—

Sir William Duke.

or less than one-half. My Lord, there is no reason why the whole of the expenditure upon new schemes should not be submitted to the Finance Committee. I am encouraged to put forward this view by the fact that the Committee is a purely Advisory Body, that the authority of the Government is in no way fettered by its views and that the Government may accept them or reject them according to its discretion. Let me turn once again to the wording of Rule 7 which says that the Finance Committee is " to consider " and not decide how the provision for new schemes is to be distributed; and Rule 10 vests in the Government the power to decide what the provision is to be, subject to the final sanction of the Government of India. The wording of Rule 10 is as follows :—

" After considering the proposals of the Committee, the Local Government shall embody its own conclusions in the Draft Financial Statement and shall refer the Statement thus amended to the Government of India."

In view, my Lord, then of the fact that the Finance Committee is merely advisory in its functions, I submit that the Government will lose nothing, but is likely to obtain valuable assistance from the Finance Committee by submitting for its consideration not only new but all heads of the Budget Expenditure. The Budget Expenditure consists of three heads. There is expenditure that is fixed; secondly there is expenditure that is progressive and lastly we have expenditure upon new schemes. My Lord, there is nothing fixed, nothing unalterable, nothing in the nature of a settled fact in our administration, be it financial or otherwise. We are moving and everything is moving, though it may be with a slow movement, and even expenditure that is fixed or progressive may, with advantage, be laid before the Finance Committee; and I submit that there is absolutely no reason why the Committee should not be consulted with regard to all kinds of new schemes

There is another aspect of the question which should not be over-looked. I invite your Excellency's Government to consider the value of the training which members of this Council will receive from the discussion in Committee of the details of the Budget Expenditure. The wider the area of the discussion the more effective will be the training. Members of this Council who are also members of the Corporation, will, I am sure, testify to the enormous benefit they have derived from the detailed discussion of the Municipal Budgets in their committees. The adoption of the course which I have ventured to suggest will add to the efficiency of the Council, strengthen our financial administration by bringing it in close touch with public opinion and inspire a larger measure of public confidence. Therefore alike in the interests of this Council and for the greater efficiency of the administration I venture to recommend this Resolution to the acceptance of the Council and the Government."

The Hon'ble SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

" My Lord, I am afraid that I must tax the patience of the Council to listen to a rather lengthy exposition of the process of preparing the budget. It is by no means a simple one; and even although I have had a certain amount of practical experience in it, I do not find it particularly easy to explain. However, I will do my best to show what the system is with a view to assist the Council in considering the practicability of the Resolution which has been moved. I must say, at the outset, as the Hon'ble mover has pointed out, that the rule which he desires to alter is one which was enacted by His Excellency in Council with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, and we have to consider the matter from that point of view.

What this circumstance implies in practice is that the rules for all the Indian Local Governments are framed very much upon one plan and with due regard to the procedure of the Government of India in framing their own budget to which those of Local Governments are merely subsidiary. Any change, therefore, which may be proposed should be considered from the point of view of its being acceptable to the Government of India, such as they might sanction without undue dislocation of their budget arrangements. Now, as a matter of fact, the rules, which, as I have said, are more or less common to all the Local Governments, bring the Finance Committee in only at a rather advanced stage, and if it were required to deal not merely with the unallotted expenditure, but with all the several heads of expenditure in the Draft Financial Statement, it would be necessary for it to come in very much earlier, and it is to be considered whether this is physically possible. According to the rules, the Finance Committee must be elected before the 5th of January and must meet not later than the 18th of January and submit its report to Government before the 27th of January. Now, the scheme under which the budget is prepared is as follows :—

Resolutions.

Sir William Duke.

The several Heads of Departments send in their budgets by October, one copy to the Accountant-General and the other copy to the Administrative Department of Government concerned. The schedules attached to the budget, showing the new expenditure required, are examined by the Administrative Department and, in consultation with the Financial Department, are classified into "Obligatory" and "Optional." "Obligatory" includes matters regarding which discussion seems unnecessary, because they are such as have been directed by the Secretary of State or the Government of India; or have been considered to be unavoidable by the Local Government. "Optional" are matters which it is open to the Local Government to undertake or let alone at its discretion. Meanwhile, the Accountant-General has been examining the budget and should return it to Government by the 15th of November. The Administrative Department scrutinizes the budget as passed by the Accountant-General and then passes it on to the Financial Department. Under the rules, the Financial Department should have finished by the first half of December; but as a matter of fact, the budgets are never up-to-date, and the Financial Department has to work at extreme pressure usually throughout the Christmas holidays, so that the first edition of the budget may be forwarded to the Government of India on the 1st of January.

Now, it will be apparent that, until all the budgets have been completed, it is impossible to say what the amount of unallotted expenditure can be. It is only known practically at the moment when the budget is due to the Government of India, and is subject to the approval of the Government of India. The Government of India, as a rule, return the budget within a fortnight, that is to say, a very few days before the 18th of January when the Finance Committee is due to meet and to make its recommendations.

I have so far described what is done according to rule. I would now draw the attention of Council to what the Local Government has, of its own motion, done in order to give the Finance Committee a more real influence upon the expenditure of Government. It was realized by the Financial Department very shortly after the present Council system came into operation that the Finance Committee was being given only very restricted opportunities, if some nine days before it had to report, it was furnished merely with the fact that so many lakhs of expenditure, usually very few, were unallotted and with a long list of schemes which Government desired to be taken up and was asked to make its recommendations upon this basis. Accordingly, since 1911, the Finance Committee, instead of being elected only at the last moment, has been elected during the rains session and has been convened in November as soon as the schedules attached to the departmental budgets showing the new expenditure which the departments wished to incur could be collected. It is true that at this stage it is impossible to tell what funds would be available for unallotted—that, as I have explained, is only known at the last moment when all the budgets have been completed, that is, about the 31st December. But, at any rate, this system gives the Finance Committee ample time to express their opinion as to the necessity or the relative urgency of the projects put forward by the departments or to propose others which they may prefer to them. It rests, of course, with Government to accept or reject these preliminary recommendations of the Finance Committee, and when they are convened for their formal meeting on the budget on the 18th January they see how far their advice has been followed; and if they are dissatisfied, they have a further opportunity of advising Government in their formal report, and, of course, if their views are still not accepted, of pressing them further in the later stages of the budget. It is true that the Government of India are averse to accepting minor changes made in the second and still more in the third editions, but if changes of real importance were recommended and especially if they were supported by the might of the Legislative Council, it is probable that they would be accepted.

Resolutions.

Sir William Duke.

Now, I think I have shown what Government has, of its own motion and before any private member had suggested it, done everything that it thought possible to extend the influence of the Finance Committee. I trust that the Council will give us credit for this, at any rate, that our policy has not been to restrict and limit their influence upon the budget, but the contrary.

The Hon'ble Mover drew attention to the fact that the unallotted was but a small proportion of the total new expenditure. I do not know exactly how he has worked up these figures. However, I am quite prepared to accept the fact that the unallotted is only a small proportion of the new expenditure. I could not myself at this moment say accurately what the new expenditure consists of, but it is to be remembered that expenditure on new schemes has usually been considered for many years before it actually takes effect. In many cases, it has been submitted and approved by the Secretary of State some years before the scheme could be given effect to. We may take for instance the Police policy of recent years. I suppose it is nearly upwards of 10 years since the Police Commission completed its inquiries, and it is 7 or 8 years since the Secretary of State passed his orders on the recommendations of that Commission, and in passing his orders, he approved of schemes to be carried out as funds permitted. The total was already fixed at that stage. It was only a question of how funds would be available from year to year and as funds were made available portions of the scheme were given effect to. We have not thought it necessary and I do not think that the Hon'ble Mover has really adduced any reason why expenditure, which has been considered in this way by the Government and sanctioned by the Secretary of State and finally decided on, should again be submitted to the Finance Committee. He may desire this, but it seems to us to be a mere waste of time, as the final authority has been given and there is no reason to keep the schemes back.

So much with regard to that portion of the new expenditure which has been brought before the Finance Committee. The Hon'ble Mover, however, thinks, and it may be that others think with him, that it is not enough for the Finance Committee to deal with the new expenditure in the budget, but that it should scrutinise all the heads of expenditure. This, I fear, is not possible under any system which we can devise. I have described already how the departments in October send in their budgets to Government. It is obvious that nothing can be done without the departmental budgets, and if it be suggested that these might be prepared earlier the reply is that they already proceed upon only six months' actuals which is too little for accurate estimating, while the Financial Department when dealing with them is able to add the experience of a seventh month. Obviously, it is impossible to begin earlier, and the period from October to December is fully occupied by the departmental and financial scrutiny. All that can be done at this stage is to give the Finance Committee the earliest opportunity of considering the new schemes ; and that we have done already.

We have done something else which does not come to the particular notice of the Council but which has the effect of extending the influence of the Finance Committee. Before the formation of the present Council system when the Legislative Council had no hand in the preparation of the Budget, it was the practice of all departments to press at any time for any new schemes which they thought desirable and for which they thought funds might be forthcoming. It is obvious that if this were permitted under the existing system, much new expenditure might be sanctioned by Government during the course of the year without any reference to the Finance Committee at all. The Financial Department has taken up the standpoint that all expenditure on new schemes should, as far as possible, only be admitted when it has been placed in the schedules attached to the departmental budgets and accordingly has come under the scrutiny of the Finance Committee, and this principle has been more and more rigorously insisted upon as the departments have grown accustomed to the new system. If then all new schemes are submitted to the Finance Committee, the result must be that in the course of years a very great proportion of the expenditure of Government will have been undertaken in accordance with the views and the advice of the Finance Committee. More than this it is impossible to hope for. There is no time or opportunity for the Finance Committee to deal with the detailed heads. The more members understand the process the more they will realize that 95 per cent. of the ordinary expenditure of the Province is unalterable and unavoidable, while the direction which the development is to take depends upon the destination of the remaining 5 per cent. Further, if it were urged that the Finance Committee might recommend the curtailment of existing expenditure and its diversion to other directions, my reply is that it is altogether unlikely that the Government would take the very serious step of curtailing the operations of existing departments on the advice of the Finance Committee when dealing with the annual budget. If it is urged that it is not impossible that such advice might be warranted, my reply is that the Finance Committee is not the body nor its scrutiny of the budget the occasion for such recommendations. The several budget estimates for each year are available to the members of Council before three months of the year have passed. Bulky as they are, they can be studied and understood by the light of the estimates of preceding years and by the explanations which have been given in Council during the budget debates, and if, as a result of such study, any member comes to the conclusion that a particular department is overgrown or that certain forms of expenditure are unreasonable, his proper course is to bring the matter before the Council in the form of a resolution, and to try to obtain support for his views there.

I will give point to what I say by a concrete example. A not infrequent newspaper criticism on the education policy of the Government is that too much is spent on inspection and too little on the schools themselves. Now, suppose the Finance Committee were dealing with this head and took that view, what effect could it have on the budget? I hope it is understood that I am giving a purely theoretical example. I do not suppose for a moment that the Finance Committee would put forward such a view or that Government would accept it. But supposing these unlikely things happened the most that Government could do would be to desist from recruiting a few men at the very bottom of the scale. For the rest, clearly, they would have to carry on their establishment as it was. Now if, on the other hand, the matter were seriously proposed for the consideration of the Council by means of a resolultion moved during the course of the year and the Council endorsed the view and Government accepted the recommendation, it would, of course, take effect in the budget in the long run, but only after much careful and detailed consideration as to the steps; for instance, in reducing establishment, it would have to be considered how far men could be pensioned off or given compensation, how retirement could be accelerated, how officers might be transferred from the inspecting to the professorial or teaching cadres and so on, and the results of the change of policy would appear not in one but gradually in many succeeding budgets.

I am sorry to have taken up so much of the time of the Council, but I have been doing my best to get members to see with me that it is not a question of the willingness of the Government to extend the influence of the Council upon its financial policy, but of the proper method of doing so, and I trust that the Hon'ble Mover will recognize that the particular proposal which he had made for the expansion of the functions of the Finance Committee is not really workable."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said:—

"My Lord, I am sure, we are very much indebted to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Finance Department for the very clear and lucid explanation which he has given us as to the various stages through which the budget has to pass before it is finally accepted by the Government of Bengal and the Government of India. The first objection which the Hon'ble Member has urged to my proposal is that the Government of India may not accept it, and this Government is under an obligation to look at matters largely from the standpoint of the Government of India in view of the fact that it is a subordinate Government. I hope and trust that the day will soon come when, at any rate, in respect of fiscal matters, this Government will be an independent Government. Perhaps that may be a long time to come, but so far as the attitude of the Government of India is concerned, I do think that your Excellency's Government is bound to take note of it, but at the same time we on this side of the House are bound to press for your Excellency's consideration the views which we entertain and which, I believe, a large section of our fellow-countrymen entertain, in order that they may be brought to the notice of the Government of India and might lead to the conversion of that Government to our ideas. That is my reply to the first portion of the objection raised by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Finance Department.

Resolutions—

The President; Babu S. N. Banerji.

My Lord, it has been suggested that my proposition, if accepted, would lead to things that are absolutely impracticable. Of course, so far as that is concerned, I confess I am in a position of disadvantage. I am not aware of the workings of the department, and there may be serious difficulties. But what strikes me is this that if the budget is laid before the Finance Committee, say, in November, I believe that is the time when the budget is ready, and I believe only one meeting of the Finance Committee is held, and if the Finance Committee are asked to submit their report, say, within a week or a fortnight, it does seem to me that it will be possible for the Finance Committee to discuss and deal with the various heads of the budget. The Government of Bengal is bound by the limitations of time fixed by the Government of India, but if the Government of Bengal were to impose a similar limitation of time upon the Finance Committee, I think the difficulty might be overcome. It strikes me that, if instead of one meeting, the Finance Committee were to meet from day to day, it would be possible for the Finance Committee to go through all the heads of the Budget and to submit their views upon them. If the Government are really sympathetic in their attitude, I do not realise why this could not be done. My Hon'ble friend has referred to certain new heads which have been already fixed after discussion; for a number of years the Secretary of State has passed his orders and the Government of India have given their sanction; and any discussion of the matter by the Finance Committee would be useless, perhaps so from a practical point of view. But, at the same time, as I said, looking at the matter from the point of view of training and the efficiency of the Council, I do not see what possible objection there could be to laying the views of the Secretary of State and the Government of India before the Finance Committee. The Finance Committee might note these views and might profit by them. There may be no alteration in the decision of the Government of India or of the Secretary of State; and we should look at the matter not only from the point of view of administrative efficiency, but also from the point of view of the training—the political training of the members of this Council. However, my Lord, I should be prepared to withdraw my resolution if the Hon'ble Member would give me an assurance that he would consider the propriety of allowing all new schemes to be considered by the Finance Committee. In view of such an assurance, I will not press my resolution."

The PRESIDENT:—"The resolution is withdrawn."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said:—

"I did not withdraw the resolution. If the Hon'ble Member will give me an assurance that he will consider my proposal of laying not all schemes before the Finance Committee but all new schemes, I will withdraw my resolution. I think the sympathetic attitude of the Hon'ble

Resolutions—

Sir William Duke; Babu S. N. Banerji; Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari.

Member encourages me in the hope that he will possibly give such an assurance."

The Hon'ble SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"Sir, I have already explained the general attitude of Government in regard to the action of the Finance Committee that we try as much as possible to bring all new expenditure before the Finance Committee, but that it is not possible to give an absolute guarantee that we shall always bring all schemes before them. It does not rest with us."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"I would ask this only as regards the new schemes."

The Hon'ble SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"We have not the degree of autonomy which would enable us to give any such assurance, apart altogether from the fact that we may, as a matter of urgent necessity, have to incur expenditure ourselves. I have already explained the general attitude of Government to put as much as possible before the Finance Committee, and that is the maximum degree of assurance we can give."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, I take it that, so far as practicable, my Hon'ble friend will consult the Finance Committee in regard to new schemes, and bearing that in mind, I beg to withdraw my resolution."

The Resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 6.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari :—

> This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that steps be taken, in consultation with the Bengal-Nagpur Railway Company, to cut a canal from Kana Darkessar to Sarda Khal at a suitable point with a view to—
> (i) minimising, if possible, the disastrous results of flooding in and about the Begua spill area, in the districts of Burdwan and Hooghly, and.
> (ii) facilitating a straight run for the proposed Bistupur-Howrah Chord Line.

The Hon'ble DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"My resolution covers a large ground and involves big issues. Since I sent in this Resolution, I have learnt from a letter received from the Secretary to the Council that the Department concerned is considering the matter and that it has not yet completed its investigation. A resolution like this cannot be properly considered by the Council without a thorough and complete
"After considering the proposals of the Committee, the local Govern-investigation, and I expect better results from my resolution by enabling the Department to complete its investigation than by having a debate in Council. Therefore under rule 10 of the Rules of Business, I would ask your Excellency to be good enough to postpone the discussion of this resolution till the Department has completed its investigation and is ready with its facts."

With the permission of His Excellency the discussion of the Resolution was postponed till the September meeting of the Council.

Resolutions—

Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur; Nawab Syed Shams-ul-Huda.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 7.

The Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a Sanitary Committee consisting of officials and non-officials (with the District and Subdivisional Magistrate, respectively, as President of each Committee) be appointed in each district and subdivision of the Presidency with a view to assist the Sanitary Board in matters of sanitation.

He said :—

"My Lord, the question of sanitation has been discussed in this Council on several occasions in various forms and this subject is also engaging the constant attention of your Excellency's Government and so I do not think it is at all necessary to dwell on the subject at any great length. My object in moving this resolution is that there should be Sanitary Committees both at the head-quarters of the district and subdivisions to bring to the notice of the Sanitary Board and to the District Magistrate the various needs of their locality in regard to sanitation. There is a provision in the Local Self-Government Act under which such District Sanitary Committees may be appointed. But I am afraid the provisions of section 21 of the Act have not always been complied with. Over and above that, my prayer is that Committees be also appointed in subdivisions, and that such Committees should also consist of officials and non-officials, the President being the Subdivisional District Officer. There is no fear that these Committees will take up the time of the Government by unnecessary correspondence and frivolous reports. My object is simply that the non-officials should be placed in a better position to inform the Subdivisional Magistrates about the particular needs of particular localities. The Municipalities devote their time to various other works of improvement, but these Committees would have no other business but to look to the sanitation of towns and rural areas. I hope that your Excellency's Government and the Hon'ble Member in charge will not find it very difficult to accept my resolution."

The Hon'ble NAWAB SYED SHAMS-UL-HUDA said :—

"My Lord, I will only make a short statement. The Hon'ble Member has already referred to the provisions of the Local Self-Government Act. Section 91 of that Act says that every District Board shall appoint to be members of a Sanitation Committee not more than five members and not less than three. My Hon'ble friend was quite right when he said that in this respect the provisions of the Act have not always been complied with. As a matter of fact after receiving notice of this resolution we made inquiries from Commissioners of Divisions. We wanted to know how far the provisions of section 91 had been complied with. It has been ascertained that in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions, Sanitation Committees have been appointed under the Act in all districts except Nadia. In the Dacca, Rajshahi and Chittagong Divisions to which the amending Act has been extended only this year less progress has naturally been made. In the Dacca Division every district except Dacca has a Sanitation Committee. In the Rajshahi Division the districts of Rajshahi and Rangpur have no such Committees. In Chittagong there is no Sanitation Committee.

It is reported that the Dinajpur District Board will take up the question as soon as it has been reconstituted and that all the other district boards in the Rajshahi Division propose to discuss the question at their next meeting. The information has just been received from Commissioners and steps will now be taken to have Committees appointed in accordance with the law in each district. So far as the requirements of the district are concerned, I believe that the appointment of a Sanitation Committee under the Local Self-Government Act will serve the same purpose as the Hon'ble Member has in view with this difference that while the Act speaks of Sanitation Committees in districts only, the Hon'ble Member would have such committees in subdivisions also. As regards subdivisions, I don't think it would be possible to find qualified men to take up the work. Besides, under section 115 of the Local Self-Government Act, the responsibility is placed on Union Committees as regards sanitation within their own jurisdiction. Every Union Committee is subject to control by the District Board and is expected to look after the conservancy and sanitation of the local area. My hon'ble friend is well aware that it is now the policy of the Government to increase the number of Union Committees in this Presidency, and as soon as we have a large number of these Committees all over the Presidency, I believe, it will be more effective in improving sanitation in rural areas than Sanitation Committees in subdivisions. Besides that, every subdivision and every local Board is represented on the District Board, and there is no reason to believe that the Committees that will be appointed by District Boards under the Act will not adequately represent the local Boards. On all these grounds we have found ourselves unable to accept the resolution of my hon'ble friend in the precise form he has formulated it. But I may assure him that we are going to push the matter forward, and I hope that we shall soon be able to inform my Hon'ble friend that in every district a Sanitation Committee has been established. I have shown how the provisions of the Local Self-Government Act have been applied in almost all the districts in Western Bengal; and so far as Eastern Bengal goes, I have already pointed out that the amending Act has only recently been extended to it and work is being pushed forward there. I think that my hon'ble friend is now in a position to judge whether he should press his resolution or withdraw it."

Resolutions.

Maharaja Ranajit Sinha of Nashipur; Babu S. N. Banerji.

The Hon'ble MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA of Nashipur said:—

"My Lord, I am much indebted to the Hon'ble Member in charge for his very sympathetic reply and on the assurance that the work will be pushed forward and that he is giving the matter his full attention, I shall not press my resolution and beg to withdraw it."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM NO. 8.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI moved that this Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a Committee, consisting of official and non-official Members of this Council, be appointed to consider the revision of the Settlement between this Government and the Government of India (which is to take effect from 1915), and to advise the Local Government thereupon.

He said:—

"My Lord, this is a resolution which, I may claim, is made in the interests of the Local Government, and I hope and trust that the Council and the Government will see their way to accept it. By accepting it, the Government will pledge themselves to no new policy, and to no new principle, but it simply invites a number of gentlemen, members of this Council, to form themselves into a Committee to advise the Government with regard to matters which vitally affect the financial well-being of this province for some years to come My Lord, finance is the touchstone of every administration. John Bright, in one of his great speeches, said—'tell me what the financial position of a country is, and I will tell you all about its Government and the condition of its people'. However progressive the policy of a Government may be, however beneficent its intentions, it is bound to be seriously handicapped if it is confronted with financial difficulties and embarrassments. The problem of efficiency in the last resort resolves itself into a problem of finance, and the

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Banerji.

Provincial Settlement which is about to be concluded with the Government of India will determine the financial position of this province for some time to come, and I hope that in this matter, your Excellency's Government will take the Council into their confidence and enlist on behalf of your Government, the moral support of this Council.

My Lord, these Provincial Settlements have in the past been the subject of very keen controversy and contention, not indeed between the Government and the people, but between Government and Government, between the Imperial and the Provincial Governments. We all remember the scathing denunciation passed by a great proconsul in this province, when he said that on the occasion of every quinquennial settlement, the provincial sheep was shorn of its wool and turned out to shiver in the cold. But this and other incidents of a similar character are now matters of ancient history, and they need not be recalled to mind except to mark the growth, the remarkable growth, of our system of Provincial Finance, which at every stage has provided ampler funds and has conferred ampler powers upon the Local Governments over Provincial funds. The quinquennial contracts have been done away with; the Settlements are now permanent or quasi-permanent. The change was made in the time of Sir Edward Law who looked forward to the ultimate fiscal independence of the Provinces; and a further development took place under the auspices of Sir Guy Fleetwood Wilson and Sir James Meston when the new Settlements were made in 1912. Owing to the modification of the Partition and the new territorial re-adjustment that was then made, a temporary Settlement was concluded with our Province which is now in force and which is to terminate on the 31st March next. Under the existing Settlement, apart from our wholly provincialized resources, there are four heads of revenue, divided in equal shares between the Imperial and the Local Governments. They are: (1) Land Revenue, (2) Stamps, (3) Assessed Taxes and (4) Irrigation. Now looking at the Budget for 1914-15, we find that the estimate of receipts for the year was fixed at 6 crores and 27 lakhs of rupees in round numbers, and the expenditure at 7 crores and 36 lakhs of rupees. In other words, but for the Imperial benefactions, there would be a deficit amounting to about 1 crore and 9 lakhs of rupees. This, my Lord, I submit, is an unsatisfactory state of things. Our Province ought to be self-contained, self-dependent, able to stand upon its own legs and pay its own way without extraneous assistance, even though it should come from a superior Government.

My Lord, my submission is that whatever settlement is arrived at, it should be a settlement that should secure this end and ensure the solvency of our Province independently of Imperial grants. These benefactions or doles as they are sometimes called have been described by the highest financial authority in this Province, Sir William Duke, as wasteful, demoralising and as preventing, by introducing an element of uncertainty into our finance, the development of a regular system of provincial finance. Every word of this statement, if analysed, will be found to be correct. The benefactions of the Imperial Government will depend upon the resources of the Imperial Government, and they must vary from year to year. They must further depend upon the willingness of the Imperial Government to help and the pressure of the Local Government, which must also vary. My Lord, a system of finance so largely dependent upon conditions so shifting as these must be pronounced to be unsafe, unsound and unsatisfactory.

My Lord, I therefore submit that the approaching Settlement should be so determined that we may be able to get on without the adventitious aid of Imperial benefactions. We shall be glad to have them when we can get them; but we should be able to get on without them. One or two proposals may be submitted in this connection. As I have pointed out, our deficit (without of course the Imperial doles) would come up to about 1 crore and

Resolutions.

Babu S. N. Banerji.

9 lakhs, taking the figures of 1914-15. Now the Imperial share of the land revenue comes up to 1 crore and 11 lakhs. If this were given up and the land revenue wholly provincialized, the deficit would be more than covered, and I may here add that Sir Charles Trevelyan, a high financial authority, in the evidence that he gave before a Select Committee of the House of Commons which sat between 1871-73, observed that the whole of the land revenue should be made over to the Provincial Governments. The land of the Province belongs to the Province; and the revenue should belong to the Province. I may say that there is observable a distinct trend of opinion —it may be a subconscious trend—in the Finance Department of the Government of India, in support of this view; and in Burma, ⅝ths of the land revenue were made over to the Province by the Settlement of 1912. But my proposal in this connection is not wholly free from objection. Ours is a permanently-settled Province. The land revenue is not an expansive source of revenue; and in a few years' time, even if the whole of it were made over to the Province, it may not suffice to meet our growing wants. I therefore pass on to the consideration of another branch of our revenue, viz., Stamps. The Imperial share of the Stamp revenue is a 1 and 11 lakhs of rupees. This if made over to us would just cover our deficit and place us in possession of an expanding source of revenue to meet our growing requirements. In making these suggestions I am supported by the high authority of the Decentralization Commission which recommends that increasing shares of growing revenues should be made over to the Provinces. They say at page 34 of their Report :—

'This increase of regular Provincial revenues should, in our opinion, be met by gradually provincializing heads of Revenue which are now divided and for which the Provincial Government always be specially responsible such as Forests or Excise.'

I derive further support from the policy of the Government of India itself. At every Settlement divided shares have been provincialized or larger shares of divided revenues have been made over to the Provinces. Forests and Excise used to be divided heads in Bengal. They are now wholly provincialized revenues.

These are the suggestions which have occurred to me. There are other suggestions which have no doubt occurred to other Hon'ble Members. The Government have probabaly considered the matter and have by this time formed some sort of an idea as to the recommendations which they will submit to the Government of India. These and other proposals would be usefully considered by a Committee if appointed. The Committee would be entirely advisory, and the Government would be under no obligation to accept its views. None the less there would be a distinct advantage in the mutual interchange of ideas, and Government may receive valuable aid. If the Government and the Committee are unanimous in all or at any rate in respect of many of the proposals to be laid before the Government of India, with what added weight of authority those recommendations would come before the Government of India! They would no longer be the proposals of the Local Government only, but those of the Local Government backed by the authority of a Committee of this Council, representing the voice of public opinion. It would be a pity and indeed a grave misfortune, if the Government were to throw away this instrument of power with which I invite the Government to arm themselves, not indeed with a view to fight the Government of India—I hope there will be no fighting at all—but to make an appeal to that Government for a Settlement which would mean the financial well-being of this Province for many years to come.

One word more and I am done. We have often talked about the necessity of co-operation between the Government and the people. My Lord, I think we have made it manifest that as your constitutional advisers we are anxious to co-operate with your Excellency's Government in all matters affecting the welfare of the Province and of the people. Here is a notable instance of our anxiety to co-operate with the Government in a matter of supreme importance to the Government. The acceptance of the Resolution will mean the readiness of the Government to avail themselves of all offers of co-operation when conceived in a moderate and reasonable spirit. Its rejection will create a painful impression in the public mind and will lend colour to the belief which is entertained in some quarters that we move our Resolutions here only to meet with a courteous but firm negative."

" My Lord. the Hon'ble Mover has no doubt taken the best road to make me consider his proposal with favour since he has done me the honour of quoting with approval my views on the way the provincial settlement should be framed and has besides given expression to general principles regarding them which I myself hold very strongly. That, however. is in regard to general principles rather than to the specific object of his motion which is to appoint a Committee to advise the Government upon the coming quasi-permanent settlement. However, while we are still upon the general lines, I will say again. though I object to doles as strongly as anybody as a regular system of financing Provincial Governments, that it is not reasonable to carry the objection further than the facts. I do not see any sign of our getting any further doles. We got large doles when the Government of India had a great deal of money, money which I think they did not expect. their receipts for several years were enormously in excess of the budget and they were in the delightful but unusual state of having unexpected money in hand and they gave us some of that money. I do not think that the same thing is likely to continue. Then, too, as I have pointed out on a previous occasion, it is hardly fair to say that if we had not had a crore or so of these doles we would have had a deficit of that amount. To take a hypothetical case, if my income were £ 3,000 a year and somebody left me, a legacy of £ 1,000, and I spent £ 4,000 in that year, I think it is rather too much to say that I should have been in deficit by £ 1,000 but for the legacy. If we had not had that crore, we should not have gone in for a good deal of expenditure purely non-recurring expenditure on buildings, equipment. etc., relating to education and sanitation. As we have got the money, we are doing the best we can with it.

Passing from this to the particular object of the resolution, I admit at once that the arrangement of a permanent or quasi-permanent settlement of provincial income and expenditure is a matter of such importance to the welfare of the Province that it is perfectly natural that Members of the Legislative Council should take special interest in it and desire to express their views as to the direction in which expansion ought to take place and as to the provision which should be made for it. I do not think, however. that the Hon'ble Mover has a clear idea of the kind of negotiation which will take place or the matters to which it will be directed. It is probable, as I shall explain later, that these matters which he really considers of the greatest importance will only be dealt with in an altogether general way and that there will be no opportunity for pressing the particular claims or ideas which he considers of vital importance. Furthermore, and this is really the most important consideration, under our present constitution, governed as it is by regulations under the authority of the Indian Councils Act of 1909 (I mean the Act of Parliament), there seems to be no provision for the Legislative Council to come into the matter. Provincial settlements are arranged between the Executive Governments of India and of the Provinces concerned. and it is hardly open to one of the contracting parties, particularly to the subordinate party, to take the assistance of others in the transaction without the consent of the other party. In plain terms, the Government of India might very well object if they found they were dealing not with the

Sir William Duke.

Executive Government of Bengal, but partly with the Executive Government and partly with the Legislative Council which so far has no constitutional status in the matter, and since the Hon'ble Mover has access to the predominant partner, I think he might very well address himself to that partner rather than to us. This dry statement of the position may afford small consolation to persons who are really deeply interested in the results and who believe that, given the opportunity, they could exercise a beneficial influence upon the negotiations. But, as I said at the commencement, I doubt if it is realised what these really amount to. In the first place, in the whole of India, there are only three provinces which have not yet got a quasi-permanent settlement and all the others have obtained their settlements more or less recently. It is, therefore, extremely unlikely that the Government of India will permit our settlement to deviate in any important matter of principle from those which they have recently concluded. Now, as I understand, the principles on which a settlement is made are that an estimate is made first of the normal expenditure of the Province under every head, then certain sources of revenue or proportions thereof so calculated as to approximate to the total normal expenditure of the Province are handed over to it. There are two stages then: the first is the careful examination of normal expenditure. This is a very laborious and very technical business; it has been in process since March and will not be finished before the end of this month at the earliest. It is not a matter in which any committee can be of assistance, as the whole question is one of the examination of past actuals and of the elimination of all abnormal expenditure The next stage is to get the Government of India to accept our views as to the normal expenditure. There may be some items which we should wish to include, but which the Government of India might not be prepared to accept.

Such might be proposals which have not yet been sanctioned by the Secretary of State or proposals which the Local Government wish to sanction and are technically competent to sanction, but which the Government of India might think could better be postponed. These matters, too, are technical and will be settled on technical grounds. Once the normal figure for expenditure has been ascertained, the question arises—How that amount of money is to be given to us, and this is the real crux of the settlement. It is of course of the greatest importance to the Province that heads of revenue made over to the province should be of as expansive a character as possible. I have no doubt that this is the point at which the Hon'ble Mover thinks that a committee would be of assistance to this Government. A committee might urge, for instance, that while expenditure on education had been expanding in a certain ratio during the last 10 years, it ought to expand at double or treble that ratio in the next ten. It might take a similar line, say, about sanitation. It might press for particular schemes and point, for instance, to the huge expenditure which is wanted to complete the various developments required at the Medical College Group of Hospitals, or it might urge the provision of funds for opening up new districts or new subdivisions where they are wanted, or for providing the cost of the separation of judicial and executive functions. If there were any hope that the Government of India would be prepared to go into the details of such schemes and to make provision for them, it might be reasonable that a committee should give advice as to the extent to which they ought to be pushed. There is, however, no such expectation. The Government of India will take the normal expenditure. They will give us at the moment such margin over the normal as they think they can afford. It is an important matter for us, but it is not to be expected that the margin will be anything very magnificent, and they will give us such an amount of expanding income from such heads as they think that we require and they can afford, and they will form their estimate of our requirement, not by totalling the various items which we think we want, but rather by comparing our general development and rate of progress with that of other parts of India and by dealing with us on wide lines, according as they may think that upon the whole we are entitled to more liberal treatment than, say, Bombay or less liberal treatment than, say, Burma. As a matter of fact unless there is to be an entire revolution in the principles of provincial settlements the only two main heads from which we can hope to receive a much larger proportion with any advantage to ourselves are stamps and assessed taxes. We can state our case for this without the help of a committee. To be very much better off we should either have to be given the power of local taxation or a share of Imperial heads like Customs and Railways, which it is quite useless to talk about in this Council. The Hon'ble Mover may be dissatisfied, but if he really looks forward to fiscal independence he ought to think it more satisfactory to have a moderate but growing income which we can do the best we can with than to go to the Government of India with a list of local wants and ask for specific sums to meet them. All his arguments against doles tell equally against such a course. I think then that it will be realised that on the present lines of working there is no room for a committee just as on the constitutional side it can at present have no status."

Babu S. N. Banerji.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, I venture respectfully to join issue with my Hon'ble friend as regards the constitutional issue raised by him. The budget is a matter which under, the constitution, is open to our discussion ; and therefore the provincial settlement, which is a part of the budget, is a matter which comes legitimately under the scope of our discussion, and any resolution appertaining to the budget or to the provincial settlement does, I venture respectfully to submit, come legitimately within the functions and cognisance of this Council. I think therefore that, so far as the constitutional aspect of the question is concerned, I must take leave to differ from my Hon'ble friend and to submit that the weight of argument is entirely on my side. My friend's speech has been very sympathetic. I am very grateful to him for it, and I am sure the country will be very grateful for it, but we want results, and there is just a possibility that the Government of India will prove obdurate, and that, unless extra pressure were brought to bear upon them, they will not be prepared to yield. My Lord, ours is a special province, and I feel a sort of patriotic pride in saying that the province of Bengal is the premier province in India, and as such we may claim a treatment at least on a footing of equality with other provinces, or perhaps a treatment somewhat better than the other provinces, and I do not think your Excellency's Government—I was going to use rather strong language—will not have done its duty if it does not press with sufficient insistence the position which this Presidency occupies among the provinces of India. I feel that the unaided efforts of the Local Government will not avail and that the views of the Local Government backed by the authority of the Council may prevail with the Government of India, and we wanted to place at your Excellency's disposal the services of a committee which, while supporting your recommendations, would make these recommendations irresistible so far as the Government of India was concerned. My Hon'ble friend the Member in Charge has observed that we are likely to get a growing share of some of our revenues, and he has mentioned assessed taxes and stamps. Stamps is one of those sources of revenue to which I refer, and assessed taxes are certainly a source of revenue in respect of which we ought to get an increased share. My Lord, it is not enough that the Local Government should press forward their recommendations, but the Local Government should have behind it the authority of this Council, the authority of the constitutional advisers of the Government of Bengal, when it places its proposals before the Government of India. I think the Government is throwing away a golden opportunity, and I cnly wish your Excellency could see your way to accept

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 9.

The following resolution stood in the name of the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq :—

> This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that, on the occurrence of the next vacancy in the listed posts open to members of the Provincial Executive Service, the appointment be allotted to a Muhammadan.

The Hon'ble MAULVI FAZ-UL-HAQ said :—

"MY Lord, since I gave notice of this resolution, I have considered the matter, and I am afraid there might be some misapprehension as regards the issue raised by this resolution. It may lead to controversy, and such discussion cannot prove to be of any good either to the officers themselves or to the Muhammadan community. What I would say is this : that I never desired that any and every Muhammadan should be appointed in the next vacancy whether he is efficient or not. We should insist that every public servant in this country must be efficient, and admission of inefficient officers to posts of trust and responsibility must ultimately be regarded as nothing short of a public calamity. But as no Muhammadan has been appointed to the post referred to in my resolution, since the reconstitution of Bengal, I thought that there might be some very strong reasons for not appointing Muhammadans ; for I could not believe that efficient Muhammadans could not be found for the post. But I now leave it to the justice of your Excellency's Government to deal with the matter with the hope that when suitable Muhammadans are found, they would be given a chance. My Lord, so many resolutions have been moved and withdrawn to-day that I feel hesitation in asking your Excellency to give me permission to withdraw mine. The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS NOS. 10 AND 11.

Under rule 10 of the Bengal Legislative Rules, 1912, the two resolutions below, standing in the name of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, were postponed for discussion to the September meeting of the Council :—

10. This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a City Civil Court, separate from the Calcutta High Court, be established in Calcutta for the trial of suits valued at Rs. 10,000 or under, or of such other valuation as the Government may think proper which may be instituted within the original jurisdiction of the said High Court, and that Government be pleased to take the necessary steps for its establishment.

11. This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a Board of Education (to consist of official and non-official members) be formed for the purpose of the administration of primary and secondary education in this Presidency.

ADJOURNMENT.

His Excellency the President said :—

"Now, gentlemen, our business is now ended, and it will be my duty in a few minutes to declare this Council adjourned. But, before doing so, I should like to say a very few words. As you know, a desire has been expressed by many people in certain parts of Eastern Bengal that this Council should occasionally meet in Dacca. This desire is shared by some of you. It is quite a natural desire, and when we think of recent history, we cannot wonder that those who hold it strongly urge us that we should act on it. I am well aware that the majority of non-official members of my Council do not wish to meet in Dacca, and I know that from the official point of view there are strong reasons against our meeting there. But I have always wished, if I could, to do someting to meet the natural, and, in some ways, laudable feeling of local patriotism which inspires those immediately connected with my second capital, and I am glad to have found in conversation with many of you that you are not averse to making some self-sacrifice if by doing so you can help to cement the friendly feeling that links Calcutta and Dacca. I have determined to summon a meeting of this Council in Dacca while my Government has its headquarters there during the rains this year. I must say, however, that I intend this meeting to be looked on as of the nature of an experiment. I do not intend now to express any opinion that the same meeting ought to be held every year ; though, no doubt, the success or otherwise of this meeting will be taken into consideration in making arrangements in future years. I would wish to make it clear that I do not propose to allow matters of a really controversial nature to be taken up at the Dacca meeting. In view of the opinion which has been strongly expressed to me as to the difficulty which many members have in going to Dacca, I feel that it would not be fair to allow contentious business to be brought forward there. I know that those of my counsellors who wish to be in Dacca will thoroughly understand this. I promise you therefore in behalf of the Government that we shall bring forward nothing at Dacca which might prove likely to meet with opposition from our non-official colleagues. I feel certain that I can claim from my non-official colleagues that they will also act in the same spirit. Government will not bring any pressure to bear on any members of this Council to make them come to Dacca if they do not wish to do so; but we shall do as well as we can to make arrangements for those who do come. I know from experience how much the people of Dacca have helped me to enjoy my stay there, and I believe that they will do their best for you, and that such of you as do go there will receive a very favourable impression as to the second capital of Bengal. I must say further, however, that I do not think it will be possible to do without a meeting in Calcutta very soon after the Government returns from Dacca. I foresee that there will be matters (which seem to Government important) in dealing with which I shall want to have your assistance before long, and I anticipate that Government will be prepared to put these matters before you early in September. I now declare the Council adjourned until Wednesday, the 5th of August, at 11 A.M., when I look forward to meet many of you in the Durbar Hall at Dacca."

NOTE.—The statements are compiled in the Department of Statistics of the Government of India from statistics supplied by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, Railway Audit Offices, Steamer Companies, Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the District Magistrates of the 24-Parganas and Howrah, and the Assistant Engineer, Calcutta Canals.

The fluctuations in the trade compared with the figures for April 1913 are as stated below :—

The decrease in the imports of wheat and other food-grains from the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and from Central Provinces and Berar is probably due to famine conditions prevailing in those regions. Trade in refined sugar and cotton piece-goods, Indian, has also declined owing to less imports from Madras and Bombay respectively. More imports of linseed from Bihar and Orissa and the United Provinces of Agra and Oudh and of Tea, Indian, from Bengal and Assam have caused an increase in the trade of those articles.

There is a decrease in the exports by sea to foreign countries of rice, wheat, gram and pulse and indigo and a considerable increase in the exports of cotton and linseed.

Extract (paragraphs 1 and 2) from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Public), under date Calcutta, the 8th December 1899.

RESOLUTION.

THE Secretary of State for India has brought to the notice of the Government of India that it not infrequently happens that natives of India, students or others, who have proceeded to England, desire to obtain passports to enable them to travel to foreign countries in which the possession of a passport is necessary or desirable, and that difficulty often arises from want of evidence to show that the applicant is a British subject, and therefore entitled to a passport. Appeals for assistance are also frequently addressed to His Lordship by destitute Indians who desire to return to their country and by students who, owing to embarrassed circumstances, are unable to complete their course of education.

2. In order to enable the Secretary of State to deal with such cases satisfactorily, the Governor-General in Council has decided that it is necessary to press upon Indian students and others visiting England the desirability of providing themselves, before their departure from India, with an authoritative certificate of identity, in the form appended to this Resolution, signed by the head of the district (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) in the case of residents of British India, and by the Political Officer in that of residents of Native States. For a student the certificate should be signed by the head of his last school or college and countersigned by the District Officer (in a Presidency town, the Commissioner of Police) or Political Officer, as the case may be.

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

DRAFT RULES.

1. Every vessel passing through the line of navigation known as the Madaripur Bhil channel shall stop at the prescribed toll stations as notified in the Schedule of tolls for the purpose of assessment or check of toll charges.

2. For the purposes of these rules, vessels other than rafts, timbers, bamboos or other floating material shall be divided into two classes as below:—

Class I.—To include all vessels of the usual native types of build.

Class II.—To include all steamers, flats and barges, and such other square-built boats as should, in the opinion of the Collector of Tolls, be included.

3. The net tonnage of every vessel of class I, whether laden or empty, shall, for the purposes of these rules, be determined by the following measurements:—

A.—The product of one quarter the length of the vessel from stem to stern, measured along the water-line, multiplied by the interior greatest breadth of the vessel, multiplied by the interior greatest depth from the water-line to the bottom of the vessel, is to be taken as equal to the number of maunds upon which toll shall be levied.

B.—The measurement of the length is to be made in feet, rejecting inches; the measurement of the breadth and depth is to be made in feet and quarters of a foot, rejecting portions of less than a quarter of a foot.

C.—The maundage on which tollage shall be charged shall be a simple multiple of 12½ maunds, rejecting any remainder by which the maundage, calculated as above, may exceed such simple multiple.

4. For vessels in class II the tonnage shall be determined as follows:—

The tonnage of steamers shall be the registered tonnage as given in the certificate of survey of the steamer.

Toll shall be levied on the actual weight of cargo carried on steamers, flats, barges and other vessels included in this class, as declared in the manifests.

When the registered tonnage of a steamer, or the manifest for cargo of a flat is not available, the tonnage will be taken as arrived at under rule 3.

For square-built boats the total maundage, as determined under rules for class I, shall be increased by half, and for steamers one-third of the total maundage shall be deducted for engine space.

5. Every vessel shall be furnished at the toll-station of entry with a ticket on which the name of the serang, manjhi or other person in charge of the vessel, the date of entry, the maundage of the vessel, the nature and weight of the cargo it contains and the amount of toll charged shall be entered.

6. This ticket may be demanded and checked by any navigation officer while the vessel is within the toll-limits of the Bhil channel, and must be kept on board and at hand for that purpose. The ticket must be given up at the exit toll-station. If the ticket is not produced on demand by a Canal officer, such officer shall assess the amount of toll payable and the vessel will be liable to seizure and detention under the provisions of section 9 of the Act until such sum is realized.

7. Vessels leaving the channel between two toll-stations shall obtain permission from the toll collector of the nearest toll-station and give up the ticket to that officer while leaving the channel.

8. A vessel, which has been detained under these rules or under section 9 of the Act, may not be removed from the channel without the order of the collector of tolls until the toll due has been paid. During such detention the manjhi, owner or agent must make arrangements for the safety of the vessel and cargo.

9. All tolls are payable on demand and shall be paid at the toll-station before a vessel is permitted to proceed. Provided that the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act may, at his discretion, permit vessels belonging to individuals or firms of recognised standing to proceed without prepayment, on an undertaking that the bills for tollage due shall be liquidated monthly on presentation.

10. The term "NAVIGATION OFFICER," as used in rule 6, shall include the collector of tolls appointed under section 8 of the Act, and the officer, or the subordinate duly authorised by such officer, of the PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT, in charge of the subdivision or section within which the channel is situated.

11. Duplicates of lost tickets will be granted by the toll collector who originally issued the ticket on payment of a fee of one-fourth of the amount of toll payable, subject to a maximum of one rupee and a minimum of four annas. The duplicate will be issued only when the toll collector is satisfied about the identity of the boat.

12. No person shall wilfully or negligently allow a vessel to sink in the channel.

13. (1) In every case of a sunken vessel whether due to negligence or otherwise, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall offer every assistance in removing the same.

(2) If, three days after the occurrence of a wreck, it is seen that prompt measures are not being taken by the owner to remove the sunken vessel from the line of navigation, the Supervisor and his subordinates shall make their own arrangements for the removal of the same at the expense of the owner.

14. When a sunken vessel has been recovered, the Supervisor shall cause notices to be posted at the toll offices, or other prominent places, calling on those concerned to pay to the collector of tolls all toll or demurrage which may be due, as well as the expenses incurred in the recovery of the vessel and cargo. Should the sum due be not paid within fifteen days of the date of notice, the boat and its furniture, or so much of it as may be necessary for the recovery of the dues, will be sold under the procedure directed in section 9 of the Act.

15. The purchaser of a vessel sold under the provisions of section 9 of the Act shall have the right to take it out of the channel on the day of purchase, or within such time as may be allowed by the collector of tolls, without payment of tolls.

16. When any laden vessel, which has sunk, has been recovered, or when any laden vessel has been seized under the provisions of the Act or of these rules, the Supervisor shall give immediate notice of the recovery or seizure to the owner of the cargo or his agent, requiring the removal of the cargo without delay, and informing him that he will be required to pay all expenses necessary for the proper custody and storage of the cargo until removed.

17. If the Supervisor be unable to ascertain the name and place of business or the abode of the owner of the cargo of such vessel, the notice prescribed in rule 16 shall be effected by a notice exhibited in his office, and by advertisement in at least one English and one vernacular Calcutta newspaper.

18. Lights and Signals.—All vessels, whether travelling or moored in the channel, must, between sunset and sunrise, carry a white light in a lantern on the fore-part of the vessel where it can be distinctly seen from all sides. All steam-vessels in motion shall carry the lights prescribed by the Board of Trade regulations. Barges or boats attached to a steam-vessel, whether in motion or moored, shall carry the light prescribed in the first paragraph of this rule.

19. Every vessel proceeding in the channel must limit her speed to six miles an hour from the 15th October to the 10th July, and to eight miles an hour from the 11th July to the 14th October.

20. For any infringement of rule 6, 7, 8, 9, 12, 13, 14, 16, 17, 18 or 19, the person in charge of the vessel or other persons in fault shall, on conviction before a Magistrate, be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 or Rs. 5 a day for any continuing infringement.

HIGH COURT NOTICES.

CIRCULAR ORDER.

ISSUED BY AUTHORITY OF THE HIGH COURT OF JUDICATURE AT FORT WILLIAM IN BENGAL.

CIVIL.

No. 11 OF 1914.

THE attention of all subordinate Civil Courts is drawn to Rule 5 Chapter VI, page 145, Volume I, of the High Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, regarding costs of adjournments ordered to be paid by a party under Order XVII, Rule 1 (2) of the Code of Civil Procedure. While the Courts have full liberty to exercise their discretion in each individual case, the High Court consider that, in the absence of special circumstances, and when the costs allowed do not exceed a few rupees, it is reasonable that the party desiring the adjournment should come prepared to compensate his opponent for the inconvenience to which he is put, and that the Court will be justified in making the adjournment conditional on the money being paid then and there.

2. The fact of direct payment should invariably be noted in the record of the case, as required by Rule 8, pages 186-187, Chapter IX, Volume I, of the High Court's General Rules and Circular Orders, Civil, and this note should be made on the order sheet. Similarly, where adjournment costs have been paid into Court, under head (i) of Rule 5 at page 185, the fact of such payment should be certified by the Nazir at the time that he submits his certificate on unexpended diet money under Rule 57 (a), page 213, and noted on the order-sheet by the Sarishtadar. It will thus be possible to see from the order-sheet exactly what sum, if any, still remains unpaid. All costs of which payment has not been noted under the foregoing orders must be entered in the decree as costs of the suit.

J. G. CUMMING,
Chief Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

NOTIFICATIONS.

Simla, the 16th July 1914.

No. 1173-I.-C.—The following Regulations respecting Foreign Orders and Medals which have been recently revised by command of His Majesty the King, Emperor of India, are published for general information. These Regulations supersede all those hitherto in force on the subject:—

A.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING FOREIGN ORDERS AND MEDALS APPLICABLE TO PERSONS IN THE SERVICE OF THE CROWN.

Orders.

1. It is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty in the Service of the Crown shall accept and wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so, signified either—

(a) by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual, or
(b) by private permission conveyed through His Majesty's Private Secretary.

2. Permission given by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. Full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual is contemplated in the following cases:—

For a Decoration conferred—

On an officer in His Majesty's Naval or Military Forces lent to a Foreign Government: on an Officer in His Majesty's Naval or Military Forces attached by his Government to a Foreign Navy or Army during hostilities; or on any British Official lent to a Foreign Government and not in receipt of any emoluments from British public funds during the period of such loan.

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State, and which are therefore of a more or less complimentary character, and will, as a rule, only be given on exceptional occasions when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined. Private permission will generally be given in the following cases:—

For a Decoration conferred:—

(1) On British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when the King pays a State visit to the country to which they are accredited;

(NOTE.—A State visit is defined as one on which the King is accompanied by a Minister or High Official in attendance.)

(2) On Members of Deputations of British Regiments to Foreign Heads of States;

(3) On Members of Special Missions when the King is represented at a Foreign Coronation, Wedding, or Funeral; or on any Diplomatic Representative when specially accredited to represent His Majesty on such occasions; and such Members of His Staff who actually attend the ceremonies in their official capacity;

(4) on Naval and Military Attachés only after completion of five years' service at the post to which they are appointed in that capacity.

5. Private or restricted permission will not be given to—

(1) British Ambassadors or Ministers abroad when leaving;
(2) Members of British Missions announcing the Accession of a Sovereign;
(3) British Officers attending Foreign Manœuvres.
(4) Naval Officers of British Squadrons visiting Foreign Waters.

6. The desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject in the Service of the Crown the Insignia of an Order must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through his Diplomatic Representative at the Court of St. James.

7. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant, as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette," stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10*s*.

8. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's license and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

9. When a British subject in the Service of the Crown has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept and wear the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval, which will only be given if the higher honour is being conferred in circumstances contemplated by these Regulations.

Medals.

10. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant.

11. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign Medal will only be given in the case of a Foreign Medal conferred by the Head or Government of a Foreign State for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land.

12. The King's unrestricted permission to accept and wear a Foreign War Medal will only be given to (1) Officers of His Majesty's Military or Naval Forces if serving with a Foreign Army or Navy with His Majesty's licence, and (2) Military or Naval Attachés or other officers officially attached to Foreign Armies or Navies during hostilities.

13. In exceptional cases, when, for special reasons, it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of the Medal should not be declined, His Majesty will grant restricted permission. Such cases will be judged on their merits, and the circumstances in which the Medal may be worn will be specified in the Letter conveying His Majesty's permission.

14. The term "person in the Service of the Crown" includes persons in receipt of a salary or pension from Public Funds, or holding a Royal Commission in any part of His Majesty's Dominions, Protectorates, or Possessions.

15. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

B.

REGULATIONS RESPECTING FOREIGN ORDERS AND MEDALS APPLICABLE TO PERSONS NOT IN THE SERVICE OF THE CROWN.

Orders.

1. It is the King's wish that no subject of His Majesty shall wear the Insignia of any Foreign Order without having previously obtained His Majesty's permission to do so, signified either—

(a) by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual, or

(b) by private permission conveyed through His Majesty's Private Secretary.

2. Permission given by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual will enable the Insignia of the Foreign Order to be worn at all times and without any restriction.

Private permission will only enable the Insignia to be worn on the occasions specified in the terms of the letter from the King's Private Secretary conveying the Royal sanction.

3. The full and unrestricted permission by Warrant under the Royal Sign-Manual is designed to meet cases where the Decoration may be said to have been earned by some valuable service rendered to the Head of the State conferring it, or to the State itself. Application will be made to His Majesty for full permission by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs on behalf of any person who, not being at the time in the Service of the Crown, is either in the salaried employment of a Foreign State or has rendered valuable services within the period of two years immediately preceding the notification of the Decoration to His Majesty's Government, as prescribed under rule 5.

The expression " valuable services " must be construed as meaning some service rendered to a Foreign Head of State or Government specifically, and must be indisputably valuable in the strict sense of the word. Though such services need not necessarily be gratuitous, as in the case of a person actually in the employ of a Foreign Government, they must be unconnected with any transaction of a commercial or financial character brought about in the ordinary course of business. The term " valuable services " does not therefore, as a general rule, apply to services connected with the fulfilment of Government or Municipal contracts, the financing of Government or Municipal loans. It also does not include Red Cross Services, presentation of objects of value to Public Museums and Institutions, pecuniary donations or endowments, personal performances, services in connection with Exhibitions and Industrial Congresses, services in the domain of art, literature, science, education, and agriculture, services rendered by British subjects in the capacity of honorary Foreign Consular Officers.

4. Private or restricted permission is contemplated for Decorations which have been conferred in recognition of personal attention to the Head of a Foreign State or Member of a Reigning House, and which are therefore of a more of less complimentary character. Private permission is as a rule only given on exceptional occasions, when in the public interest and for political reasons it is deemed expedient that the acceptance of a Foreign Decoration should not be declined.

5. Both in the case of full and in that of private permission the matter will be submitted to the King by His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

The desire of the Head of a Foreign State to confer upon a British subject the Insignia of an Order, or the fact that he has done so, must be notified to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs either through the British Diplomatic Representative accredited to the Head of the Foreign State, or through the Diplomatic Representative of the latter at the Court of St. James. His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall be under no obligation to consider claims that are not brought to his notice through one of these channels.

6. When His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs shall have taken the King's pleasure on any such application, and shall have obtained His Majesty's permission for the person in whose favour it has been made to wear the Insignia of a Foreign Order, he shall signify the same to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, in order that he may cause a Warrant, if it be a case for the issue of a Warrant as defined in Rule 2, to be prepared for the Royal Sign-Manual.

When such Warrant shall have been signed by the King, a notification thereof shall be inserted in the "Gazette," stating the service for which the Foreign Order has been conferred.

Persons in whose favour such Warrants are issued will be required to pay to His Majesty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department a stamp duty of 10*s*.

7. The Warrant signifying His Majesty's permission may, at the request and at the expense of the person who has obtained it, be registered in the College of Arms. Every such Warrant as aforesaid shall contain a clause providing that His Majesty's license and permission does not authorise the assumption of any style, appellation, rank, precedence, or privilege appertaining to a Knight Bachelor of His Majesty's Realms.

8. When a British subject has received the Royal permission, full or private, to accept and wear the Decoration of a Foreign Order, he will not be allowed to accept the Decoration of a higher class of the same Order without His Majesty's approval. His Majesty will in such cases grant permission only if the promotion in the order is conferred for fresh services which come within these Regulations.

9. These Regulations apply only to Orders of Chivalry. Decorations conferred by Private Societies and Decorations of a purely academic nature, and all Decorations not being Orders of Chivalry, may be accepted without His Majesty's permission, but must not be worn.

Exception is made in the case of a few Foreign Orders, which, though not in strictness Orders of Chivalry, yet are of such a high distinction that, for the purpose of these Regulations, they are to be considered and treated as Orders of Chivalry.

10. Ladies are subject to the Regulations in all respects in the same manner as men.

Medals.

11. Medals which constitute a particular class of a Foreign Order are subject in all respects to the Regulations in the same manner as higher grades of the Order, except that permission to wear will be given by Letter and not by Royal Warrant.

12. Medals for saving or attempting to save life at sea or on land conferred on behalf of the Head or Government of a Foreign State may be accepted without His Majesty's special permission, and may be worn at Court.

13. Medals conferred by Private Societies or Institutions and Commemorative Medals may be accepted without permission, but none of these Medals can be worn.

14. The King's permission must be obtained for any other Medal to be worn. No permission is needed to accept a Foreign Medal if it is not intended to be worn.

15. His Majesty will not grant permission to wear any Foreign War Medal if the person on whom it is to be or has been conferred was during the war acting in contravention of the Foreign Enlistment Act.
